Cannon Scorns Senators' Jail Threat

DARK HORSE WINS ENGLISH DERBY

Half Slave, Half Free. Ocean Air Travel, Perhaps. From Wotan to Jehovah. Mexico's Divorces.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

GOV. ROOSEVELT, of New York, tells Boston:

"Prohibition will be the dominant issue in New York and New England this fall."

It needs "no ghost, come from the grave" to predict that.

Prohibition will be the dominant issue in New York, New England, and other states, for a generation, unless an adjustment is found.

Lincoln said a country could not exist half slave and half free. It can't exist half prohibition and half bootleg, either.

DR. ECKENER'S recent exploit, flying from Friedrichshafen to Brazil, to the United States, and now home across the Atlantic may mean the beginning of ocean travel for everybody. Before the Zeppelin sailed, Charles E. Mitchell, head of the National City Bank of New York; Col. Deeds, of United Aircraft Company, and others, discussed seriously with Dr. Eckener the proposition of regular trans-Atlantic air travel.

THE UNITED AIRCRAFT COMPANY, powerfully financed with the backing of the National City Bank, including some of the greatest aviation construction units in the United States, could easily provide the financial backbone of the enterprise.

A NEW EXPLANATION OF GERMANY'S defeat, quite interesting, is supplied by Gen. Eric von Ludendorff. He says:

"All of Germany's misfortunes, including the last war, are due to the fact that Charlemagne introduced Jewish Christianity to Germany, destroying the ancient Teutonic faith in Wotan."

Ludendorff says that had the Germans stuck to Wotan instead of turning to Jehovah they would have won the war.

Many will doubt that.

HUSBANDS AND WIVES separated by Mexican divorces will be intensely interested in a Mexican Supreme Court ruling casting doubt on the validity of divorces obtained in the State of Morelos.

Literally interpreted, that would cause embarrassment in America.

However, such a decision should not affect those divorced in Mexico, and remarried in good faith.

No question, probably, will be raised concerning such divorces and remarriages, unless through litigation affecting the property rights of minors.

WET AND DRY POLITICS create strange contrasts.

In New Jersey, Dwight W. Morrow, ambassador to Mexico, running in the Republican senatorial primaries as a wet, drinks nothing alcoholic, has nothing to drink in his house.

One New Jersey candidate for the Senate, running as a sad and serious dry, is said to have been, when prohibition came in, owner of the "finest whisky cellar in three states," New Jersey being one of the three states.

CONCERNING THE TWO CANDIDATES of whom you hear most, Morrow and Frelinghuysen, the wisest politician in New Jersey says:

"Frelinghuysen has no chance at all. Fort is the man for Morrow to watch. Fort will probably be nominated, because the Republican party in New Jersey is 60 per cent prohibition. Morrow, on the other hand, would be by far the hardest man for Simpson, the Democratic candidate, to beat."

The man quoted knows New Jersey politics.

SIXTY-FIVE YEARS OLD yesterday, King George remained in Buckingham Palace while his eldest son and heir apparent, the Prince of Wales, took the royal salute at the "dipping of the colors." The Duke of Connaught, son of Queen Victoria, uncle of the King, 80 years old, stood straight and vigorous as ever.

King George has not the health Englishmen usually have at 65. His physical condition undoubtedly reflects the responsibility, anxiety and sadness with which he bore the burden during the great war.

BISHOP JAMES CANNON, JR., of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, expressed indignation because the Senate Lobby Committee yesterday insisted on probing his "private affairs," including his activities against Alfred E. Smith in 1928.

The bishop said he had nothing to conceal, but resents "persecution," and declared that the committee was trying to "impair his influence, as the wet and Roman Catholic press has been trying to do for two years."

The bishop appeared before the committee on crutches.

DISTILLER'S KIN SHARE MILLIONS

$100,000 for Playground in Pittsburgh, $50,000 for Tract in McKeesport

A $100,000 fund for the establishment of a playground for children in the congested districts of Pittsburgh, and a provision of $50,000 for a park for the City of McKeesport is contained in the will of the late Frederick C. Renziehausen, operator of the Large Distilling Company, probated today.

The choice of the Pittsburgh playground site is left to the executors—a brother, Henry H. Renziehausen, of McKeesport, and the Fidelity Title and Trust Company. The will stipulates that the playground be named the Sophia Evert playground in memory of Mr. Renziehausen's mother.

The value of the estate is placed at $2,500,000.

"LEGAL FLAW" NOTED

The provision for the McKeesport park was inserted in the will by Mr. Renziehausen in his own handwriting after the document had been attested by witnesses. Some attorneys hold that this constitutes a legal flaw, but that if the heirs do not raise any objection to the gift the court will not intervene.

Also written into the will were gifts of $5,000 each to the Salvation Army, the Improvement of the Poor, the German Protestant Orphanage and of $2,000 to St. Barnabas Home.

In a written statement accompanying the document, the witnesses, Edward G. Hartje and James Herron, said that these items and the provision for the McKeesport park were not in the will when they witnessed it.

RELATIVES SHARE

Outright gifts of $50,000 each are left to the brother, Henry H. Renziehausen, and two sisters, and gifts of $20,000 each to three half-sisters.

After other bequests, including gifts of $1,000 each to five employes and of $500 each to three employes, three-fourths of the residuary estate is left to the brother and two sisters and one-twelfth each to three half-sisters.

Other beneficiaries are seven relatives of Mrs. Renziehausen in America and Europe who receive gifts of from $500 to $1,000; a nephew, Paul L. Reiber, who receives $10,000, and Frederick C. Renziehausen, Frederick Evert Kradel, and Frederick Reiber, who each receive $1,000.

CANNON SCORNS JAIL THREAT IN SMITH QUIZ

Bishop Refuses to Answer In Senate Probe of 1928 Campaign; Slemp Named

WASHINGTON, June 4.—(AP.)—Defiant in his refusal to answer, Bishop James Cannon, Jr., told the Senate Lobby Committee it was no business of Congress what he did or what money he spent in hi "purely private" anti-Smith activities in 1928.

While applause and hisses swept the hearing room, the gray-haired, bespectacled little Southern Methodist churchman declared he could not be persuaded even by warnings that others have gone to jail for refusing to answer senatorial questions.

"You'll never see that account," he almost shouted when asked about the expenditures of the anti-Smith movement he headed.

FIRM IN REFUSAL

Again and again he replied "I decline to answer," to questions about his part in the campaign, and about the failure of his committee to report to Congress some of the expenditures.

Responding to other inquiries about contributors and contributions, he said he could not remember.

The absence of a committee quorum will delay a decision whether contempt proceedings are to be lodged against him.

Walsh, of Montana, the acting chairman, not only reminded Cannon that others had gone to jail for refusing to answer, but said if the present committee had insufficient authority, another could be created. Cannon, however, insited that Congress itself has no right to go into the private political affairs of any citizen.

In the anti-Smith campaign, he said, he was not acting as a bishop, but as "James Cannon, Jr., private citizen."

STORK ON WING, MRS. MORROW WITH ANNE

'Interesting' Lindbergh Event Rumored as Ambassador's Wife Gives Up Campaign

NEWARK, N. J., June 4.—(AP.)—Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow has curtailed temporarily her activities in behalf of her husband's candidacy for the Republican nomination to the United States Senate, in order that she may remain near her daughter, Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Her decision is assumed to have been reached in anticipation of an interesting event in the Lindbergh family.

Morrow headquarters has announced that Mrs. Morrow is making no engagements which will take her far from the Morrow home in Englewood, N. J., and that it may be necessary for her to be with her daughter, Anne, for a week or 10 days.

MISSES SOCIAL FETE

Col. Lindbergh and his wife have been at the Morrow residence for some weeks, and the Colonel recently arranged for hangar space for his airplane at the Newark Airport, within easy accessibility of Englewood.

Mrs. Morrow was not present at a tea given in Essex Falls yesterday by Mrs. W. Howard Demarest, and the hostess announced that she had been "unavoidably detained at her home in Englewood for reasons which I cannot discuss."

The primary election in New Jersey, at which Mr. Morrow, Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, Representative Franklin W. Fort and John A. Kelly seek the Republican Senate nomination, will be on June 17.

500,000 SEE AGA KHAN'S LONG SHOT TRIUMPH

King, Queen, Wales Watch Running of Epsom Classic; American Hope Far Back

By CHARLES A. SMITH.
International News Service.

EPSOM DOWNS, England, June 4.—Before a record crowd of more than half a million, the Aga Khan's Blenheim, an outsider, today won the 150th running of the English Derby over Epsom Downs.

Iliad, owned by Somerville Tattersall, finished second, and the ruling favorite, Diolite, was third.

The Aga Khan is an Indian prince, living in France.

Blenheim, ridden by H. Wragg, one of Britain's premier jockeys, paid 18 to 1; Iliad was rated at 25 to 1, and Diolite at 11 to 4.

Silver Flare finished fourth, and Trews, owned by Lord Astor, was fifth. The time was 2 minutes 38 1-5 seconds.

LEADER OF 100,000,000

The Aga Khan is known also as Aga Sultan and Sir Mohammed Shah, and is the religious and spiritual leader of more than 100,000,000 persons.

Although his headquarters as head of the Ismailian Mohammedans are at Bombay, much of his time is spent in Europe where his great affluence permits indulgence in activities in the different capitals on a scale with the wealthiest men in the world.

AMERICAN UNPLACED

Two American entries, the Scout II, owned by William Woodward, and A. K. Macomber's Parthenon, failed to show. Also Rustom Pasha, another from the Aga Khan's stables, which was rated second only to Diolite in the betting, failed to place.

The Scout II had hard luck in the first half mile and was unable to make up the ground lost, finishing fifteenth in the field of 17.

It was the first time the Aga Khan had won the blue ribbon of the turf.

47 ARE FINED AS SNAKE DRIVERS

The crusade against reckless and snake drivers, motorists of cars without proper lights and other traffic violators brought 48 drivers to Traffic Court today. All but one were fined between $10 to $25 by Magistrate W. J. Soost.

Warrants for 17 who failed to appear after instructions had been given them by traffic police were sworn, with hearings set for Monday.

BOROUGH POLL FOR REPEAL

The first tally of ballots from Allegheny County outside Pittsburgh, in the Blue Law poll by the Sun-Telegraph, shows voters in the first 10 boroughs to report strongly in favor of repealing the Sunday observance law.

The initial count of returns from these boroughs includes 269 votes, with 46 in favor of the Blue Laws, 11 for modification and 212 for repeal. The boroughs are Aspinwall, Avalon, Bellevue, Ben Avon, Blawnox Brackenridge, Braddock, Brentwood, Bridgeville and Millvale.

Ballots from registered voters in Pittsburgh total 34,816 with the latest tabulation, and are divided as follows:

For the Blue Laws	4,984
For modification	2,542
For repeal	27,290

NACO SONORA, Mexico, June 4. — (AP.) — Eight persons were killed, including two American mining engineers, at the "Silver Plume" mine, near Cananea, when mine operators attempted to eject striking employes from company houses.

Blind From Birth, Peer Wins Fame

LONDON, June 4. — (AP.) — Blind from birth, Henry Sanderson Furniss, new peer, has made a reputation as a scholar, humanitarian and economist. Formerly he was principal of Ruskin College, Oxford. He was honored in the King's birthday list.

Ruth Bryan Owen In Lead for Congress

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., June 4.—(AP.)—Renomination of both Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen and Tom A. Yon, Democratic members of Congress, respectively, from the Fourth and Third Florida districts, was indicated today by returns from yesterday's primary. An unofficial tabulation of 311 out of 420 precincts gave Mrs. Owen 39,960 votes to 10,590 for Dewitt T. Deen, Daytona Beach attorney, who campaigned on a "wet" platform.

John D., Jr., Lends Son-in-Law Million

NEW YORK, June 4.—(AP.)—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is lending his son-in-law, David M. Milton, $1,000,000 to construct a cooperative apartment building near the East River. The building loan contract has been filed with the county clerk. Mr. and Mrs. Milton will have an 18-room apartment of a book value of $100,000.

BAD WEATHER IN ZEP'S PATH

MADRID, June 4.—(AP.)—Bad weather lies ahead of the Graf Zeppelin.

Storms, thus far not of a dangerous nature, prevail generally in the Iberian Peninsula and Mediterranean region, between the Azores and Spain and Southern France.

The Spanish Weather Department today sent special reports which were transmitted to the Graf.

Osborn Opposes Couzens as Senator

SAULTE STE. MARIE, Mich., June 4.—(AP.)—Chase S. Osborn, former governor, today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for United States senator from Michigan. He said:

"I am a candidate for United States senator in Michigan to succeed James Couzens. As I see it, the nation cannot endure unless women and men who have fitness and taste for filling public positions offer themselves."

Lebaudy's Daughter Gets Paris Divorce

PARIS, June 4.—(AP.)—Mrs. Jacqueline Lebaudy Sudreau, daughter of the late "Emperor of the Sahara," Jacques Lebaudy, was awarded a divorce today from Roger Sudreau.

Sudreau's father, head of a detective agency, aided Jacqueline and her mother in their fight for the Lebaudy estate after Sudreau, Sr., had married the mother and Sudreau, Jr., the daughter.

MANY ENRICHED IN DERBY POOLS

EPSOM, England, June 4.—(AP.)—Though millionaires were made in minutes today through the worldwide network of sweepstakes on the Derby, the Aga Khan, whose Blenheim won the famous race, had placed no bets on his victorious horse.

"I did not have a single shilling on Blenheim," the Indian prince declared, smiling, as he went to the royal box to receive King George's congratulations.

More than $10,000,000 in sweepstakes alone hinged on the Derby.

The Calcutta sweepstake was worth $4,500,000 to holders of the lucky tickets, which cost about $3 each.

H. C. Reeves, an insurance man, who drew Diolite in the Calcutta sweep, sold his ticket before the race for $105,000. Although Diolite failed to win, the syndicate which purchased the ticket from Reeves will almost double the money invested, as the horse placed third.

VOTE BOX CHECK LIST MISSING

BULLETIN.

Judge James H. Macfarlane announced that he would conduct a hearing, late today, to inquire into the disappearance of the voters' check list, from the ballot box of the First District, Sixth Ward, which had been brought in for a recount on allegation of fraud.

The board found 550 ballots in the box and names of only 532 voters. The list was missing when the box was taken from a vault in the sheriff's office, where it had been stored last night. The list had been used yesterday and supposedly was in the box when it was put away last night.

Baby Born in Court House; Ambulance Races Death

A baby was born in the Court House shortly after noon today. Physicians were working to save its life, and they were hopeful.

The babe was found in the wash bowl of the fifth floor rest room. Women from the recount board found it. While some began giving it first aid, others sent an emergency call to the Elizabeth Steel Magee Hospital.

The hospital ambulance with two physicians and two nurses snaked through traffic from Oakland to downtown in its race with death. An elevator in the Court House was held for them, and expressed them to the fifth floor. A few minutes later, with physicians attending, the ambulance rushed back to the hospital with the baby.

The mother is believed to have been a well-dressed, striking looking young woman who was seen by a number of the Recount Board women. She had loitered in the washroom for more than an hour before noon, they said.

HOOVER STILL UNDECIDED ABOUT SIGNING TARIFF MEASURE

PLANS CLOSE SCRUTINY OF BILL

Unmoved by Senate Gestures To Make Approval Certain As Showdown Approaches

WASHINGTON, June 4.—(AP.)—President Hoover, it was said at the White House today, is holding an open mind on signing the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill.

With experts' aid, he expects to study its rates and administrative provisions closely. He will send the measure through the regular routine of investigation by the various departments concerned and, in addition, plans a minute examination himself that may require considerable time.

Reports that adjusting the flexible provisions more nearly to conform to the President's views and elimination of the export debenture plan had made him decide to approve the measure were said at the White House to be without foundation.

News of the President's intentions reached the Capitol as another attempt by Republican leaders got under way to reach a vote this week on the second conference report, covering the new flexible clause and the lumber duty.

Immediately after the Senate convened, Senator McNary (Rep.), of Oregon, who is the assistant majority leader, proposed the entering of an agreement to vote at 4 p. m. tomorrow on the supplemental report, but Senator Borah (Rep.), of Idaho, a leader of the Independents, asked that the motion be withheld.

"There are some things he wants to find out first," the Idahoan said.

3 M'CARTHYS MAY GIVE UP

Criminal court was agog with a report today that the three fugitive McCarthy brothers, alleged collectors for Al Forney in the slot machine racket, would surrender to the court, possibly late this afternoon.

The McCarthys, Dale, Lawrence and Mack, were convicted of maintaining gambling devices two years ago. They were released in $1,500 bail each and sentence was deferred so that they could be used as witnesses in the trial of Forney, reputed slot machine king.

All three jumped bond and failed to appear at the trial. Forney was acquitted by a jury in a verdict which Judge Frank P. Patterson, trial judge, denounced as a disgrace to Allegheny County.

Mack McCarthy faces a charge of contempt of court in addition to charges of bail jumping and maintaining gambling devices. He has been served with a subpoena two weeks before the Forney trial did not show up.

Several weeks ago a similar report spread that the McCarthys were about to surrender, but they were said to have changed their minds.

PORTER ILL, DUE HOME TONIGHT

WASHINGTON, June 4.—(AP.)—Representative Stephen G. Porter, dean of the Pennsylvania congressional delegation, who has been confined to naval and emergency hospitals here for more than one month will be removed to his home in Pittsburgh tonight.

Representative Porter suffered an attack of influenza early in March. He returned to his duties in the House the latter part of that month but suffered a relapse early in April and has been confined to bed since that time.

PINCHOT'S LEAD HERE 12,358

Gifford Pinchot carried Allegheny County by 12,358 votes, according to the official returns which gave Pinchot 101,703 votes and Francis Shunk Brown 89,345.

This lead included in state totals give Pinchot a lead of 19,533. The totals for the state with the official count in Lackawanna and Philadelphia counties still to be reported, are: Pinchot, 632,473; Brown, 612,940.

The official figures were given out yesterday afternoon by Gilbert C. Cloonan, county statistician, and head of the Bureau of Elections.

For United States senator, Labor Secretary James J. Davis polled 141,153 to 46,388 for Senator Joseph R. Grundy. Francis H. Bohlen polled 37,546.

The official tabulation confirmed the nomination of Republican candidates for Congress, state senator and Legislature, as indicated by the unofficial count.

The vote will be certified by the County Commissioners after the expiration of five days, in accordance with the act of assembly under which the official returning board functions.

In spite of declarations and intimations that the recount board will bring about a change of the figures and resultant contest for the nomination, there is nothing in the expressions of those best informed on the situation to indicate that any such action will be taken.

Attorney Leander Troutman, chairman of the board, said:

"There is no indication of serious discrepancies as yet in the boxes we have opened. We have completed the recounting of three boxes."

A total of 35 boxes are to be recounted.

ing repeal to those supporting the Blue Laws, or 5.5-to-1, is not much higher than the ratio of the first borough tally favoring repeal, or 4.6-to-1.

None of the boroughs first heard from gives a majority in favor of the Blue Laws. Ben Avon shows an equal vote favoring the laws and for repeal, while the other nine boroughs, some preponderantly, favor repeal.

BOROUGH COMPILATION

The borough compilation is:

	For Blue Laws	For Modification	For Repeal
Aspinwall	13	3	23
Avalon	1	0	26
Bellevue	2	0	9
Ben Avon	7	1	7
Blawnox	6	1	15
Brackenridge	2	2	13
Braddock	0	2	39
Brentwood	5	0	17
Bridgeville	4	0	20
Millvale	6	2	41

The borough figures represent 79 per cent for repeal, 17 per cent for the Blue Laws and 4 per cent for modification, while the city totals represent 79 per cent for repeal also, with 14 per cent for the Blue Laws and 7 per cent for modification.

ANALYSIS OF BALLOTS

The division of the city totals between men and women is as follows: For the Blue Laws, 2,611 men and 237 women; for modification, 1,516 men and 1,026 women; for repeal, 18,072 men and 9,218 women.

The latest returns from city voters add 1,056 ballots to the total, and are divided as follows: For the Blue Laws, 151; for modification, 68; for repeal, 837.

Additional boroughs and townships are embraced in the poll with the distribution of ballots today.

$25,093 SPENT BY BROWN

HARRISBURG, June 4.—Expense accounts of four defeated candidates who sought state-wide office as Republicans at the primary last month, were received today by the election bureau.

Francis Shunk Brown, Philadelphia, candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, reported spending $25,093.21 in his campaign. He also reported having received $27,550 from individual contributors and immediately turned these gifts over to the treasurer of the Brown-Davis campaign committee. These included gifts of $5,000 each from A. W., R. B. and W. L. Mellon, and $2,000 from George Laughlin, Pittsburgh.

Former Congressman Thomas W. Phillips, Jr., of Butler, spent $16,515.95. His running-mate, Francis H. Bohlen, of Bryn Mawr, University of Pennsylvania law school professor, listed only $46 for the expenses of a trip to Pittsburgh.

James F. Woodward, McKeesport, who was defeated for a fourth term as secretary of internal affairs, reported gifts of $800 and expenditures of $1,201.40.

MALONE RULE AT STAKE

Control of the Fifth Ward is at stake in tonight's meeting to select a Republican ward chairman. James F. Malone, leader, faces a bitter battle from the forces of Mayor Kline. In the recent primary fight Malone was the Pinchot leader while the mayor was in the Davis-Brown camp.

The present ward chairman has called the meeting for 8 o'clock in the Watt school. Opponents of Malone are said to have called a meeting for 7 o'clock, but the location has not been announced.

It was rumored today that the reason for the call for the earlier meeting was to swing the election away from Malone, and the same report said the police force would be out in numbers. Harry Feldman is the leader of the Kline faction in the ward.

The fight in the Fifth Ward is the outstanding contest to be waged in the 32 ward meetings scheduled for tonight to select ward chairmen.

Will'am Bolitho, 39, English Writer, Dies

NEW YORK, June 4.—(INS.)—Word was received here today of the death at Avignon, France, of William Bolitho, journalist and author, at 39. SENATE REVOLT FACES HOOVER OVER TREATY

Open Breach May Result From Ultimatum; Pact Foes Fight for Delay

By GEORGE R. HOLMES.
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—President Hoover, it appeared, was headed today for another spectacualr run-in with the Senate.

Almost open revolt was brewing in the upper chamber over the President's insistence that the London naval treaty be acted upon before the Senate quits for the summer.

Senator Watson (Rep.), of Indiana, the majority leader, and Senator Moses (Rep.), of New Hampshire, the president pro tem, alike have counseled Mr. Hoover to let the treaty go over until fall.

Mr. Hoover does not want the pact dragged into the senatorial campaigns and made an issue.

The President's advisers have warned him, however, that considering the present temper of the Senate, somewhat frayed after almost 18 months of continuous battling, there is no assurance the chamber will stay on the job, special session or no special session, the White House wishes to the contrary notwithstanding.

Opponents of the treaty are leading the fight for delay, in the belief the longer the wait, the better their chances of defeating ratification or attaching reservations.

LUZERNE VOTE CHARGES FILED

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., June 4.—(INS.)—Formal charges of irregularities in the primary voting in Luzerne County were filed here today by Abram Salsburg, attorney representing Francis Shunk Brown. Specific charges were filed against alleged irregularities in the home district of Attorney Herman J. Goldberg, treasurer of the Luzerne County Pinchot-for-Governor Committee.

Protest against all of the paper ballots used was included, because they were perforated, it is alleged, by persons not in the employ of nor at the direction of the county commissioners.

PHILADELPHIA, June 4.—(AP.)—The fight for the chairmanship of the Republican State Committee, as a result of the recent primary election in Pennsylvania, was out in the open today with the announcements of two candidates for the place.

Brig. Gen. Edward Martin, state treasurer of Pennsylvania, announced that he was a candidate for re-election as head of the committee.

Less than an hour later last night, S. Van Brown, of Williamsport, chairman of the Lycoming County Republican committee, announced his candidacy.

Martin will have the support of most state nominees named at the primary except Gifford Pinchot. He will have back of him also certain leaders of the state organization.

Brown will have the support of Pinchot and Senator Joseph R. Grundy.

The showdown will come Saturday when the state committee meets in Philadelphia in biennial session for reorganization and for planning the fall campaign.

CANNON SCORNS JAIL THREAT

ten by Cannon to E. C. Jameson, of New York, in 1928.

"I decline to answer any questions about it," said Cannon. "It pertains to political activities."

Blaine asked if C. Bascom Slemp was not collecting money and turning it over to Jameson, who in turn made contributions from the collections.

"I'll have to break my rule," Cannon said. "Mr. Jameson is an honorable man. He said he contributed $172,000 to the Republicans and he did. Mr. Slemp did not give money to Jameson so far as I know."

Blaine recalled that Senator Heflin (Dem.), of Alabama, inserted Cannon's speech "prohibition repeal unthinkable" in the Congressional Record. He asked under whose frank it was mailed out.

Senator Heflin mailed it out," said Cannon.

Blaine recalled that Dr. Clarence True Wilson testified he raised $5,000 for distribution of this speech.

"Did you make any accounting to Dr. Wilson of the $5,000?"

"No."

The bishop explained the $5,000 was spent for clerks to address the mail and other incidentals.

"After they delivered the money to you," returned Blaine, "you arranged for the government printing office to run off 400,000 or 500,000 of these speeches."

LONG SHOT WINS ENGLISH DERBY FOR AGA KHAN

tively small field, got away from the barrier at 3:04 p. m. (10:04 a. m. Pittsburgh time).

Considerable difficulty was encountered in getting the thoroughbreds away, particularly because of the high spirit of Silver Flare, another highly-touted entrant.

MILLIONS CHANGE HANDS

In the three minutes it took to run the race around the historic Epsom course, approximately $30,000,000 was won and lost in wagers and lotteries.

Diolite, owned by Sir Hugo Hirst and purchased for about $2,500 when a yearling, carried most of the money.

As a consequence, it was a day of days for the bookmakers when Diolite lost.

King George, making his first Derby appearance since 1928, witnessed the spectacle from the royal box. Queen Mary was with him. In an adjoining box the Duke of York and the Prince of Wales entertained a party of friends.

The King, who suffered a touch of rheumatism last week preventing his appearance at the royal courts, was in morning clothes.

He wore a top hat and the usual white carnation in his buttonhole.

The Queen was in a long coat and wore a toque of rose beige.

A deafening roar of welcoming cheers greeted the royal car as it threaded its way slowly along the thronged road.

The King looked jovial and well as he stepped out and moved into the enclosure. Cheers were renewed as the royal party looked from the royal box over the vast throng of race fans.

Until almost the last moment it appeared the "dopesters" were to be borne out in their contentions, for Diolite got away to a good start and pulled out from the pack as soon as the tape was broken.

Ballyferis was close behind and stayed there, but the pack soon drew close together.

Half-way around the two favorites, Diolite and Rustum Pasha, were leading, and when the pack came into the stretch the stands shrieked with approval as it looked like Diolite's race.

In a sudden spurt, however, Blenheim surged to the front, followed closely by Iliad—and Diolite, for all his millions of dollars in backing, was eclipsed at the finish.

COLORFUL SETTING

From early morning the course had been jammed with race fans, for Derby Day is more than an ordinary race classic day—it is a picnic.

Hundreds of gypsies, taking advantage of the fact that the ban imposed upon them last year was not being enforced, had encamped on the course since dawn, and greeted the arrivals with fortune-telling, three-shell games and other pastimes of the sort without which Derby Day would not be complete.

Even the royal spectators adhered to tradition by arriving several hours before the race got under way.

From their choice seats they watched the tens of thousands of ordinary spectators milling about the course, cheering each entry as he was led from the paddock to the track and filling the air with bedlam as they shouted words of encouragement and last-minute bets.

RACE BROADCAST

Above the ear-splitting roar, up until the moment the horses went to the barrier, the name of Diolite could be heard on almost every tongue. It is doubtful whether any entry ever went to a Derby post with more support than Sir Hugo's thoroughbred carried.

Feeling that America had been made "Derby conscious" by the recent visit to the United States of the Earl of Derby, whose ancestors staged the first Derby race a century and a half ago, the authorities permitted the event to be broadcast.

The start was delayed seven minutes, chiefly because of Silver Flare.

The Scout II, the favored American entry, narrowly escaped injury by the British thoroughbred's slashing hoofs.

When Silver Flare finally was quieted down the field got away to a good start.

Blenheim's victory, although surprising, was complete. He won by a full length. There were two lengths between Iliad and Diolite.

Luncheon to Honor Pennington, Wife

A testimonial luncheon to Prohibition Administrator and Mrs. John D. Hogg, however, shared his ticket with five other railway men and a street sweeper, although he rejected several offers to purchase the ticket before the race.

From Hogg and his colleagues it was learned that at the last minute they had been prevailed upon to accept $15,000 for a half interest in their ticket.

SHOPMEN CASH IN

COVENTRY, England, June 4.—(AP.)—Two machinists employed in a local motor works drew one of the three Blenheim tickets in the Calcutta sweepstakes. It is worth half a million dollars, but they sold half their share in the ticket before the race for $13,000.

AMERICANS SHARE POOL

QUEBEC, June 4.—(AP.)—The winning tickets in the Army and Navy Veterans' Charity Sweepstakes on the derby run at Epsom today were held by Wilfrid Le Blanc, Hull, Que., and E. P. Dougherty, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Both Drew Blenheim and will be enriched by $149,000 each.

The holders of the tickets on Iliad, second place winner, were Mrs. A. Katzemmer, Reading, Pa., and Luther Smith, Guthrie, Okla. They will receive $49,000 each. Joseph W. Zaloudek, Omaha, Neb., and R. J. Lynn, Portland, Me., won third prize with Diolite, and $24,000 will be paid to each of them.

Many Pittsburghers held tickets in the Canadian Army and Navy Veterans' Charity Sweepstakes.

BRITISH RAIN BOMBS ON REBELS

Launch Heavy Aerial Attack Near Khyber Pass, to End Guerilla Warfare in Hills

International News Service.

LONDON, June 4.—Artillery, airplanes and troops were brought into action today by the British in an effort to drive the Afridi tribesmen from the hilly country on the Indian side of the Khyber Pass, according to dispatches received by the London Times.

At Shabkadar, a northwestern frontier province, after Badshah Gul, eldest son of the Haji of Turangzai, had refused to withdraw from the outlying hills, British troops and the royal air force combined for a sharp half-hour bombardment of Badshah's position, with unknown results.

PLANES BOMB REBELS

Squadron after squadron of day-bombing planes, lighter and faster than the heavier duty bombers, flew over the rugged terrain where Badshah and his followers had holed in when commanded to withdraw.

For 30 minutes the hillsides and plains shook as British batteries of field guns blasted overlapping salvos, the exploding shells mingling with the shattering crashes of the aerial bombardment.

Badshah's men had been waging guerilla warfare for several days, the dispatches said.

FEAR NEW DISORDERS

BOMBAY, June 4.—(INS.)—New disorders are feared today about the wired-off prison where 1,300 Indian Nationalist volunteer salt raiders are held.

Police fired into mobs outside the enclosure and 120 persons were injured. Of these 50 were sent for immediate hospital treatment.

Trouble broke out when the crowds surging outside the fence walls of the military objected to British soldiers' erection of a system of electrically-charged wires.

During the rioting, bedlam broke loose inside and the prisoners threatened to mutiny.

An Indian regiment rushed to the rescue and helped police to restore order.

SEE MOSLEM SUPPORT

Nationalist leaders foresee decreasing co-operation by Moslem elements in the civil disobedience campaign by which they hope to win independence from Great Britain.

A mile-long procession of Moslems last night paraded the streets, to demonstrate Mohammedan sympathy for the movement. Later, the Moslems assembled on the Maidan Esplanade and unanimously adopted a resolution supporting the program inaugurated by the All-India National Congress headed by Mahatma Gandhi.

lot boxes in strong Pinchot districts brought in for a recount was ready to be made in court today, but was held up until tomorrow at the request of Judge James R. Macfarlane.

Rosenberg had signed petitions asking ballot boxes in seven districts of the First Ward, Wilkinsburg, be opened and ballots tabulated by the special recount board.

Each petition made the general allegation of substantial error or fraud.

Judge Macfarlane sent a note to Rosenberg that he was so pressed with other business this afternoon that he could not receive the petitions until tomorrow morning.

Rosenberg said he had other petitions demanding a recount of the Second Ward, Wilkinsburg, and that these likely would be filed tomorrow. Altogether, he asserted, a recount of 109 boxes would be asked.

The districts specified in petitions, which Rosenberg was prepared to present today, were the First, Third, Fourth, Seventh, Tenth, Eleventh and Twelfth of the First Ward, Wilkinsburg.

Local Republican leaders have disavowed any connection with Rosenberg's move. Philadelphia political lieutenants have been quoted as attributing the move to the Republican organization here.

Approval of Porter Bill Hard Blow to Dope

By KENNETH CLARK
United News.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Aiming a smashing blow at the dope evil, the Senate Finance Committee has approved the Porter bill to create an independent narcotics bureau in the Treasury Department.

By centralizing narcotic enforcement under a commissioner, to be appointed by the President, the bill arms the government better to control the widespread illicit drug traffic.

After a unanimous vote in committee, Senator Smoot (Rep.), of Utah, chairman, submitted the report to the Senate. He plans shortly to call up the bill for action.

An amendment, suggested by the American Medical Association, to require closer co-operation by the federal government with the states in stamping out the drug menace, was incorporated by the committee.

The bill, which passed the House by unanimous vote, has the indorsement of Secretary of Treasury Mellon, the State Department, the National Association of Retail Druggists, all of the drug manufacturers in the United States, and leading medical authorities, including Dr. William Gerry Morgan, new president of the American Medical Association.

A scientific method to determine the medical needs of the country for narcotics, and thus eliminate excessive supplies that reach illicit channels, is provided in the measure.

The Public Health Service is charged with conducting the surveys, and import allotments, based on these findings, will be prescribed by the commissioner.

Senator Copeland (Rep.), of New York, co-operated with Representative Porter (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, author of the bill, to require the scientific investigations. Copeland is a noted health expert.

The need for the bill is imperative, Senators pointed out, in view of the transfer of the prohibition bureau from the Treasury to the Justice Department. The narcotics unit is an adjunct of the prohibition service.

Milwaukee O. K.'s Beer To Get Vet Convention

MILWAUKEE, June 4.—(AP.)—Albert J. Obenberger, Wisconsin commander of the Spanish War Veterans, seeks to bring the 1932 national convention of his organization to Milwaukee but insisted before the park board members last night, "we must be allowed to dispense beer in the park if Milwaukee is going to have a chance of getting the convention."

"We want to be able to offer beer as an attraction if we can get it," he said.

Commissioner Max Kufalk said that the board in granting permission to sell beer could in no way be charged with conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws.

"There is no possibility of getting beer with more than one-half of one per cent alcoholic content," he said. "Federal laws stipulate it cannot be obtained. Since illegal beer does not exist in the eyes of the law, we are not acting illegally by giving permission to dispense beer of the only kind that exists."

"That's fine," replied Obenberger, "now Milwaukee will have a chance of getting the encampment."

NUDE PAINTING SOUGHT AS KEY TO MURDER

Whiteside Picture Shows Girls Dancing on Beach; Convict Denies Slaying

International News Service.

PHILADELPHIA, June 4.—Police started a search today for a missing painting by the late Frank Reed Whiteside, internationally known artist, in the hope of solving the mystery of his murder at his little cottage on Waverly street here last October.

The much-sought painting revealed three nude girls dancing on a moonlit beach. It once hung in full view of all entering the little Waverly street home where Whiteside was so mysteriously shot down.

STUDENT SUBJECT

The central figure in the painting is believed to have been that of Leona Fischbach, 28-year-old art student of the noted painter, who was killed only 12 days after her instructor was shot to death.

Police have stumbled upon the theory William E. Paters, who was convicted of slaying Miss Fischbach, his sweetheart, during an insane rage, may also have killed the artist after seeing the painting of the girl so prominently displayed.

DENIES SLAYING

Peters, now serving a life sentence for the murder of the girl, vehemently has denied the murder of Whiteside, but police hit upon this theory after quizzing a cellmate of the lifer. It is believed that he gave information which linked Peters to the artist's murder.

ARMY FLIERS MAY HUNT 'BAD MEN'

Farmers in Fear as Killers Roam Countryside; 10 of Escaped Prisoners Taken

International News Service.

IONIA, Mich., June 4.—Only three of the 13 convicts who escaped from the Ionia State Hospital for the Criminal Insane remained at large today. Five were captured this morning, three of them after a mile-and-a-half chase in which deputies fired shots to halt them.

Those still at large are Henry Vadan, Negro; Roy A. Wynkoop, 48, and Jerry Badgely, 20.

Mahamed Latif, serving a sentence for breaking and entering, was found on a freight train at Owosso, 40 miles away. Hobert Erickson, sentenced from Ironwood, Mich., was found by a deputy walking along the road near Sheridan, nine miles from Ionia. He surrendered with no show of resistance.

The three who were recaptured earlier in the day were Omar Hassan, Joseph Zabijak and John Campbell.

RESIDENTS FRANTIC

An almost frenzied countryside besieged Sheriff Franch's office during the day with telephone calls telling of suspicious forms lurking in barnyards and in backyards.

The three at large are among the most dangerous in the hospital. All were residents of the "bad" ward. The men were armed with knives.

One of the escaped prisoners, John Milandez, a Mexican, was seized last night near Sheridan, 20 miles south of the hospital.

The felons escaped early yesterday when two guards and Night Supervisor Gene Owen were seized and forced to free the criminals.

MAY USE PLANES

Authorities were considering an appeal for Army planes to be sent from Selfridge Field to aid in the search.

The three recaptured during the night were:

Milandez, seized without a struggle at Sheridan, Montcalm County.

Frank Garrison, considered one of the ring-leaders in the escape.

Pearl Covington, sentenced from Detroit for robbery armed.

DESPERATE KILLERS FREE

The men who remain at large include Henry Vadan, giant Negro slayer, one of the most dangerous of the escaped criminals.

Trouble is feared when hunger impels the men to desert their hiding places in woods or swamps and appeal at farm houses for food.

WAR MOTHERS START HOME

PARIS, June 4.—(INS.)—Despite heavy rains that have drenched Northern France for the past three days, America's Gold Star Women today continued their pilgrimages to the graves of the sons and husbands they came to this country to honor.

Belleau Wood was the objective of one contingent. The same group also visited the grave of Quentin Roosevelt, son of former President Theodore Roosevelt, near Fere-en-Tardenois, and decorated the French war monument in that town.

Gold star mothers who went to England with the Twenty-seventh Division, then toured the battlefields of France, departed for Cherbourg today where they will embark on the Steamship Republic for their journey home.

NEW YORK, June 4.—(AP.)—From New England Hills and California ranches, a new contingent of 261 American moth . , wearing the gold star that means a son lies sleeping "Over There," arrived in New York today, en route to the graves of their boys in France. They sail tomorrow on the America.

Wouldn't Shave, Wife Sues For Divorce

Anna Kramer Stockfish, 150 Morewood avenue, objects to her husband, William Henry Stockfish, Wilkinsburg, refusing to shave, have his hair cut, and with going to bed dressed in working clothes, and wants a divorce.

This was indicated in a bill of particulars filed in Common Pleas Court by the libellant. The respondent wanted more information regarding her divorce action. The libellant also avers her husband accused her of being too lazy to keep an apartment and declared she had taken a position in a downtown store to avoid doing housework.

Their's was a West Virginia marriage, having gone to Wellsburg, July last, to wed and separated January 14, 1930.

OLD-TIME YALE GRID STAR DIES

NEW YORK, June 4.—(AP.)—Samuel Brinckerhoff (Brink) Thorne, one of Yale's football giants during the era of Heffelfinger and Hinkey, is dead at the age of 56.

The famous halfback of 35 years ago died suddenly in Harbor Hospital yesterday. A few weeks ago, on a fishing trip, he fell on a stone and suffered a hip injury. Infection set in and pleurisy followed.

His outstanding football feat was a long run for the touchdown that beat Princeton in 1895. He captained the Yale team of 1896 and was an all-American selection in 1895 and 1896.

Thorne became affiliated with the Pennsylvania Coal Company, of which he became comptroller in 1901. Later he founded the firm of Thorne, Neal and Company.

BONITZ TO GIVE FUND FACTS

Walter A. Bonitz, brick manufacturer, of this city, who stated he contributed $96,000 to the Davis-Brown primary expenses, to keep his promise to raise the money, will be questioned by the Senate Campaign Funds Committee, according to dispatches from Washington. The committee is expected to come here in July to quiz Bonitz and County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong, chairman of the Davis-Brown forces in Allegheny County. Bonitz's explanation is accepted by the Senate probers, it is said, but they wish to get a formal statement for the records. He has expressed his willingness to appear before the committee.

METROPOLITAN SERVICE URGED

The Pittsburgh Federation of Social Agencies today urged the reorganization of public service on a Metropolitan Pittsburgh basis.

In a letter to Joseph T. Miller, chairman of the Metropolitan Charter Commission, announcement was made of a child welfare report by the federation's committee. In it the committee urged that dependent children be transferred from Juvenile Court to another public agency to prevent their association with delinquent children.

The report also endorsed the recommendation of the Metropolitan Charter regarding the service to children, and expressed the hope that the next charter submitted to the Legislature next winter would include the plan of re-organization submitted in the original Metropolitan Plan.

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., June 4.—(AP.)—William Tipton, foreman of the J. V. Boxley Construction Company at Devon, was killed in an altercation with a Negro. Officers said the Negro became angry when he was discharged. The alleged slayer escaped through a railroad tunnel leading to Knox Creek.

Politician Indicted On Murder Charge

WELLSBURG, W. Va., June 4.—David H. Jones, Follansbee politician and business man, was indicted here on a first-degree murder charge in the slaying of J. Sands, a former political enemy, last Saturday night. Fifteen true bills were returned by the grand jury.

CITY TOOK CAR, $40,000 ASKED

Two suits were filed against the City of Pittsburgh for $20,000 each as a result of two policemen commandeering the automobile of Howard E. Walters, McKees Rocks, September 25, last.

Walters and George W. Thompson were injured while taking a man to the South Side Hospital who had been hurt and who were ordered to take him there by city patrolmen. When the Walter car was in Sarah street a city patrol wagon collided with the Walter car, injuring Walter and Thompson internally.

The accident, which resulted in the Walter car being commandeered, occurred in the vicinity of the 1600 block in West Carson street. A patrolman there hailed Walter and also requested Thompson to go along with Walter to the hospital. When the Walter car reached the Point Bridge, another patrolman boarded the running board of the Walter car and told Walter to proceed to the hospital, later resulting in their injury, due to a collision with a patrol wagon.

House Passes Bill For Tax Extension

WASHINGTON, June 4.—(AP.)—The Hawley resolution to extend for one year the time limit for the assessment, refund and credit of income taxes for 1927 and 1928 in the case of married persons having community income, was adopted by the House and sent to the Senate.

KIP TO OFFER ALICE TERMS

LAS VEGAS, Nev., June 4.—(AP.)—Harley A. Harmon, attorney for Leonard Kip Rhinelander, member of a socially prominent New York family, who recently received a divorce here from his Negro wife, Alice Jones Rhinelander, said today his client had offered to meet and discuss a property settlement with his former wife.

Informed it was reported in New York that Mrs. Rhinelander had declined an offer of $100,000 to release her dower right in her husband's estate and not to fight the divorce decree obtained here, Harmon said no definite offer had been made and none rejected.

The proposal to meet and discuss a property setlement was made today by long distance telephone to New York. Harmon said the settlement Rhinelander planned to offer is similar to the settlement made voluntarily after the divorce was granted, under which a trust was established for Mrs. Rhinelander which yields her approximately $250 a month.

C. S. Coler, president of the school, presented the diplomas and activities awards.

Wife Takes Blame For Hidden Liquor

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., June 4.—Mrs. Olga Maurer's insistence that her husband, Arthur Maurer, Union Hill, was ignorant of five pints of whiskey found under a pig trough in their barnyard by state officers, won today when Probate Judge J. H. Lamneck fined her $300 for the offense. The woman's husband, against whom the charge was originally placed, denied his guilt. Mrs. Maurer told the court that she purchased the liquor to obtain spending money.

Child, After Candy, Gets Poison, Dies

Mistaking poison tablets for candy, John Motter, three-and-a-half-year-old-son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Motter, Clairton, swallowed several, and as a result died in the McKeesport Hospital shortly after being admitted.

Following supper last evening, police were told the child went to a cupboard where he found the tablets. He ate several and was stricken a few minutes later.

STORY OF 'LOST' FLIER DENIED

ELK CITY, Okla., June 4.—(INS.)—A young garage mechanic who announced the startling information here yesterday that he was Maurice Graham, Western Air Express pilot, reported missing with his plane since January, was himself missing from his boarding house and repair shop today.

Inquiries had brought from Western Air Express officials at Los Angeles, emphatic statements that the mechanic's story of having been rescued by Indians on the Unitah reservation in Northern Utah was pure fiction.

When Graham disappeared in January, while flying the air mail from Los Angeles to Salt Lake City, a search was started which lasted for days, without revealing a trace of the flier.

A report was circulated that the plane carried $300,000 in currency, but this was denied by postal authorities, who said the cargo included 200 registered letters, containing approximately $2,000.

Death Takes Former President of B. R. T.

NEW YORK, June 4.—(AP.)—Timothy Shaler Williams, 68, president of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit system from 1911 to 1923, died here suddenly.

Death occurred in the apartment of an acquaintance, Mrs. Maude Lawrence. She said that while she was discussing details of a loan Williams was to make to her, he complained of the heat, collapsed and died.

Hoover's Dog 'Pat' Works Hard at Job

WASHINGTON, June 4.—(AP.)—Pat is a guardian of the White House who is on the job day and night. He reports for meals at the appointed place and time, then hurries back on duty. He has no special post, but visits them all. Pat is a police dog, the latest addition to the Hoover kennels.

PRESBYTERIANS TO MEET HERE

CINCINNATI, O., June 4.—(AP.)—Acceptance of an invitation issued by the Shadyside Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh, to hold its 1931 convention there today brought the one hundred and forty-second general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. to a close. The Shadyside church is the pastorate of the new moderator the Rev. Dr. Hugh T. Kerr.

The last major report heard was that of the Board of Foreign Missions, which took up the difficulties of missionary work in China. Internal dissensions and efforts of Soviet sympathizers to gain influence make the problems of missionaries numerous, the board reported.

The assembly previously had denounced the Soviet government.

Appointment of standing committees for the coming year and closing formalities completed the concluding program.

Two changes in the church organization were approved yesterday. It was decided to establish a permanent judicial commission as the supreme court of the church and to organize the Presbyterian Foundation, Inc., to concentrate on charitable work.

Allegheny High To Hold Memorial

Deny Nassak Diamond Free Entry as Antique

WASHINGTON, June 4.—(INS.)—The famous Nassak diamond is not a work of art so its importer must pay 20 per cent duty exceeding $50,000, the Court of Customs and Patent Appeals ruled today.

Its decision upheld the customs appraisers but reversed the Customs Court, which had held the Nassak entitled to free entry as an artistic antique.

Delving into history dating back to the dawn of civilization, the court made a study of the fascinating story of the diamond, valued at probably a half million dollars.

Some experts held that the Nassak, while a remarkable specimen and undoubtedly dated to antiquity, was cut according to mathematical rules for diamonds and therefore could not be entered into the country free as a work of art, more than 100 years old.

Others insisted the pear-shaped stone was one of the most remarkable works of art that had been produced by the diamond cutters of Europe and therefore it was entitled to entry under the special exemption of the tariff law applying to art treasures.

Testimony classed the Nassak diamond with some of the other famous stones of history—the Great Mogul, the Nazim, the River of Light, the Regent and the Koh-I-Nor.

The Nassak is now in a Fifth avenue jewelry shop in New York awaiting a prospective purchaser.

PREDICTS NEW PRISON RIOTS

NEW YORK, June 4.—(AP.)—A series of prison riots throughout the country was predicted for this summer by James B. Cox, secretary of the National Society of Penal Information.

He blamed living conditions, the Baumes laws and harsh punishments for fomenting the riots. He criticized Warden P. E. Thomas of the Ohio State Prison, blaming his administration for the disaffection among the convicts that preceded the fire in which more than 300 prisoners died.

Cox, however, defended Warden Edgar S. Jennings of Auburn. He said Jennings, removed because of the riots, had tried to forestall them by having the lifers removed from Auburn and put in one prison.

Cox declared the first Auburn riot was caused by a plot of four men, followed by 75 others. Then he asserted, the privileges of all were removed, resulting in unrest and a second riot.

Auto Driver Blamed In Crash Arrested

SHARON, June 4.—A Bentley, Jr., of Youngstown, was arrested by State Highway Policemen John Witherspoon and M. Morris, at Conneaut Lake, after his machine had forced Cassius Minzer, of Greenville, into the parked auto of Carl McNight, of Transfer, Pa. The McNight car went over an enbankment. Bentley is to be arraigned in Greenville Thursday on a reckless driving charge.

Mrs. J. E. Thompson, Greenville, was thrown through the windshield of an auto in which she was riding when the car was crowded off the road by a machine driven by H. G. Stedman, of Youngstown.

Boston Firm Buys Mercer Wool Pool

MERCER, June 4.—More than 00 pounds of wool, collected 1929, has been sold to Patter- and Company of Boston, by Mercer County Wool Growers' ociation. Shipment will be ted at once. As soon as the ehouse is emptied the 1930 l will be started.

Hoover Sends King Greetings on Birthday

WASHINGTON, June 4.—(AP.)—President Hoover yesterday sent a message of congratulation to King George V. of Great Britain on his sixty-fifth birthday anniversary. The message said:

"On behalf of my fellow citizens, and in my own name, I take especial pleasure in extending to Your Majesty hearty greetings of friendship and good will on his birthday. May Your Majesty be blessed with health and happiness for many years to come."

King George's anniversary was observed in Washington last night with the usual dinner, which was given by Vincent Massey, minister of Canada, as host to Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British ambassador and to the representatives of the Irish Free State and the Union of South Africa.

St. Francis' College Elects Prof. Mazzola

SHARON, June 4.—Prof. John Mazzola, of Sharon, has been re-elected to the faculty at St. Francis College. Prof. Mazzola has been in America only nine years and in that time completed Sharon High School in three years and the four-year course at Grove City College in three years. He received his master's degree at University of Pittsburgh.

PERSONALLY CONDUCTED, ALL-EXPENSE 10-DAY CRUISE $130

See the Glory of the SAGUENAY RIVER in Old French Canada

THE 10-day tour starts from Cleveland, although ships may be boarded at any stopping point, and takes you down the great St. Lawrence river that flows through picturesque historic French Canada. Fir.. you visit Niagara Falls and then steam across the Lake to Toronto, Queen city of Canada. Leaving Toronto you sail among the jewelled Thousand Islands and shoot in perfect safety the series of eight roaring rapids to Montreal. Here you sightsee for a day with hotel accommodation.

On to Quebec by night, down the best lighted waterway in the world. Dawn finds you docked beneath the mist wreathed ramparts of this fortress city. You spend a day on the return trip exploring its quaint, winding streets and promenading its famous Dufferin Terrace, which overlooks from on high the beautiful harbour. You visit the celebrated shrine of Ste. Anne de Beaupré. Miraculous cures are reported here and pilgrims journey from the four corners of the earth to worship at this hallowed spot.

Away down the widening reaches of the St. Lawrence to Murray Bay and peaceful Tadoussac. This little village, dreaming beneath its mountain background, is the last port of call before the awe-inspiring sail up the mysterious Saguenay river, guarded by its stupendous capes. A cruise into an old world that lies close at hand. See it before this corner of natural grandeur becomes part of all that is modern. Accommodation, both ship and hotel, is on the most luxurious scale.

Opinions Divided About Gay Nineties Styles, Miss Davies Finds

HOLLWOOD, June 4.—If the ashions of the gay Nineties re rn to favor all women will wear em, for women will be stylish gardless of what style is in gue.

No woman likes to wear an out oded frock.

That is the thought expressed many of the letters received the Marion Davies fashion ecialist at the New Pantages Theater ollywood, where Miss Davies test picture "The Florodora irl," opens today.

OCTOR GIVES OPINION

I would rather be dead than t of style, wrote Dr. R. Louise aight, 506 South Washington reet, Naperville, Ill.

The psychological effect of be g out of date is very depressing.

If the old styles come back I'd eel more comfortable in them han I would feel in the present ashions, which would, of course, e outmoded.

AVOES SHORT SKIRT

Some of the other letters received follow:

A lady is a lady (drunk or sober) whether in short or long skirts so why not be comfortable, modish nd contented, knowing you are ot gathering germs beneath your skirts?

JUNE JORDAN,
arolina Farm, San Anselmo, Marin Co., Cal.

AYS APRONS POPULAR

Alas and alack they love 'em est in a kitchen apron whether hey like to admit it or not. Men re only boys grown tall and if ou let 'em get hungry you'll soon nd out what they like you in est.

MRS. DANIEL J. M'DONALD,
. O. B. 101, Burlingame, Cal.

LD STYLES BEST

If the primal object for feminine tyles is to beautify her and accentuate her modesty, which all men admire in women, then I say he old style is best and will come gain.

Short hair never appertained to omanhood and cannot beautify er. From time immorial a woman's hair has been her crown g glory. I have never yet met a an who saw any beauty in a oman's knee. Something should e left, for man's imagination is odesty's demand.

MRS. WALTER B. ALLEN,
, 6, Box 258, Seattle, Wash.

IDICULOUS FASHIONS

It is a well known fact that ashion in every decade has in me manner contrived to make her votaries look ridiculous. Thus we find the youth of one generation laughing at the "queer" costumes and habits of the one preceding as doubtless their children will laugh at them.

R. E. FENDERSON,
Boone, Neb.

LIKES TODAY'S STYLES

I am in the sixties. Have seen the change from hoop skirts to barely any skirts. Used to take my best girl out riding on Sunday. Would have to hold my legs clear over on the left side of the seat to give her hoops a chance. Also sat as close to the end of the seat as possible so that her bustle and flounces would have room. A dress contained up to 25 yards of material.

When I wound the lines around the whip it took both arms to reach over the obstruction of dress to hug her. The big hat was always in the way and what is now called necking was a hard proposition.

Today's styles suit me somewhat better.

CHARLES SANDORS,
Wittenberg, Wis.

THE REAL ARGUMENT

The real argument about short dresses is that too many old women wear their dresses short and it spoils the styles for the young girls, or the ones who do look nice in the styles.

GLADYS PORTER,
Coroner Grove, Ill.

HITS AT GRANDMOTHER

There is nothing as beautiful and gloriously divine as womanhood and what is becoming of all that beauty with grandmother and mother clipping their tresses, to say nothing of their dresses, in an effort to appear "permanently sixteen?"

ADELYNE LYCKHOLM,
3941 N. Sacramento Ave., Chicago, Ill.

HOP FOR LINDY

I recall the days of my childhood, when my sisters used to shed enough clothing on retiring that Lindbergh couldn't fly over it if heaped on a pile.

Hoop-skirts would come in handy if they were of the pneumatic type. Motorists could always be supplied with a spare tire by taking the women along.

Beauty is the birthright of every woman, so why look like a "canal mule" standing in the bushes?

P. P. ROEBUCK,
Glen Rock Electric Light and Power Company, Glen Rock, Pa.

ARTISTIC DRESSES TODAY

It is not a case of the dress style of '90 or the present; it's a case of artificial or natural.

The dress of the '90s was the most unnatural, almost inhuman. I really think even the thought of it should make a woman shudder.

The dresses of today are artistic. They bring out the natural lines of the body without any artificial aid.

There is considerable criticism of the modern dress, but it's a matter of the state of mind. Even the most beautiful can be made vulgar if looked at in that state of mind.

THOMAS KOCHIS,
210 East Thirty-ninth avenue, Gary, Ind.

CALLS WOMEN VAIN

It seems to me that woman, as far as styles of dress are concerned, is very undignified, fickle and vain. They try to dress as their better minds tell them not to, but that master aristocrats of unrestless style intervenes.

CLAIR F. BRADENBAUGH,
Reynoldsville, Pa.

PICKING IN DARK

The styles in the nineties were ridiculous and you couldn't see enough of the woman to tell what she did look like, and every "bird" that married during that time didn't have a "Chinaman's chance" of telling whether he was picking a winner or an also ran.

E. H. SOMEROAK,
1512 Wolfert st., Pittsburgh, Pa.

COMPARED TO ROADS

Would you exchange the beautiful driveways of today for the muddy roads the pioneer traveled.

KATIE R. STAMPE,
63½ Forrest ave., N. E., Atlanta, Ga.

REGISTERS HER KICK

I am not a writer and should not enter into this great discussion except for the fact that I wish to register a good kick at our United States for being dictated to in so important a matter as material and style of dress we should wear. Are we nothing but copy-cats? Why can't we live our own lives, make our own styles, live within our means and not buy new clothes, furniture, Oriental rugs or cars just to keep up with the Jones or Smiths?

MRS. ROBERT E. LEE,
111 Markland avenue, Syracuse, N. Y.

NEW DESIGNS ADOPTED

The ultra-modern may and will accept the latest designs even though they be old styles, so long as they may be worn with a certain degree of comfort, but, perhaps, only for a season, for with the ever changing trend of fashion we always return at length to what is most universally popular, and today that popularity must be governed by economy, freedom and attractiveness.

MARIE E. YARNALL,
R. F. D. 1, Box 184, St. Claire Shores, Malcomb County, Mich.

GUARDS HER REPUTATION

If I expressed my honest-to-goodness opinion of the styles of the "Gay Nineties" my none-too secure reputation as a lady would be shattered.

Of all the blankety-blank straight jackets and collapsible steel one-man garages I have ever heard of, those corsets were the "Dernier Crie."

MISS LORRAINE G. DAVIES,
4148 Holcomb avenue, Detroit, Mich.

AID TO BUGS

Skirts dragged shamelessly in the dust, and many a fatigued caterpillar obtained a breathing-spell while he rode part way home to a waiting wife.

WAR LOAN PLAN ACCORD NEAR

PARIS, June 4.—(AP.)—Bankers, officials of the Bank for International Settlements, and treasury representatives of creditor countries, in session here to perfect the details of the $300,000,000 loan to be floated by the International Bank, hoped that final accord concerning the loan would be signed Saturday, the anniversary of the signing of the Young plan.

Under present plans of the subcommittee studying the final details, the United States will take a larger slice of the bonds than at first planned. The Morgan company will be asked to float $84,000,000 instead of $80,000,000, and it is understood that Morgan representatives have approved that apportionment.

France will put the same amount on the market, while the quota for England remains $50,000,000.

3 LOOT BANK, ALARM FAILS

KANSAS CITY, Kan., June 4.—(AP.)—Three men robbed the Victory State Bank at Eighteenth street and Minnesota avenue, here, of $3,040 and escaped despite a cleverly-devised bandit alarm.

The bank is at a busy outlying street intersection and merchants in the vicinity had planned to protect it in case of a holdup. The merchants keep their weapons loaded and in each store is a bell that rings when a certain $5 bill in the cage of the bank teller is disturbed.

The bill was in its accustomed place, but was about the only piece of currency the bandits passed up in their looting.

Marriage of Stage Couple Annulled

LOS ANGELES, June 4.—(AP.)—Maitland Lederer Rice, actor, obtained an annulment of his marriage to Ruth Dorothy McVine, actress, in Superior Court after establishing that she neglected to procure her final divorce decree from Malett L. Lycett known on the stage as Hugh Huntley, in Providence, R. I.

Rice and the actress were married in Milford, Pa., April 30, 1925. He said she told him she had obtained a divorce from Lycett.

A NEW arrangement has made it possible for you to dictate your telegrams direct to Postal Telegraph over the telephone. Just follow these simple directions—

From all manual telephones, just say "Postal Telegraph."

From all customers' dial telephones, dial Atlantic 8700.

From public dial coin telephones, dial operator and ask for Postal Telegraph.

The telegram charge will appear on your telephone bill.

Through Postal Telegraph today you can quickly reach 70,000 points in the United States—8,000 in Canada. And through the vast International System with which Postal Telegraph is affiliated, you can flash a message to practically any point in the civilized world, and to ships at sea—by telegram, cable, radio.

The Velvet Wrap

For Evening.....
For Afternoon.....

It may take the form of a jacket with sleeves, or a little trifle which drapes softly about the figure, or a three-quarters coat . . . It can be worn over formal short-sleeve afternoon frocks, and is inevitable for evening.

If one is very young, with frocks which are very, very long, then one's wrap will be short. But if one is older, the longer wrap is likely to be the preference.

All the smart, new models in the Evening Wrap Section, at $10 to $39.50 . . . In black, bright colors and pastels.

It's Fashionable to Wear

Real Stone Rings

Everyone is seeking colorful jewelry this season . . . even the rings must bring color to the ensemble. Here's an inexpensive group of marcasite and real stone rings . . . with stones of lapis, carnelian, onyx, chrysoprase, chalcedony or rose quartz. The stones are of various sizes and shapes, suitable for wearing on the third or fourth fingers.

Tweed Cravat Scarfs

With Matching Handbags

$4.95

In this day of matching accessories, what could be more effective than a cravat scarf and handbag of the same material! These sets, of beautifully woven tweeds, will be smartly worn with woolen suits or travel coats this summer.

The scarfs, to be tied in Ascot fashion, are lined with crepe de chine . . . and the matching envelope purses are lined in beige moire. Patterns include mixtures with predominating brown, blue, green, red, orchid, or black and white.

...Horne's, Neckwear Section, Main Floor...

Initialed Stationery

Stationery that will be a smart addition to all the accessories of a smart traveler . . . most individual in its cut-out initial and bordered sheets.

Your choice may be the convenient three-fold note paper in white, gray or buff bordered in blue, white, or tan, at $1.25 . . . or large folded sheets in white, buff, gray, or green, bordered in darker shades, at $2.00. Both styles have lined envelopes.

NEW in Berets

Paris has again worked her modifying charm on the beret, and given the fashion world many new developments of this favorite classic. . . . And our Millinery Salons present copies of these welcome, new models for spectator wear, street wear and travel.

. . . Of moire silk, taffeta, velvet, velvet-with-linen, English corduroy, felt. $5 to $35.

A Mantelpiece Radio

$59.50 Complete

Here's a compact, handsome radio that occupies little more space than a mantel clock. Only 15½ inches high and 14 inches wide, it can be placed on an end table or any other small area and can be easily moved from place to place. It is ideal for small apartments, students' rooms or bachelor quarters . . . and is just the thing for the summer home.

Not a miniature radio, mind you . . . nor a makeshift in any sense. It is a beautiful-toned, seven-tube, screen-grid set, with dynamic speaker—all in a cabinet not much larger than an old-fashioned loud-speaker.

This is really a wonderful set—come in and see it. It is fully guaranteed and is priced complete, including tubes, installation and a year's service.

Children's Three-in-One Knit Brevities

3 for $1.85

Children should wear these union suits because:

1. They have short legs that won't show under the shortest suits and dresses.
2. They are three garments in one—combining vests, panties, and pantie waists.
3. They have rubber buttons that won't break in the wringer.
4. They have taped buttons for adjusting suits and dresses.
5. They wash easily and require no ironing.
6. They won't chafe—every part is roomy and well-shaped.
7. They are inexpensive enough to buy by the dozen.

Comfortable, practical union suits of fine ribbed cotton—of spring and summer weight. Sizes 2 to 12 years.

...Horne's, Third Floor...

Coolie Coats and Silk Pajamas

$5.00

Typical summer lingerie, made of soft Japanese silk, exotically printed.

The Coolie Coats are shown in white, black, pink, blue, green or red, also of Japanese brocaded silk and with large Japanese designs around the border. These are especially appropriate for traveling and beach wear.

The Pajamas, the two-piece style, are all of ivory white silk, with all sorts of colorful Oriental designs printed on the blouse and trousers. The pajamas are held in a silk handbag, a novel convenience for travelers.

...Horne's, Second Floor...

All-Day Dresses

$5.95

Printed lawn, dimity, batiste, voile, seed dimity, and plain-color pique, or silk shantung, with long sleeves, elbow sleeves, no sleeves at all . . . cape collars of batiste and lace, bow collars of dotted Swiss, embroidered batiste, tailored necklines . . . peplum-effect skirts, pleats at back and front and flares are some of the many new details you'll find in these dresses. Sizes range from 14 to 46.

We Now Present

By DARRELL V. MARTIN,
Radio Editor.

ATLANTIC CITY, June 4.—Reports of a contemplated shakeup in the reallocation band of stations in the United States were spiked by Maj. Gen. C. McK. Saltzman, chairman of the Federal Radio Commission, in an address before the Radio Manufacturers' Association in convention here.

He declared:

"Chaotic conditions in reception have ended. All changes from now on will be gradual, made along sound engineering lines with the sole object of providing better radio for listeners. The commission will do nothing radical."

It was learned from a reliable source that the commission will not act on the petition of WJAS listeners for some time due to the several radio litigations now pending before the commission.

The R. M. A. went on record to challenge the constitutionality of a license to operate tax imposed by the South Carolina Legislature on owners of receiving sets. These taxes range from 50 cents to $2.50.

That reception of radio as well as transmission is interstate and therefore beyond the jurisdiction of the states will be contended in opposing this and similar petty taxes on owners of sets.

Plans for expansion of foreign markets for American-made sets and the advisability of interchange of patents between radio manufacturers were other high spots in the discussion.

Manufacturers are staging a grand and glorious social circus over the boardwalk. At least a dozen balloons are strung on cables. Several airplanes carry illuminated signs at night.

There is a weird yarn going the rounds that police frustrated an attempt to hold up the Pittsburgh special train last Sunday on its way here. Whoever started the tale conceived the idea that the robbers would have netted $100,000 at least figuring $200 to each of 500 men on the train.

G. Araten, Pittsburgh sales representative, had the pleasure of being mistaken for Gene Sarazen, the golfer, when Grantland Rice in town called him on the phone to say hello. The conversation was a riot, until Rice learned something was wrong.

The Spanish patio reception room of WPG in the civic auditorium is perhaps the most costly in the world. The Spanish imported tile cost $22,000. It takes 67 miles of cable to broadcast events from the convention hall.

Propaganda for bringing the R. M. A. convention to Pittsburgh next year has been set in motion.

Villain Traps Himself.
Professor Montagu, arch villain of the radio serial known as Mystery House, finds that by entrapping Bob Brooks, his bright young and likable secretary and valet, he has captured himself an excellent and much prized victim.
Montagu has attempted Brooks and Williams 200 feet below the street level under the supervision which supports the gang leader's penthouse apartment on the roof. But the Professor himself is handcuffed to Inspector Hawtrey of Scotland Yard, in a dark tunnel outside the rock-walled chamber in which Brooks has been sealed. Brooks has the key to the shackles.

TWO HELD IN $45,000 RAID

Charged with importation and possession of more than $45,000 worth of liquor seized by prohibition agents Saturday last in a railroad car at McKeesport, two men were held in $1,500 bail each yesterday following hearings before a United States commissioner.

The men, D. F. Coughlin and John Dolan, both of McKeesport, were arrested in a parked automobile near the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks at the time of the seizure and charged with complicity.

Spending Sunday in jail due to inability to secure bond, Coughlin was released the day following when the preliminary amount was posted. Dolan was freed under bond shortly before the hearing.

Several hundred pint of "Old Colonial" whisky, issued under Canadian seal, were reported confiscated by the agents. Dolan and his accomplice were preparing to remove th contraband when apprehended, the dry officers charged.

Dainty Frock for Summer

Pattern 1940

Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS

The summer wardrobe needs frocks that will stand many tubbings. Today's model is just such a frock — simple, smart and becoming. The adorable neck with square lines repeated in the joining of the skirt flare and the slight drop of the shoulder replacing sleeves, are features to delight every woman.

Pattern 1940 is enchanting, made of one of the season's colorful prints. Piqué, dimity, shantung, percale, broadcloth or wash silk might be selected. I suggest the colored braid purchased ready to use as a smart finish to neck, armholes and skirt joining, and two petit ribbon bows placed as shown in the sketch.

May be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 14 requires $2\frac{3}{4}$ yards of 39-inch fabric.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins carefully wrapped, or stamps, for each pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE wanted.

Our BOOK of PATTERNS for adults and children, also transfer patterns, is FIFTEEN CENTS, but only TEN CENTS when ordered with a pattern. Address all mail and orders to Sun-Telegraph Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth St., New York City.

1.—Enclose 15 cents in coins.
2.—Write clearly NUMBERS of patterns and SIZE wanted.
3.—Write or print your NAME and ADDRESS plainly.
4.—If you want SUN-TELEGRAPH Style Book send 10c extra.
5—Address your request to

6 YOUTHS ADMIT THEFT SERIES

Six young men of the North Braddock district today admitted in Morals Court committing a series of robberies and auto thefts. They were held for the grand jury by Magistrate T. D. Jones.

The six confessed holdup of the store of Louis Greenberg, 3400 Milwaukee street; theft of autos from Ray Cook, of Blawnox, in front of the P. A. A. and from Lawrence Cook, 7125 Lemington avenue; also holdups in Edgewood, North Braddock and Port Perry, all within the last month.

County detectives will prefer charges against the youths in the robberies outside the city. Magistrate Jones was informed.

The six gave their names as Clarence Stead, 2163½ Braddock avenue; Turtle Creek; Joseph Selga, 1316 Erma avenue, North Braddock; Joseph Weiss, 1303 Grant street, North Braddock; Anthony Zuzmewski, 1411 Erma avenue, North Braddock; George Petrick, 310 Cliff street, East Pittsburgh, and Steve Puskker, 512 Talbot avenue, North Braddock.

RUNS WILD IN HOTEL, FINED

Guests on the ninth floor of the William Penn Hotel early today were awakened by a pounding on their doors. They summoned House Detective John Dye, who discovered a man running up and down the corridors hammering at each room. When Dye interfered, the stranger punched him on the nose.

The detective arrested the man, who told Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Central Police Station today that he we L. F. White, a security salesman, of Chicago, and that he had been stopping at the hotel. He explained the door-pounding by declaring "that Pittsburgh liquor didn't agree with him."

Magistrate Rothenberg fined him $10.

Montana Woman Lost 19 Pounds of Fat In 4 Weeks

Here's a letter written October 21, 1929, by Mrs. Fred Barringer of Lewistown, Montana, that ought to be read by every overweight woman in America.

When stout women can lose fat and at the same time gain in energy and vigor.

Gain in charm and vivaciousness.

Gain in healthy complexion and have eyes that sparkle with buoyant health.

And at insignificant cost—isn't it time to use common sense?

Please read this letter carefully:

"Gentlemen: I first saw your advertisement in a Billings, Montana, paper and decided to try Kruschen Salts.

I was the first to purchase a bottle in Billings.

I started taking them every morning as directed as I was very much overweight and wanted to reduce.

I had tried going on a diet but would get so hungry that my diet would not last long, so I decided to give Kruschen Salts a fair trial. The day I started to take them I weighed 206 lbs. and at present which has been just four weeks, I weigh 187 lbs. and I must say I feel better every way; besides looking much better. Kruschen Salts had a decided effect upon the quantity of food I took and stimulated my desire to greater activity.

I have recommended Kruschen Salts to many of my friends, in fact have a number of them taking Kruschen Salts.

May all large people, both men and women, who want to reduce in an easy way, give Kruschen Salts a fair trial. I am sure it will convince any one."

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts four weeks costs but 65c at all May's & Liggett's Drug Stores, or any drug store in America.

MEDICS STUDY RAIL INJURIES

Medical leaders discussed modern methods of treatment, especially in injury cases, at the opening sessions today of 300 members of the Baltimore and Ohio Association of Railway Surgeons in the William Penn Hotel.

The thirty-ninth annual convention, which will continue through Friday morning, was opened with an address of welcome by Harry W. Neely, Chamber of Commerce convention committee chairman, on behalf of the city, and E. A. Peck, general superintendent, for the railroad. Dr. H. B. Anderson, of Newark, O., association president; William M. Kennedy and Dr. E. V. Millholland, surgical director, followed with short remarks.

Medical lectures were given by Drs. Louis J. Feid, Jr., Cincinnati; Frank S. Lynn, Baltimore, and Henry J. Becker, Cleveland, during the morning. The afternoon speakers were Drs. Page Edmunds, Baltimore; Robert J. Reed, Wheeling; Lester D. Norris, Fairmont, and Benjamin I. Golden, Elkins, W. Va.

A boat ride tonight and dinner-dance tomorrow tonight feature the convention's social program. Women visitors will be entertained on shopping tours and sightseeing trips tomorrow.

Washwomen, mother's helpers, nursemaids, cooks, maids, household help of all kinds advertise for positions in the Classified Ads. If you need help, look over their qualifications.

32 Candlepower Lights for Autos

Automobile headlights of 32 candlepower were made legal in Pennsylvania yesterday, C. H. Roth, secretary of the Pittsburgh Motor Club, was informed by Benjamin G. Eynon, commissioner of motor vehicles. Twenty-one candlepower has been the maximum, with a fine of $10 and costs for violation.

Eynon said the change was made because 21 candlepower is not sufficient to illuminate roads at all times. Almost every other state has adopted the 32 candlepower maximum.

Government Survey Shows Millions Suffering With

NewFootDisease

According to a recent bulletin of the U. S. Public Health Service—it has been discovered that one-half the adults of U. S. at some time suffer with so-called ringworm of feet.

When this disease first attacks, a little cracking and scaling starts around and between the toes—later blisters develop which break and form a wet oozing surface which some folks can't heal for months.

To check this contagious epidemic, with all its intense itching, burning and distress, druggists everywhere are dispensing Moone's Emerald Oil—a powerfully penetrating and healing germicide.

Apply night and morning. The itching and burning immediately ceases and if, after two weeks, your feet aren't well again, your money cheerfully refunded.

SO YOU'RE GETTING A NEW WASHER, MRS. BATES. WHAT KIND?
I DON'T KNOW YET. I'M GOING TO LOOK AT SOME THIS AFTERNOON
THESE SHIRTS LOOK BRIGHTER THAN EVER, MABEL. YOUR NEW WASHER'S GREAT
IT'S NOT ONLY THE WASHER. IT'S THE NEW SOAP I'M USING —RINSO. IT GIVES THE RICHEST SUDS I EVER SAW

WELL, NO MATTER WHAT KIND YOU GET, BE SURE TO USE RINSO. THE BEST WASHING MACHINE MAKERS RECOMMEND IT
YES, I'VE HEARD HOW SAFE RINSO IS . . . AND HOW MUCH WHITER IT WASHES CLOTHES. I MUST TRY IT

(Millions use Rinso. Thousands write us letters like this.)

"A little goes so far!" says Mrs. Townsend Bird, of Wilkinsburg

"My neighbor always used to get whiter clothes, I wondered why, until she told me about Rinso, and how its rich, safe suds loosen dirt. I've been using Rinso in my washer since then! I love the way it gets clothes sweet and clean, so quickly, even without boiling. A little Rinso goes so far, too—and certainly makes dishes shine!"

PACKERS CLASH IN U. S. COURT

WASHINGTON, June 4.—(AP)—Wholesale grocers and meat packers clashed in the District of Columbia Supreme Court as their counsel reopened argument over the long controverted packers' consent decree of 1920.

A motion by the grocers to dismiss the packers' petition for modification was taken under advisement by Justice Jennings Bailey.

Lord O'Brian, assistant United States attorney general, said the government wished to expedite the long litigation, looking toward application of the mandate of the United States Supreme Court, making the decree effective.

Under existing court rulings on the decree, the formation of which a decade ago climaxed anti-trust litigation against the Swift, Armour, Morris and other packing groups, the meat packers were to have withdrawn by last November from all industries not related to meat packing.

BOOST IN RADIO SALES SEEN

WASHINGTON, June 4.—(AP)—Radio dealers, by arduous effort, are building up a 1930 sales volume in business so far this year that gives good prospect of exceeding the 1929 record.

This is the conclusion reached at the end of a joint inquiry undertaken by the Commerce Department and the National Electrical Manufacturers Association.

Reports from 7,153 radio dealers showed their sales for the first quarter of 1930 amounted to $144,500,000, as compared with $132,000,000 for the same period last year. Allowing for seasonal variations, the surveyors say, radio equipment sales for the entire year in the United States will approximate $645,000,000, as compared with $590,000,000 which were the sales for 1929.

Former Mercer Man Killed by Fall

MERCER, June 4.—County Commissioner Harry Hunter has received word of the death of his uncle, S. B. Clark, 74, of Ellwood City, from injuries sustained in a fall from a ladder several days ago. At one time, Clark conducted the Red Letter Restaurant here and formerly resided in Shenango Township.

WIFE OBSERVING BIRTHDAY SLAIN

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 4.—(AP.)—Mrs. Pearl Snyder's observance of her twenty-third birthday at her brother's home was interrupted by her husband who, police said, shot her in the head with a .22 calibre revolver. She died in a hospital.

The husband, Dan Snyder, was held in jail. Police said the couple were estrangled and the shooting followed an attempt by Snyder to effect a reconciliation.

Real Estate

A large stone residence at 1440 Beechwood boulevard, Fourteenth Ward, has been sold for J. P. Hoelzel to Paul C. Wolff. The lot is 75x200 feet, and the house contains 12 rooms. The property had been held at $50,000. The deal was made through Scott & McCune. Mr. Hoelzel recently purchased the James E. Lewis residence at 5611 Aylesboro avenue through the Nicola Realty Company.

A store and basement at Smithfield street and First avenue has been leased through C. C. McKallip & Co. for the Mary L. Lanahan estate to Victor Franchini for a long term. The new tenant has already taken possession. The same brokers leased for Robert F. Maloney to Dines & Hirsh, Inc., the store and basement at 336-338 Third avenue, Maloney Building, and 2,500 square feet on the fifth floor of the Maloney Building to the Keystone Composition Company.

The Ford Motor Company has leased from the Pierpoint Motor Company 30,000 square feet of space in the building at Morewood avenue and Baum boulevard for a parts depot. The lease is for a term of years and was made through the Porter & MacDowell Company.

A house on the south side of Hoeveler street, near North Highland avenue, has been conveyed by Joseph A. Segal to C. W. Goodwin. The lot is 30x122 feet.

Motion pictures showing the big program of public improvements in Allegheny County were shown to the members of the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board yesterday, following the noon luncheon at the William Penn Hotel. Pictures showed construction on the Ohio River, Allegheny River, Moss Side and Saw Mill Run boulevards, and on numerous bridges. County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong was present and Vernon R. Covell and Edward L. Schmidt, county engineers, spoke.

A three-story brick store and apartment and five garages at 7355-7357 Frankstown avenue, lot 50x120 feet, have been sold by Celia Rabinovitz to Sarah J. Reagan.

Wins Divorce from San Francisco Man

BEAVER, Pa., June 4.—Mrs. Alice Moore, of Cleveland, formerly of Brighton Township, was granted a divorce from Warren N. Moore, Jr., of San Francisco, here on grounds of desertion and indignities.

Mrs. Moore recently won settlement of a suit for $50,000 and $200 per month maintenance against her husband, his father, Warren N. Moore, Sr., department store owner of San Francisco. She charged her husband had signed an agreement to pay her this amount in the event he got drunk again. She contended he broke the agreement and his father spirited him away.

Cochranton Banker New Group Leader

CONNEAUT LAKE, Pa., June 4.—(AP.)—J. H. Allison, Cochranton, was named chairman of Group 7, Pennsylvania Bankers' Association, at the thirty-fifth annual meeting here. Other officers named were A. M. Whitney, Bradford, vice chairman; R. D. Geskill, Meadville, secretary-treasurer; J. Boyd Bert, Erie; R. L. Irwin, Sheffield; S. L. BOGGS & BUHL
61ST ANNIVERSARY

WOMAN KILLED IN GAS BLAST

CHICAGO, June 4.—(AP.)—Mrs. Christine Denert rang the doorbell at the home of her friend, Mrs. Grace Tomaseli, expecting to be warmly greeted and invited in for a chat.

Instead, Mrs. Denert was thrown back from the door by an explosion which wrecked the rear of the Tomaseli house and sent flames spurting through the windows.

When firemen arrived and entered the house, they found Mrs. Tomaseli dead in her kitchen. They believe that she had fallen asleep while preparing a meal; that a kettle had boiled over, extinguishing a gas jet; that the kitchen had become gas-filled and that a spark from the electric doorbell rung by the caller, caused the explosion.

G. A. R. Encampment Plans Completed

NEW CASTLE, Pa., June 4.—Plans have been completed for the state encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic and affiliated organizations, here beginning June 8. R. L. Meermans, finance committee chairman, reported that the fund is nearing the sum required to finance the affair at which 2,000 delegates and 10,000 visitors are expected.

The encampment parade will be held Wednesday, June 11 at 3 p. m. The annual campfire will be held the same evening in the Scottish Rite Cathedral. Col. W. W. Stevenson, of the Fourth Regiment, Sons of Veterans' Reserve, has been selected as marshal of the parade.

9 Music Students Given Certificates

WAYNESBURG, Pa., June 4.—Nine students were awarded junior certificates at the annual junior commencement of the Waynesburg College Conservatory of Music.

They were Hilda I. Conner, Lucille White, Pauline Morris, Virginia Myers, Elizabeth Rush, Evelyn Barclay, Josephine Carroll, Fern Steinbaugh and Marie D. Whyte.

Glenn Hunter Returns To Motion Pictures As Talking Star

HOLLYWOOD, June 4.

Glenn Hunter, famous as "Merton of the Movies" both on the screen and the New York stage, has returned to the motion picture field and will make his first talking picture at the Tiffany Studios. Phil Goldstone, chief studio executive, has signed Hunter for the leading masculine role in "Why Marry," a farce melodrama. Frank Strayer will direct. Vera Reynolds, one of the screen's most popular stars, has been signed to play the leading feminine role. Others in the cast include Nita Martan and Paul Hurst.

Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer has placed in production "Like Kelly Can," a comedy with music based on Vincent Lawrence's stage play "Spring Fever." Charles F. Riesner who has just completed the multi-star revue "The March of Time" is the director, and the cast is headed by Robert Montgomery, last seen in "The Divorcee" and Dorothy Jordan. The other players in "Like Kelly Can" include J. C. Nugent, Benny Rubin, Tyrrell Davis, Harry Burns, Tom McGuire, Allan Lane and the Biltmoore Trio. Two New York revue beauties, Dorothy McNulty and Catherine Moylan, also make their camera debuts in featured parts in this film.

NEED FAST TEMPO

Motion picture comedies demand a fast sustained tempo, according to Edward Sutherland, Paramount director.

"Any lagging in tempo is fatal to the success of a film comedy," declared Sutherland. "Comedies are episodical. These episodes must follow one another swiftly but not jerkily. It is one of the chief concerns of a comedy director to keep action moving along at a fast and sustained pace.

"The episodes which provide the laughs in a comedy must be woven into the thread of a story to make it logical and credible," Sutherland continued. "The story fabric should be strong enough to sustain interest and provide a foundation for the laugh-producing incidents."

Sutherland is now directing Jack Oakie in his first starring vehicle, "The Social Lion," for Paramount. In the production Oakie portrays a prize-fighter who develops a social complex. Mary Brian, Skeets Gallagher and Olive Borden are among the supporting cast.

RAILROAD PICTURE

Radio Pictures' all-outdoor railroad feature will be released under the title of "The Record Run" instead of "The Stalwart," according to an announcement today by William LeBaron, vice president in charge of RKO production.

At the present time the entire company is on location in Montana, and before completing the picture will journey as far east as Chicago to obtain realistic railroad scenes.

Louis Wolheim, Robert Armstrong and Jean Arthur are playing the leading roles in "The Record Run." George B. Seitz is directing.

TELEVISION AND FILMS

Television and motion pictures will be linked in the future, it was predicted by Harley L. Clarke, president of the Fox Film Corporation, at the annual sales convention of the organization at the Ambassador Hotel, Los Angeles.

"The movies welcome television," Mr. Clarke told the delegates. "The experience, prestige and millions of the motion picture industry will be placed squarely behind it as soon as it reaches a practicable point."

Seniors at P. C. W. To Present Comedy

Ferenc Molnar's high comedy, "The Swan," has been chosen for the annual senior class presentation of the Pennsylvania College for Women. It will be staged tonight and tomorrow night at 8:15 in the college chapel. Clare Fassinger is leading lady in the part of the Princess Alexandra.

WALTER WINCHELL On Broadway

In Fewer Words

(With all apologies to Mr. Hoffenstein.)

A few more years to primp and pose
And fuss and cuss and lie and sin in;
A little while to change our clothes
And fearing that our hair is thinnin'—
Then a sleep beneath the slabs,
And no more dodging taxicabs.

A few more years to love and lose
And dream and scheme and wish and sigh in;
A little while to chase the blues
And wonder if "her" love is dyin'—
Then death, a grave with all its trimmin',
And no more chasing after women.

—Francis H. Sullivan.

Haw!

Jack Benny, the two-a-dayer, tells the one about the drunk who zig-zagged into a third-rate restaurant and clapped his paws madly for some service.

"I'm in a hurry," hiccoughed the stew, "just bring me a swish sheez shandwish."

The waiter with the gimpty leg gimped away, hobbing up and down on his crippled stem.

"Au!" bellowed the impatient drunk, "if you have to go down shtairs for it—then the hell with it!"

Oop!

Nathan Hamburger, one of Philadelphia's favorite sons, who is now wifeless, met Louise Brooks, the divorcee, at the Central Park Casino the other midnight, and tactlessly said:

"I bumped into your ex-husband today."

"Well!" was the icy retort, "hard?"

The Retort Swell

A former stick-up man has been touching Bill Mizner for deuce spots, five spots and tens out in Hollywood, according to Bill Halligan. Mizner, whose Brown Derby rendezvous is a favorite spot out there, finally rebelled.

"Listen," complained Mizner, "I'm tired of keeping you, old boy. Why don't you get busy with that pistol of yours?"

"There isn't much doing," alibied the former bandit.

"What's the matter," countered Mizner, "doesn't it get dark at night any more?"

Add Sillies

Benedict Gimbel, the storekeeper's boy, passes this along.

Two lazy colored men were wilting from the heat.

"Boy," drawled the first, "ain't this a hot day?"

"Hot day?" replied the other, "I'll say. Why, ah just seen a dawg chasin' a cat—and they both wus walkin'!"

Oh, Mr. Ripley!

He isn't a bad sort, at all, and she is lovely. So an hour after they met at a party he proposed marriage. To his amazement she accepted and they eloped upstate and were sealed. When her very wealthy father learned of it the next day he summoned the lad.

"She isn't of age and I am terribly distressed," said the parent. "I'll put a million dollars in the bank in your name today if you will agree to an annulment."

The chap agreed. Instead of squandering the easily earned million he started a string of hotels a few years ago and today he is worth sixteen million.

Incidentally

A similarly "lucky break" happened to another New Yorker, but this one was a two-timer. The fates, however, were kind to him. He gave an heiress the swift chatter while the moon was full and she married him that night. Her father was furious and engaged detectives to check and double-check him.

A few months later the detectives reported that he was a bigamist and that he had stranded a wife in Russia, but the suave groom vigorously denied the charge and argued that his enemies were out to embarrass him.

But the detectives located his wife and they went to the old country to bring her here to confront him.

The man's luck didn't fail him, however. At Cherbourg, while waddling up the gangplank, his "wife" dropped dead.

In Case You Didn't Know

After all these years the Revolutionary War's outstanding traitor, Benedict Arnold, is to be honored at West Point. The newspapers just reported how thrilled West Point was over the gift from a woman who presented West Point with a desk that belonged to the renowned spy.

But what the papers failed to add was that the desk has been placed underneath a tablet which contains the names of American generals. And Benedict Arnold's name has been chiseled off.

Golly!

A few weeks ago a man leaped to his death from his Park avenue apartment window. The police summoned every elevator operator and employe in the building to look at the suicide with the hope of identifying him. Not one maid or attache recognized him, however.

Finally the man's nurse missed him and felt that something had happened. She hastened to the street and solved the mystery.

But not until she had first put on his toupee!

Of All Things!

Among other gags unfolded in a night asylum was the one about the Broadwayfarer whose face was crowded with court-plaster. His pals asked him how come?

"Well," he wail'd dejectedly, "I hurried into a barber shop down on the East Side yesterday and I asked the barber who was shaving me why he was standing on a box. He said: 'This is my birthday and my father said I could do anything on my tenth birthday, so I wanted to shave somebody.'"

Merciless Truth

Another testimonial proving that vaudeville conditions are not getting better was given by Jim Toney, the wit. Toney was ankling along Broadway the other sundown when he encountered his former partner, Harry Bestry.

"How's things, Jim?" asked Bestry.

"Awful," replied Toney, "things are getting so tough that even a panhandler has to give an audition."

A Form of Criticism

Take it from Erle Hampton, a duo of chine-ma directors were groaning about a certain Hollywooden head, whose success had gone to her bean like 180-proof giggle water.

"Yeah," grumbled one of the directors, "she's so swell-headed she needs Grandeur film for her close-ups!"

Farmer Cuts Tree Limb in Comic Style, Hurt

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., June 4.—(AP.)—Charles Doty, 58, Glen Easton farmer, did what has hitherto been reserved to the comic strips. He sat on a tree limb and sawed it off from under him.

As the limb cracked Doty jumped and the limb fell on him. He suffered two fractured legs and internal injuries.

Organist

Wild Oscar, comedy organist, who has been appearing in Loew theaters for the last five years, will open a limited engagement in the Penn Friday.

IT 'CLICKS' WITH THE CRITICS

COHEN—The Post-Gazette says:
"'ALL QUIET' represents an achievement that has never before been equaled on the screen. A searing indictment that burns itself into your memory. It is a spectacle always to be remembered.
"If ever there was a picture worthy of the price they're now asking at the Pitt, this is it. To miss it would be to miss a movie-going experience that comes once in a lifetime. You will remember 'ALL QUIET ON THE WESTERN FRONT' because you can never forget it."

KRUG—The Pittsburgh Press says:
"The most gripping photoplay that has ever been manufactured for either the sound or silent screen."

SEIBEL—The Sun-Telegraph says:
"The picture that opened at the Pitt Theater last night, made from the novel of Eric Maria Remarque, which has sold millions of copies, is one of the greatest peace pleas ever sent into the world. IT IS THE MOST DRAMATIC AND REALISTIC THING EVER PUT UPON THE SCREEN. DON'T MISS IT!"

AVALON VOTES FOR FOURTH

Avalon citizens at a meeting in the borough hall this week voted to hold a Fourth of July celebration this year as usual. O. P. Springer, chairman of the meeting, named various committees to have charge.

Dedication of the new borough swimming pool, now under construction, will be a feature of the afternoon program. Athletic events and varied entertainment will follow and a fireworks display will be held at night. Borough firemen and members of council and the school board will participate, along with Burgess Grant Ritchie in the pool dedication, according to present plans.

Municipal Building Planned in Ambridge

AMBRIDGE, Pa., June 4.—Council has directed a committee to purchase a half square, bounded by Merchant and Eleventh streets and Melrose avenue, on which it is proposed to erect a new municipal building. The site will be landscaped and used for a public park until council decides to erect the building.

Franklin Guards Stage Sham Battle

FRANKLIN, Pa., June 4.—Finding the weather too warm for drill indoors, Franklin National Guardsmen laid siege to the city's park in a sham battle maneuver made more realistic by a deep trench being dug for the city's new sewer system.

The company L regulars routed the "Yanigan" guards at first charge.

Golden Anniversary Of Priest Observed

WHEELING, W. Va., June 4.—Churchmen from all parts of the United States attended golden jubilee services at St. Michael's Catholic Church, commemorating the fiftieth anniversary in the priesthood of the Rev. Thomas J. Larkin. Father Larkin sails June 17 on a three months' tour of Europe.

FATHER CHASES GIRL IN CAR

Benjamin Schwartz, hauling contractor, 6469 Monitor street, in Morals Court today testified he had pursued an automobile in which his 15-year-old daughter and two youths were riding for half an hour before overtaking them, last night.

Schwartz said he pretended to leave home on a business errand, then hid outside. Shortly before midnight an automobile horn tooted. His daughter Ruth left the house and entered the waiting machine.

Leaping into his own car, Schwartz said, he gave chase. After a race through Squirrel Hill streets, he finally caught up with them at the Glenwood Bridge and had them arrested.

His wife is ill in a hospital, Schwartz testified, and he is unable to manage his daughter. She was turned over to Juvenile Court by Magistrate T. D. Jones.

The youths, John P. Evans, 21, of 341 East Eighth avenue, Homestead, and James E. Orris, 22, of 234 East Fourteenth street, Homestead, were fined $10 each with the alternative of 10 days in jail.

PITTSBURGHERS GO TO EUROPE

NEW YORK, June 4.— Mrs. Frank Fay and Miss Florence Fay of Pittsburgh sailed for Europe early today on the Berengaria, and will spend most of the summer abroad. They plan a motor tour through England and France.

Other seagoers from Pittsburgh included the Rev. John Spatarin, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Graham, Leo Graham, John Broton, Mrs. C. E. Wilbar and Mr. and Mrs. L. Lascalla and family.

The passenger list also included the United States Davis Cup team, consisting of George Lott, John Van Ryn, Wilmer Allison and John Doeg; Edmund Du Pont, Prince Ivan Obolensky, Col. L. H. R. Pope-Hennessy, British military attache at Washington, and Princess Kara Georgevitch.

RUNDOWN SYSTEM IS TRANSFORMED BY NEW KONJOLA

Pittsburgh Lady Finds Quick Relief From Nervousness and Kidney Trouble Through Modern Medicine.

If you are not feeling 100 per cent—if you suffer from troubles of the stomach, liver, kidneys or bowels; rheumatism, neuritis, or nervousness—help yourself to the knowledge of hundreds of Pittsburgh citizens who know from their own personal experience what a marvelous medicine Konjola is.

MRS. MATILDA GRIMM

Call upon the Konjola Man at the Dow Drug Store, Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh. Get the facts, true and verified, about this super-compound of 32 ingredients—22 of them the juices of roots and herbs of known medicinal value. Among the many local Konjola enthusiasts is Mrs. Matilda Grimm, 1245 Kelly Street, Homestead Station, Pittsburgh. Konjola battles the very causes of the ills it is designed to relieve . . works quickly and thoroughly, and makes good time after time after all else tried has been found wanting. What, indeed, could be wiser than to follow in the footsteps of those, who, to their everlasting joy, put Konjola to the test? Consider, then, the words of Mrs. Grimm, who recently said to the Konjola Man:

"I am feeling so much better in every way, as the result of my experience with Konjola, that I can not help praising this wonderful medicine to others. For the past year or so I have been in a weakened, rundown condition. My nerves were in a dreadful shape. The least disturbance or annoyance would startle me terribly. I was weak and had no ambition to do my work, but just had to force myself about. My kidneys were also out of order. I had a terrible soreness and stiffness in my back and over my kidneys. It was difficult for me to stoop over. I was getting up several times during the night, and in the morning I would feel as tired as when I went to bed.

"I tried many medicines but none reached my trouble. Then Konjola was recommended by a friend, and I made up my mind to try it. How surprised I was at the great relief I received. In just a few weeks' time my kidney trouble was banished. I can sleep fine and get up in the mornings feeling refreshed. The pains and stiffness in my back are gone, and I can stoop over without the slightest discomfort. My nervous system has been wonderfully improved and I feel better and stronger in every way. Konjola certainly proved its merit in my case."

This is just one of the countless thousands of stirring indorsements that fill the files of Konjola almost to overflowing!

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Store, Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where he is meeting the public daily, explaining the merits of this new and different medicine.

CITY-P. R. R. TRAFFIC PLAN OPPOSED

Wife Killed by Fumigating Gas

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

William Pfarr,
On Vacation.
Dear Bill:

You and I know policemen. In the right way, of course. We've seen them at fires, like Phil Kelly, called "Bullet-Proof Phil," who had the kind of courage that made Page 1 three times in one week, although he's severely modest.

You may remember he saved a family from burning to death, the next morning with his night club fought off 12 gangsters who attacked him, and less than six days later fought a duel with a bandit in which he got a couple of lead slugs in him. I like to remember him. He never called for help. Just his way.

Of course he's one of a great number, because courage differs. Here's another kind.

A policeman died the other day, leaving his widow and a family of four children. He had been on a special detail, working inside. Two fellow policemen were on the same detail. Each worked eight hours a day. It might mean something if you knew that one of his fellow officers had a family of nine; the other five or six.

"Jim," who is dead now, slipped, one day three years ago, landed on his spine and became crippled. He appeared for work, but couldn't keep on. He faced the alternative of going on the sick list with much reduced pay. He worked a week, but it was impossible. He had to quit.

Bill and Mike knew he couldn't keep his family of four kids and a wife on the pension. They went into a huddle. They came out of it smiling. They told "Jim" to keep his mouth to himself and go home. They probably swore at him a lot, and were abusive about it. That's the way they are, in their chatter.

It never reached "The Hill" (as police call the City-County Building, where the bosses are) that Mike and Bill worked 12 hours a day for nearly three years, while Jim's wife got his pay regularly. They took the full pay envelope to him for three years.

Then "Jim" died. His family will be taken care of in the natural way, societies, insurance and such. Mike and Bill are back on eight hours. Strangely the people last fall voted an increase in wages to the police of the city. Bill and Mike both get a chunk.

Boy, that's what I call courage. But when they find out, Will Quinn and I will need lots of a different kind, because it's been a secret—until now.

Bob Weis, one of the oldest members of the Structural Iron Workers' Union, who has probably put up more steel on bridges and high buildings than any other erector around town, says when discussing airplanes:

"No, sir, none of those for me. I like to keep one foot on the ground."

Did you ever notice that gas lights are still in use on city streets and roads in some of the poorer districts—but also on Woodland road, the town's Peacock Alley?

So Long,
ED PRENDERGAST.

P. S.—Haven't got that check yet, but will send it to you soon as it comes.

Will Rogers Says:

BEVERLY HILLS, June 4.

Say, these miniature golf courses have sure been a life saver for the towns with plenty of prominent vacant lots; in the past if you had a vacant lot you had been stuck with during Republican prosperity, why all you could do with it would be to build a drug store, or filling station, but now you can get something permanent.

They try to make all kinds of odd hazards to shoot the ball by.

Why don't they just leave the weeds and trash on as it was. You couldn't get better "bunkers" than they had.

They are even buying costumes now to play this "demitasse" golf. Yours,
WILL.

LETHAL FUMES SEEP THROUGH PARTITION

Victim Stricken While Alone In Bloomfield Home as She Reads Magazine in Room

Fumigation of a dwelling was blamed today for the death of Mrs. Evelyn Lipke, 22, of 314 Edmond street, Bloomfield, whose body was found on the floor of a bedroom in her home.

While reading a magazine she was asphyxiated by cyanide fumes of the same type employed two days ago to execute a murderer in Nevada State prison.

The body was discovered by her husband, Richard Lipke, when he returned from work. Finding the house locked and believing his wife at a store, Lipke waited 30 minutes before he broke into the house and made the discovery. Mrs. Lipke was taken to West Penn Hospital and pronounced dead. An autopsy at the county morgue disclosed cyanogen poisoning as the cause.

The Lipke home is on the first floor of a double frame dwelling. Yesterday morning the first floor of the adjoining half at 316 Edmond street was fumigated. Gas used in the fumigation is believed to have seeped through the partition into the Lipke home.

The fumigating gas which killed Mrs. Lipke is generated by chemical reaction much in the same manner as that which the Carson City Prison authorities used in the execution of their prisoner, R. P. (Bob) White, Elko gambler.

In each case the deadly poison was a cyanide gas, the product of the reaction of acid and a cyanide compound.

MEET JUNE 18 ON STEEL RATE

Donald O. Moore, manager of the traffic division of the Chamber of Commerce, yesterday received word from the Pennsylvania Public Service Commission that the hearing on complaints of Pittsburgh industrial concerns against the increased rate scale on short haul manufactured iron and steel articles, which became effective May 20, will be held in the City-County Building June 18.

The increased short haul rates threatens Pittsburgh's prestige as an industrial center, and the discontinuance of the rail routes as proposed by the national commission, likewise will turn business away from this community, according to Moore.

The short haul rates, evidence already compiled shows, will add nearly $2,000,000 to the freight bills of Pittsburgh industries, and if there is no relief many industries will be forced to move out of the district.

Man Held in Butler Uniform Mixup

The ambition of John Hooper, Negro, of 76 Sylvania avenue, is to be a butler. So when Luke Wylie, 38, Negro, of 89 Roberts street, offered to get him a job if he would pay $21 for a uniform, Hooper passed over the money, he told Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Central Police Station today. He said Wylie kept the money. Rothenberg held Wylie for further investigation.

Grand Jury Approves Saw Mill Run Bridge

The Grand Judy this morning approved construction of a bridge over Saw Mill Run in Baldwin Township to cost $58,000. The bridge will replace a smaller one at McNelly road. The approval was given on request of the County Commissioners.

Gas Victim

RICHARD LIPKE

Mr. Lipke, who found his wife dead in their Bloomfield home from cyanogen poisoning, the effect of the same gas as that used for Nevada executions.

WOMAN ADMITS FOUR FRAUDS

Mrs. Virginia Kline, 34, of 311 Jackson street, North Side, whose boast was that "bank tellers are so gullible," pleaded guilty to four charges of obtaining money under false pretense, last night before Alderman Ray Schneider. She was held for court.

Mrs. Kline

How Mrs. Kline won their confidence by her purported knowledge of their families was described at the hearing by Teller J. H. Proudley, of the Second National Bank of Allegheny, and Edith L. Thomas, teller of the Citizens Trust Company of Bellevue. Dr. Ferdinand Link and Leo Egan, both of the North Side, testified the woman had given them bad checks.

Laurel Gardens Forms Aid Circle

A Ladies' Aid Society has been formed at the Laurel Gardens Lutheran Mission Church, Ross Township, with election of these officers: President, Mrs. Daniel Pell; vice president, Mrs. D. L. Brown; secretary, Mrs. Roy Eldridge; treasurer, Mrs. Edward Schaeffer. The society will hold a strawberry festival on the church lawn, June 11.

Liquor Seized, Two Held In Roadhouse Raid

Two men were in the custody of prohibition agents today following a raid on the Babbling Brook Gardens, a roadhouse on the Camp Horn road, Kilbuck Township, last night.

The seizure of 18 pints of whisky and two bottles of gin, agents said, resulted in the arrest of Gustave Bergez and Mike J. Rittmeyer. Both were lodged in the Central Police Station in default of bond.

Looking into the open cellar window of a dwelling at 7421½ Susquehanna street, the dry raiders, their report stated, observed a 75-gallon still in operation. They entered by way of the window and confiscated it. The upper floors of the building were not searched.

GIRL UNAFRAID

Ardeth Tells Mary That She Still Loves Ken

CHAPTER XLVIII.

Ardeth groped her way back through the dark shop to the rear room. She snapped off the rose night lamp and dropped to the couch, to fall in an exhausted sleep and wake many hours later to see daylight struggling through the alley window.

Her body was cramped and weary, her mind was desolate. She rose, took off her crumpled clothes and changed to fresh things.

That glimpse of Ken had vanquished all her hard-won serenity. The little shop was no longer a refuge, it was a prison. The desperate need of seeing Ken was with her again. She was frantic to hear his voice. Many times that day she went to the 'phone, to stand hesitant, her hand on the receiver, his office 'phone number on her lips. Just to hear his voice . . .

Prudence conquered, but her thoughts went on in a defiant undertone. They were fools to go on like this . . . cheating themselves of the happiness which should be their own by rights. The most precious years of life slipping away . . . After all who would be hurt if she and Kent went to another city—and started all over?

Surely in all this country there was a refuge for them, she thought wistfully. A small hiding place where she could give him the home and comfort Cecile had denied him . . .

She went out to Mary Eastwood's home a week later and Mary's sharp eyes immediately read the trouble in her face.

Ardeth Scolded

Mary Suggests Visit to Mountain Cabin

"You're simply making a slave out of yourself for that shop, Ardeth!" she scolded. "You're getting thin and white. I've noticed it for some time. I have an idea. Let's run up to Tom's mountain cabin for a couple of weeks in the snow. He'd be delighted to let us have it, and it's just what you need. Outdoor exercise in that snappy air. Fred will crab, of course—he's lost if I'm out of his sight, but he'll let me go. Anyhow, he'll appreciate me if I'm not underfoot all the time."

She elaborated, as the plan grew upon her, her black eyes snapping with excitement. "I'll take a maid so we'll have nothing to do but play and loaf. The Chickadee will love it!" The Chickadee being Mary's 4-year-old daughter, at this moment holding up her newest doll for Ardeth's inspection.

To go up to the cabin where she had been so happy . . . where she and Ken had nearly snatched their happiness before it could be dashed from them.

Mary saw the refusal on her lips and she spoke vigorously to combat it. "Now, don't be stubborn, Ardeth! The shop will exist without you for a couple of weeks. It would have to, you know, if you were suddenly taken ill—and you look half ill now."

Discuss Marriage

Asked Why She Doesn't Take Tom

"No can do, Mary, love! Being what the woman's magazines call a sheltered married woman of course I don't expect you to get the poor working girl point of view, but the busy holiday season is coming on and I'm needed." She answered the Chickadee's insistence. "Yes, angel, a most beautiful baby! Almost as big as you are, isn't she? Show me how she goes to sleep."

"Don't try to hide behind that child!" said Mary sternly. "I'll find someone to substitute for you in the shop. I'll pay her salary—call it my Christmas present to you, if you will be so up-stage."

"No one else can manage your own business so well as yourself, Mary. Ask Fred if you don't believe me. And I'm anxious to clear off my loan to Tom with the holiday profits."

"Your loan to Tom — rats! As if Tom cared about that dab of money." Mary's eyes searched the sweet averted face opposite and she asked abruptly, "Ardeth, why don't you marry Tom? You care a lot for him."

"Enough for marriage, Mary?"

"Yes!" said Mary stoutly. "Take two people with good dispositions and good digestions—and you and Tom have both; take the comforts Tom's money can give you and you'll have a happy marriage."

"What about love, Mary?"

"Now you're thinking of Ken! Oh, darling child, I don't mean to pry or intrude, but is it necessary that you ruin your life? Tom is a sweet old dear, and he loves you so."

"Would it be fair to him, Mary?"

Mary considered this with a thoughtful face. "Yes, I think if you put that question up to him he'd say just that. He wants you on any terms, Ardeth."

"Mary, you know all the circumstances. Do you think it would be right—loving Ken the way I do—to marry Tom?"

There was a sadness in the hazel eyes which hurt the older woman. "Ah, my dear . . ." she said softly, "Still the same?"

"I'm old fashioned, Mary. A one man woman, I guess."

"But Cecile will never give up anything of her own. Oh, I know, she's a beast—selfish and ruthless. But one doesn't get a divorce on those grounds, Ardeth. And it isn't in Ken's nature to black her eyes or leave her . . . I wish it were!"

"And it isn't in my nature to stop loving him," a shake in the soft voice. "Nor to marry without a deep, overwhelming love."

It was a full minute before Mary said, almost humbly:

"Marriage can be very sweet without this overwhelming love you speak of, Ardeth. Kindness and loyalty and a warm, steady affection—they are a lot."

"Enough, Mary!"

Mary's deep eyes went about the bright, comfortable room. Lingered on the Chickadee's brown head. "A good husband, and a child to make a home for—yes, Ardeth, enough."

The Spy

Gets Copy of Objectionable Publication

The memory of Ken's wretched white face rose before the girl. She shook her head, her throat hot with unshed tears.

"No, Mary . . . not for me."

No, not enough. Nothing was enough save Ken.

"I have what a psychologist would call a fixation," she thought wistfully, "and what my mother would call love . . ."

INDICT ELEVEN IN BOAT RAID

Eleven persons arrested in a raid by county detectives on the houseboat Manitou, May 5, were indicted by the grand jury yesterday. Three were girls, charged with having been dancing in the nude at the time of the raid.

Those indicted were Louis Jacobs, Frank Jackson and Joseph M. Barone, charged with keeping a gambling house, obscenity and conducting an immoral show; D. A. Wockoff, James Rodgers, Harold Mansfield, alias Jack Hadley; W. E. Young, W. H. Linenweber, as visitors, and Louella Jenkins, Betty Wilson and Anna Skipper, on charges of obscenity.

3, Wants His "Troubles" Back

'SONNY' WANTS TROUBLES BACK

"If you had had Troubles, you'd want him back, too."

And Allen "Sonny" Lombardo, 3, who said that, thinks of Troubles in the form of a little dark brindle bull, 9 months old, which disappeared the other day from the Lombardo home, at 930 North avenue, west.

For three months Sonny and his pup played together. They roamed through the parks on the North Side, played in front and in the yard and in their apartment.

"We were pals," Sonny admitted, with finality.

Sonny's phone number is Cedar 8477—if you see Troubles.

FUTURE NEED NOT MET, CLAIM

Planning Commission Will State Its Objections in Report to City Council

Two major objections to the proposed traffic agreement between the city and the Pennsylvania Railroad Company are expressed in a report from the Department of City Planning that will be presented to Council.

The agreement being considered by Council embodies the so-called "T" plan to regulate traffic at the proposed railroad terminal to be erected in the vicinity of Eleventh street and Liberty avenue. This plan provides no change in grades, and has met general opposition as being inadequate for future traffic needs.

OBJECTIONS CITED

The chief objections cited by the Department of City Planning are lack of adequate intersection facilities at Penn avenue, Eleventh street, Liberty avenue and Grant street, and lack of provision for casements on railroad property for the proposed Liberty avenue viaduct and bridge designed to extend the thoroughfare from the Liberty tubes to the North Side.

The report, signed by L. W. Monteverde, chairman, makes this comment on the first objection:

"The commission does not believe the agreement provides for an adequate intersection at Penn avenue, Eleventh street, Liberty avenue and Grant street satisfactorily to take care of traffic. The traffic lanes change direction to abrupt, short turns at Liberty avenue and at Penn avenue, making in effect an 'S' curve. The layout provided by the agrement makes it impossible to revamp this intersection so as to ease the traffic flow, should increased traffic demand such treatment, without the reconstruction of the entire intersection, including the rebuilding of the viaduct supporting the railroad company's tracks."

COMPROMISE HINTED

Council already has indicated its approval of the "T" plan. No definite action has been taken, however, and there are reports that some compromises may be expected.

President of Council John S. Herron said yesterday he looked for some definite action before June 15.

Reports from the law department and the Department of Public Works are being prepared for Council. The ordinance is on the committee list for this week but was not reached yesterday.

FIREMEN PLAN MEMORIAL

The sixteenth annual convention of the Allegheny County Firemen's Association will open with memorial services for dead members in Brentwood Park next Sunday. More than 1,000 firemen are expected to attend.

President Ray McPherson, of Sewickley, will be master of ceremonies. Harry J. Thomas, of Bellevue, and W. H. Sharah, secretary of the Western Pennsylvania Firemen's Association, will speak.

Fire Chief Richard L. Smith, of Pittsburgh, will be one of the judges of the parade Saturday afternoon, June 14, when 85 companies, with 100 pieces of apparatus and 40 bands, will parade through Brentwood. More than 3,000 are expected to be in line.

City Sleuths Get Extra Half Hour Duty Daily

City detectives reported for duty half an hour earlier today as a result of an order issued by Police Superintendent Peter P. Walsh.

Heretofore, the sleuths reported for duty at 9:30 a. m. The order also requires their reporting by telephone to the sergeant every hour until 11 o'clock at night. The phone calls are at the detectives' own expense. Forty plainclothesmen also were affected by the order.

The 85 officers have been divided into two groups, alternating their calls on the hour and the half-hour. Detective Sergt. John P. McCullough, handling the calls alone, must take a report where each call is made.

PAROLED, HELD FOR MURDER

Clarence Cole, Cincinnati, O., youth, placed on probation here March 29 for violation of the national motor theft act, is being held in the Hamilton County jail at Cincinnati on a murder charge, Federal Probation Officer George G. O'Brien learned yesterday.

No other details were given O'Brien by the Ohio authorities, he said.

Samuel Walker, of New Bethlehem, under parole for violation of the Harrison narcotic act, was to be returned here late today for sentence in Federal Court as an aftermath to his escape from the New Bethlehem jail Saturday night following arrest on a disorderly conduct charge. He was rearrested Sunday and ordered brought here to face sentence.

Cole, with four male companions and a Cincinnati girl, Patricia Lusk, were arrested at New Castle, en route to New York. All were in a stolen car.

Pleas of guilty brought leniency.

FIRE IN RANKIN UNDER INQUIRY

Police today were investigating the cause of a fire which damaged two buildings in 304-308 Second avenue, Rankin, yesterday, in which a fireman was overcome by smoke and two women were injured. The blaze was fought by the Braddock, Whitaker, and Rankin fire departments.

The fire was discovered in the confectionery of Mrs. Mary McCoy, the flames spreading to the jewelry store of Isaac Klein, occupying space in the same room, and to a residence next door.

James Bolnar, of the Rankin department, was overcome and sent home after having been given first aid treatment.

Anna McIzer, 21, and Thelma Compton, 28, Negroes, were taken to the Braddock General Hospital suffering from injuries sustained when compelled to jump to safety after being trapped in the second floor of the building containing the stores.

The damage was estimated at $15,000 by Rankin police.

Elizabeth C. DeLuke, Valencia, wants a divorce from James V. DeLuke, East Pittsburgh, on the grounds of desertion. They were married in July, 1925, and separated in September, 1927.

CLAIMS GOVERN STREET PLANS

Bennett street, Homewood, will be widened if abutting property owners do not put in heavy claims for damages, Council decided yesterday.

The Department of Public Works, was ordered to hold up contracts until Council receives reports from the Law Department on claims. The body approved the widening of Whitfield street, from Penn avenue to Harvard street, and for the grading and paving of Esen street to provide an approach to the new bridge at that point.

Ordinances for numerous street improvement, presented Monday, were affirmed in committee yesterday.

2 POLICE FACE POLL ROW QUIZ

Twelve witnesses were to testify against Patrolmen William Kessler and Daniel Owens, of the Penn Avenue Station, scheduled to be arrainged before the police trial board today on charges of raiding the O'Hara School, Smallman street, and arresting the janitor during a disturbance primary day.

Charges were preferred by J. Rodgers McCreery, solicitor of the Board of Public Education, after hearing that Bernard Duffy, the janitor had been arrested as a suspicious person, held incommunicado for a time and then released without a hearing. During his absence, it was said, the school was left unguarded.

BAD AIRPORT CONDITIONS CITED

Three Women Pilots on Trip Honored by Officials; Ideal Weather Conditions Found

By AL GOUGH,
Aviation Editor.

LANCASTER, Pa., June 4.—The Pennsylvania Good Will Air Tour will not visit Harrisburg.

This was decided by the 25 pilots themselves today after they heard the report of United States Department of Commerce Inspector Harry Bissell, who flew to the state capital yesterday and looked the field over from the air. Bissell declared:

"The Harrisburg municipal port is not adequately equipped for a landing unless the wind is in just one direction."

Pilots assembled this morning at the Philadelphia port ready for their first hop to Conshohocken, first stop on today's itinerary. The tour leaves Conshohocken shortly after noon, arriving here at 2 o'clock for a two-day layover with the Harrisburg visit cut out.

WEATHER FAVORABLE

Today provided ideal flying weather for the start of the trip westward, back to Pittsburgh where the tour began last Friday from Rodgers Field. The air travelers are scheduled to arrive at Bettis Airport Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Three women pilots accompanying the tour, Mrs. Louise Thaden and Helen Richey, of Pittsburgh, and Louise Vamos, of Cleveland, have been the center of attraction a every stop. Townsmen, dignitaries and officials are on hand at every landing to pay their respects to the three comely young women, and representatives of women's clubs and social organizations vie with one another to entertain them.

Mrs. Thaden is flying a Pittsburgh Aviation Industries Corporation fleet training ship; Miss Richey is at the controls of a Curtiss Robin, leading the Curtiss flying service trio from Bettis Airport, and Miss Vamos invariably accompanies Harry Snowdon, vice president of the Airport Development and Construction Company, in a speedy Stearman open biplane.

TRIP UNEVENTFUL

The trip over from Philadelphia this morning was uneventful, the air tourists dropping down on Patco Field at Conshohocken for lunch and taking off a short time later for an impromptu aerial circus over Lancaster this afternoon.

Two more prominent aviation figures joined the tour at Philadelphia yesterday for the hop westward. One of them, E. S. (Dusty) Rhoads, a former Pittsburgher, who distinguished himself in the U. S. Navy NC-4, is flying the Wright aeronautical Stinson cabin plane, and the other H. C. Haverson, an official of the N. A. A., is a passenger.

No compensation has been received for his injury, Flynn says. The family is living on $10 weekly it receives because of the deaths of two sons in mine disasters.

They are going to live in a three-room house at 1223 Third avenue, New Kensington, for a time, the place having been donated by a New Kensington real estate dealer.

One of the children is recovering from measles, and the quarantine sign should not be removed from the house in which the family is living for another week.

TAXI MEN VOTE FOR LABOR LINK

Three hundred night-turn drivers of the Green and Yellow Cab companies met yesterday in St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church Hall, Liberty avenue, and decided to affiliate with the American Federation of Labor through the International Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stable Men and Helpers of America organization.

The day drivers will vote tomorrow night.

Following the gathering yesterday, Business Agent Fred Shaffer announced that the drivers decided to sign a charter with the International Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stable Men and Helpers of America, Thursday.

A meeting of the union cab drivers has been set for Moose Temple Friday, when officers of the union will be installed.

Girl Unafraid

She knew that he was keeping away for her sake. That night of pain when he had come to her for comfort had sunk out of sight, like a heavy stone cast in a deep lake. Not even a ripple left to tell that it had ever been.

So she thought, ignorant of the wide circle the stone had caused. Nor did she understand, until one day shortly before Christmas when a copy of The Spy was delivered to her desk with the rest of the mail.

Ardeth frowned at the vivid green cover. Not since Jeanette had left had the scandalous weekly come into the shop.

She was at a loss now to account for its presence and she was about to drop it, unread, in the waste basket when a sudden thought sent the color pulsing to her cheeks.

ACCORD REACHED IN PLANS FOR NEW POSTOFFICE HERE

The Camera Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

Today's question: Do June brides of 1930 have just the same or better opportunity for full and happy lives as have had brides of any other time of the world's history?

THE REV. ALBERT E. DAY, Christ M. E. Church: I believe the brides of 1930 have a better opportunity for happy lives because of wider information concerning the facts of love and life and greater independence in women which makes for greater mutual understanding and respect of man and woman.

Dr. Day

MISS BETTY SEIBERT, socially prominent June bride-to-be: It is my opinion that the June bride of 1930 has as good, if not better opportunity to a full and happy life than did the brides of past years. Our modern bride is not quite so foolish about life as were some brides of the past. They have better educations, too.

Miss Seibert

C. W. KOSINSKI, clerk, Marriage License Office: The time, and the place have nothing to do with the success of married life. Success of married life chiefly depends on the wisdom of choice. A bride and groom should both pick wisely and be honest with themselves, applying plenty of common sense.

C. W. Kosinski

EVE MALAMUD, saleswoman of home furnishings: The June bride of 1930 has the better opportunity. The bride and her husband can furnish a home more beautifully and cheaper now than at any other time in the past. This, you must admit, makes marriage easier and tends to make the blushing bride happy.

Miss Malamud

ALPHONSE D. HENCIAK, applicant for marriage license: Sure the bride of 1930 has the best chance for happiness. Living expenses are not so high and she should have more money to spend for herself. Give married life a chance and it will provide happiness, providing the bride and groom understand each other.

A. D. Henciak

GRACE CONNELY, June bride-to-be: Everybody knows that brides are happy no matter when they happen to marry, but, to me, the June bride of 1930 has the best chance. Wages are good, things move fast and there are more entertainment features than ever before. I'm glad I'm to be a June bride in 1930.

OFFICE WIVES DESCRIBED IN SERIAL

Writer Holds Not All Secretaries Are Sirens; Story Begins Tomorrow

Does a secretary sometimes deliberately plan to make herself emotionally as indispensable to her boss as she is in a business way?

Faith Baldwin, celebrated author of her widely discussed novel, "The Office Wife," believes that many secretaries aim via an emotional entanglement with their employers.

She says:

"Secretaries are not sirens, trying to wreck happy homes, but maybe women feel that their job is the only means of bread and butter they hold, and every means of strengthening the hold they have on their job is fair."

Miss Baldwin believes there is a great distinction between the vampire who tries to steal another woman's husband and the secretary who allows her employer to make love to her only for her job's sake and with no thought of ultimately winning him from his wife.

"The Office Wife" will appear ing novel dealing with this great problem which has entered thousands of American homes and offices. Because of its revealing truth and the vitality behind the flashing personalities and gripping situation, "The Office Wife" will be read by young and old alike with a zest far surpassing any recent fiction.

"The Office Wife" will appear in serial form in the Sun-Telegraph beginning tomorrow. Don't miss this fascinating drama of modern life!

JUNE MARRIAGE RUSH OPENS

It's on again—that rush of prospective June brides and grooms to the marriage license office in the City-County Building.

This June's rush began Saturday, when 83 couples received licenses. After the licenses were properly recorded in the books, the clerks became curious and compared that day's business with Saturdays in the past. The comparison showed more licenses had been issued Saturday than any Saturday since April 14, 1917. Eighty-six licenses were issued on that date.

C. W. Kosinski, a clerk in the office for several years, claims the comparison is unfair, saying that immediately after the United States entered the World War a rumor broke loose that the marriage license office would close down during the war. This, he avers, brought the 86 applicants in on the run.

GAS EMPLOYES IN AID MEET

Thirteen teams of six men each took part in the annual first aid elimination contest of the Equitable Gas Company, in the Duquesne Building, Duquesne way, last night. A feature of the contest was the awarding of medals to three employes of the company credited with resuscitating persons overcome by gas.

They were Eugene S. Farrell and Joseph A. Koerner, awarded the McCarter medal, and William P. Kenna, the National Safety Council's president's medal.

Farrell saved the life of Carl Winkler, November 22, after he was overcome by gas from a stove in his home at 3907 Howley avenue. Koerner resuscitated his wife when she was overcome by gas in their home, 5428 Ellsworth avenue, January 21. McKenna saved the life of Adolph A. Goerlich, of 1494 Park boulevard, Dormont, November 15.

Prior to the contest F. F. Schauer, vice president of the company, received the Rice Safety Award from the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council. The company won the award for the best record among all industrial concerns in Western Pennsylvania.

City Orders Inquiry Into Auto Damage

City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt yesterday was ordered to investigate a claim for $82.85 damages presented by Joseph W. Urben. The latter said his automobile was commandeered by police to move the body of Patrolman Charles Davis, who shot himself May 22. The upholstery was so damaged by bloodstains that it must be renewed, Urben said.

PROPOSE RAMP AS TRAFFIC SOLUTION

Government Submits Only One Change in Plans; Agree to Hasten Project

Government officials and members of Pittsburgh committees appointed to advise changes in the proposed Pittsburgh postoffice building are now in perfect accord, according to a formal statement issued today by Arthur E. Braun, chairman of the Chamber of Commercial special committee on federal buildings.

The only concession made by the government officials was to promise co-operation to acquire a 30-foot strip of land from the Pennsylvania railroad and construct a ramp for mail trucks passing to and from the building.

TO USE ELEVATORS

The railroad tracks remain on the first floor and the postoffice will be on the second floor. The public will enter the postoffice proper by elevators from Grant street and a series of steps from Seventh avenue.

E. W. Satterwhite, representing the railway mail service, and E. R. Witman, of the supervising architect's office, and their associates, returned yesterday to Washington with the definite promise to the people of Pittsburgh that everything possible to hasten the construction of the building would be done.

Little change will be made in the plans as drawn, and the situation stands practically as explained in the Sun-Telegraph Monday while the conference at the Chamber of Commerce was in progress.

In his statement, Chairman Braun declares:

BRAUN'S STATEMENT

"It is gratifying to state that before the government officials returned to Washington they had worked out with your local committee a plan by which, first, the work on constructing the new building would be proceeded with at the earliest possible moment, and second, that a satisfactory and workable plan has been suggested for ultimately obviating the traffic difficulty which at first threatened to bring about serious congestion on the one hand and to impair somewhat the usefulness of the building itself."

Pittsburgh traffic men had contended that the provision for handling trucks with all possible speed and in a manner to avoid the normal traffic load at Seventh avenue and Grant street would be required as soon as the postoffice is opened.

Investigate Death Of Man in Ambridge

Beaver County authorities today were investigating the death of Joseph Candilors, 45, of 498 Melrose avenue, Ambridge, who was found dead in front of 815 Melrose avenue early this morning. His body, found in a sitting posture near a telephone pole, bore no marks of violence, and police said an autopsy would be necessary to determine the cause of death.

Candilors opened a restaurant in Conway three days ago, police were told.

JUSTICE OWEN J. ROBERTS

Justice Roberts, Philadelphia, in his U. S. Supreme Court robes after he took the oath of office.

BAR TO HONOR OWEN ROBERTS

The annual banquet of the Pennsylvania Bar Association will be held June 27, at Bedford Springs. For the first time in history of the association, honor will be paid to a supreme court justice from Pennsylvania, Justice Owen J. Roberts of the United States Supreme Court and a member of the Philadelphia bar, will be honor guest. He was appointed to the Supreme Court last month by President Hoover.

The annual meeting of the bar association will be held June 25, 26, and 27. During the three days there will be held the fourth judicial conference of the members of the state judiciary on various subjects referred to its committee at the last meeting in Philadelphia.

The attorneys will discuss proposed new bills to amend the laws relating to the selection of jurors in Allegheny and Philadelphia counties. Judge Frank P. Patterson, of the Allegheny County bench is chairman of the jury committee.

THREE BRIDGES APPROVED

Approval of the construction of a new bridge across the Monongahela river from the Armstrong tunnel to South Tenth street, has been made by the June grand jury. Judge Harry H. Rowand, Quarter Sessions Court, added his approval, which becomes final unless objections are filed within five days.

The bridge, which is to cost $1,295,000, is provided for in the $21,000,000 bond issue of 1928. By agreement between the city and county the city is to pay all property damages. The County Commissioners submitted the matter for approval.

The grand jury and Judge Rowand also approved construction of a $900,000 bridge across the Youghiogheny river between the village of Boston and the borough of Versailles, to replace a smaller bridge.

A bridge across Flaugherty's run, Moon Township, from the Flaugherty's run road to the Stoops Ferry and Shousetown road, to replace a smaller bridge, was also approved. It is to cost $57,000.

Services to Open Brookline Chapel

The new Our Lady of the Angels Chapel at the Toner Institute, Castlegate avenue, Brookline, will be opened to the public tomorrow. The building is of Gothic architecture and experts stated that it is architecturally and liturgically correct. The Rev. Sigmund Crats, O. M. P., is director of the institute. Novena services will be held every morning and night this week, with the Rev. Oswald Greiner, O. M. Cap., preaching the sermons.

Wilkinsburg Garage Fire Damage $1,500

Damage estimated at $1,500 resulted from a blaze in the W. J. Dible garage, 919 Penn avenue, Wilkinsburg, last night. Four automobiles were damaged by the flames, which broke out on the wooden ramp on the third floor of the structure. The cause was not determined.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Sewickley Kennel Show To Be Held June 28 At Country Club

Of course the immediate interest of everyone in the social world is the annual horse show, which opens tomorrow morning in the show ring of the Allegheny Country Club, Sewickley Heights. And after the show is over there'll be June brides, June buds and the dog show to keep everyone on the qui vive socially.

As everyone knows the dog show, an annual event will be held just one day—June 28—on the Allegheny Country Club show ring. And proceeds of the event will be used in carrying on the work of the social service department of the Allegheny General Hospital. The show will open at 9 o'clock and continue until early evening. And making arrangements for the event is Mrs. William Christopher Robinson.

By the way I wonder if you know that the Sewickley Kennel Club belongs to the American Kennel Club?

Show Aides

Mrs. Robinson is in charge of the sale of tickets. And on the various committees there are many women helping her. Mrs. T. A. McGinley is in charge of candy assisted by Mrs. Sidney Liggett, Mrs. James Edward Lewis, Mrs. Gordon Fisher and Miss Eleanor Kelly.

Mrs. Robinson's sister, Mrs. Maitland Alexander, is in charge of the entries assisted by Mrs. J. Frederic Byers, Mrs. Alexander L. Robinson, Mrs. Lewis A. Park and Mrs. B. J. Jones III.

In charge of the purchasing of cups as trophies are Mrs. W. B. Trainer, Mrs. James H. Childs, Mrs. Charles Henderson and Mrs. C. P. Davis.

Directing the refreshment booth is Mrs. Robert Milligan, assisted by Mrs. H. Norton Van Voorhis, Mrs. B. F. Jones, Jr., Mrs. Henry R. Rea, Mrs. Henry Lee Mason, Mrs. A. Marshall Bell and Mrs. Frank W. Severance.

Social life these luxuriously golden days of June centers in country clubs. Teas and luncheons, dinners and bridges, golf tournaments and tennis matches all take place at these beautiful country places.

Country Luncheon

Yesterday at the Allegheny Country Club Mrs. Richmond Ball and Mrs. George Hutchinson, Jr., gave a large luncheon.

One of the buds of our "little season," and of course, of the coming winter, too, Madelaine Alexander, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Maitland Alexander, will be home shortly from Paris where she's been studying during the past year. She's on the Bremen. Her debut, I might add to refresh your memory, will be made at a tea her mother will give at Franklin Farms, Sewickley Heights, on Wednesday, June 25.

It seems that everyone is to entertain during the horse show, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The junior J. Stuart Browns will have as their guests during the horse show the Edward B. Berrys of Detroit, who arrive here tomorrow. The Browns will entertain them in their Sewickley Heights home. And during the three days the Lewis Anderson Parks of "Hillside," Sewickley Heights, will entertain a large party. Among the guests will be Alexander Bell of New York, who's a cousin of Mr. Park, Josephine Ormsby Nicola of the Schenley Apartments and her fiance, David Meade Gilmore, of Sewickley, James M. Boward, of Greensburg, Genevieve Bell and James O. Flower of Pittsburgh.

And on Saturday between sessions of the show the junior Harry Darlingtons will hold open house at their Sewickley Heights home and a luncheon will be served.

I have news from California of the coming wedding of a Sewickley girl. Ellen Keys Ramsey, daughter of Mrs. Charles Cyrus Ramsey, of Sewickley and La Jolla, Cal., has named her wedding date as June 26 when she will marry John Ward Cutler, son of Dr. and Mrs. Coleman Ward Cutler, of New York and New Haven, Conn., and the wedding will take place in La Jolla in the Church of St. James-by-the-Sea. And of course, there will be a reception afterwards. Mr. Cutler and his bride are to make their home in Armory street, New Haven.

June Bride

June 21 is the date named by a bride-to-be, Margaret Dart Stevenson, daughter of the Archibald A. Stevensons, of Ardmore, who will marry Maxwell McCreery, of New York and Pittsburgh. The ceremony will take place in the Ardmore Presbyterian Church at 4 o'clock, and there will be a reception in the Stevenson home.

Margaret has named her bridal part, too. Her cousin, Nancy Stevenson, of Yonkers, N. Y., will be her maid of honor, and her bridesmaids will be Georgiana Wood and Moira Flannery, of Philadelphia, and Martha and Elizabeth Shaffer, of Woodsfield, Ohio.

George Barrington Oates, of South Negley avenue, will be his brother-in-law's best man, and the the ushers are to be Charles Chester Baley, of Pittsburgh, Morrison Mitchell, of Sewickley, Andrew P. Monroe, of Short Hills, N. J., Charles W. Chase, of Cleveland, Robert A. Stevenson, Jr., of Yonkers, and Hugh F. Curtis, of Grinnell, Ia.

Tomorrow Ursula Reilly, daughter of the Eugene S. Reillys, of Wightman street, will become the bride of Joseph Harding Gillespie, son of Mrs. Ann M. Gillespie. Tonight James Gillespie, of Boston, Mass., brother of the bridegroom-elect, will give the rehearsal dinner in the Pittsburgh Athletic Association. Last night Mrs. D. Meredith Reid and Mr. Reid entertained at a dinner dance at the Willows.

Bridal Parties

Out-of-town guests who have arrived for the wedding tomorrow include Mrs. Ann M. Gillespie and Mr. Gillespie's aunt, Mrs. John D. Maloney, of Boston, his brothers, James and Leo Gillespie, and Dr. John Barry, of Boston, and Miss Reilly's uncle and aunt, the E. E. Frauenheims, of Buffalo and New York.

The winter is such a busy season, always crowded with social affairs, that dates for various entertainments have to be named months and months ahead of time. And I know of several December dates for various affairs. On Friday, December 26, Mrs. Clinton Lowrie Childs, of Sewickley, will give a ball in the Pittsburgh Club to present her daughter, Elizabeth Pontefract Childs. And the deb's grandmother, Mrs. James G. Pontefract, will give a party for her during the "little season," the latter part of this month, in the form of a tea. On Monday, June 23, there will be a dinner dance for Elizabeth in the Pontefract home in Sewickley.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis G. Berman, of Chicago, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Dorothy Berman, to Edgar York, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob T. York, of Washington avenue, Carnegie.

Kyle Missionary Society, Calvary Episcopal Church, Beech avenue, North Side, will be held tomorrow at an all-day session in the Calvary Community House. Among those on the program will be Miss Minnie Garrettson, Mrs. W. B. Stewart, Mrs. George VanDusen and Mrs. C. H. Howell.

L. W. Chubb Returns To Westinghouse

L. W. Chubb, assistant to the vice president of the Radio-Victor Company, of Camden, N. J., has been appointed director of the research laboratories of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company. He was previously manager of the radio engineering department of Westinghouse.

In 1907 he joined the research division and carried on a large number of scientific investigations.

Biggest Meteorite Given to Museum

CHICAGO, June 4.—(AP.)—A meteorite, believed by officials of Field Museum to be the largest single one ever to fall upon the earth, has been presented to the museum by Stanley Field. It was placed on exhibit today. The stone, known as the Paragould meteorite, weighs 820 pounds, which is 175 pounds heavier than any previously reported. It fell at Paragould, Ark., February 17, 1930, and penetrated hard clay to a depth of nine feet.

3 Pittsburghers at Urban League Meet

Three Pittsburghers are representing the Urban League of Pittsburgh at the National Urban League's Annual Conference at Buffalo. R. Templeton Smith, R. Maurice Moss and Harold A. Mrs. Taylor Allderdice Suggests Choral for Woman's City Club

The Woman's City Club is the next club group in line for a choral of its own. Mrs. Taylor Allderdice, who has again accepted the music chairmanship for the club, announced yesterday at the president's breakfast in the William Penn ballroom that she is ready to organize and take charge of a choral as soon as sufficient requests for membership are given her.

The breakfast was one of those charming "just family" affairs that the City Club management knows so well how to arrange. There were simple but effective decorations of spring flowers with pink roses, snapdragon and delphinium centering the honor table. Mrs. Edward Vose Babcock, who has been house committee chairman ever since the club was organized, was chairman of the breakfast and introduced the new president, Mrs. George Scott Baton, in whose honor the breakfast was given. Mrs. Baton in turn introduced Mrs. William Watson Smith, first president, who complimented Mrs. Babcock on the part she has played in the club's history and commented on the fact that she has several times refused the presidency. Mrs. Smith also paid a tribute to three of the earliest members of the club, Ada Van Stone Harrison, Sara Shearer and Madeline Gangswisch, who have passed on.

To each speaker was given the duty of introducing her successor in office, Mrs. Smith introducing Mrs. Allderdice, who presented Mrs. Joseph W. Marsh, with Mrs. Ambrose Nevin Diehl and Mrs. Henry Clay McEldowney, the junior past president following in order. Last of all Mrs. Baton presented her official family, who will assist her in watching over the interests of the members of the club who now lack but 49 of reaching the membership limit of 1,000.

PARIS FINDS RARE BEAUTY IN SEA GREEN AND SILVER

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, June 4. — Who can deny the charm and beauty of green and silver? Like black and white, or black and pink, the cool combination of sea green and silver has an irresistible appeal to all who see more than just casual beauty in color. It is an ideal choice for Summer evenings especially for the tall, wil lowly type of beauty of clear complexion. One can imagine the White Iseult of Hands wearing a robe of sea green with a filet of silver leaves in her dusky hair, so delicate and lovely is this color alliance. In many instances frocks of pale green are embroidered with silver or ornamented with strass, and some of the newest frocks are using silver sequins in rather heavy formation.

THE EARLIER demand for the suit is now giving place to the coat, excellent examples of which are extant in the current collections. The simple coat of black woolen, expertly tailored is very much in demand just now for wear with silver fox scarfs, this type of cor' far outnumbering the lavishly or even simply furred models. Such coats are infinitely more youthful and therefore much more attractive than the rich looking coat with its burden of heavy fur trimming, which somehow always contrives to invest its wearer with a matronly mien that is far from desirable to the average woman.

THE LOVELY evening gown depicted is from Redfern's latest collection and is a symphony of sea green net, spangled all over with silver sequins. The princess bodice is belted and reaches well down over the hips in a point at either side. Here the cleverly draped circular skirt is attached, hanging in graceful folds of uneven length. The loose, long scarf and circular cape lend interesting detail to the back of the dress.

THE SKETCH is of a coat that correctly interprets the type of coat in demand here at the moment. It is a Paquin model of black kasha, a material that manages to hold its own whatever the material innovations offered during each successive season. The curving, set-in darts of the material, a distinguishing feature of many of Paquin's newest models, lend a circular flare to the cape and skirt. The latter dips in back, reaching nearly to the edge of the dress skirt. There are no sleeves, long gloves being worn with it.

CLUB HEAD FOR PROHIBITION

DENVER, June 4.—(INS.)—War forever against the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment was declared today by Mrs. John S. Sippel, of Baltimore, Md., president of the General Federations of Women's Clubs, with a membership totaling 3,000,000 women in all parts of the world.

Mrs. Sippel said:

"The whole world is watching the United States and the Federation will make it its business to see that the prohibition law is never repealed. If we handle this program sanely and do away with the use of liquor it won't be many years before the other countries will follow suit."

A proposal to efface sex lines and merge men's and women's clubs for the common good was sounded by Mrs. John Dickenson Sherman, of Estes Park, Col., and Washington, D. C., former president of the Federation.

Mrs. Sherman's sentiment was echoed by several of the outstanding personalities of the organization.

Private Sale of Real Estate

In the Orphans' Court of Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, No. 404 May Term, 1930. In the matter of the Estate of Jessica Payne, deceased.

To all heirs, devisees, legatees, creditors and other persons interested in the said estate:

Notice is hereby given that the petition of the Potter Title & Trust Company, Executor, is filed in the office of the Clerk of said Court, praying for an order of sale of the following described real estate of the decedent, under directions to will of decedent not given to Fiduciary by name or description:

ALL that certain lot or piece of ground situate in the Eighteenth (formerly Thirty-eighth) Ward of the City of Pittsburgh, County of Allegheny and State of Pennsylvania, being and numbered Two Hundred Forty-eight (248) in Thos. S. Maple's Plan of Maplevale, as the same is recorded in the Recorder's Office of Allegheny County in Plan Book Volume 3, Pages 10 and 11, the said lot being bounded and described as follows:

BEGINNING at a point on the southerly side of Chalfont street on the line dividing Lots Nos. 247 and 248 in said plan, thence extending westwardly along Chalfont street, twenty-five (25) feet to the line of lot No. 249 in said plan; thence in a southerly direction between said dividing lines preserving the width of twenty-five (25) feet throughout, a distance of one hundred two feet, six inches (102 ft. 6 in.) to a twenty (20) foot alley.

Having erected thereon a one-story frame dwelling house, known as No. 114 Chalfont street.

At private sale to Lloyde M. Hood, for the sum of One Thousand ($1,000.00) Dollars, the proposed purchaser to pay in addition thereto, two-thirds of taxes on the property for the year 1929, all taxes for the year 1930, and the lien of the City of Pittsburgh for the improvement of Chalfont street.

The terms of sale to be cash on delivery of deed.

The Court will be asked to make a decree of sale on the 20th day of June, 1930, at 9:00 o'clock a. m., Eastern Standard time, when higher offers will be considered and exceptions and objections to the proposed sale will be heard.

CHICKIE By ELENORE MEHERIN

CHAPTER CII

Something in the sweep of Jonathan's arm about her, something the way he lifted her up, claiming so proudly, "My [illegible]!"

It struck through the room, an instant vibration as to sudden, elemental [illegible]. There came a sobbing, a movement to the table. A woman reached for Chickie's left hand and kissed it.

Even [illegible] in the [illegible]. They [illegible] lawyer [illegible] than "Don't [illegible] her here. It [illegible] This won't [illegible]

So they [illegible] the chair. The beautiful eyes were closed, a touching [illegible] the soft contour of [illegible] the young girl drooped [illegible] than didn't want to let her down—didn't want this awful room of people staring so.

The lawyer spoke to the coroner, who was now waiting for order. "Do you wish to continue with the witness?" If so I would suggest again that the investigation be confined to the facts dealing with the death of the infant and not with opinions on the subject."

The coroner answered: "I have no further questions to ask the witness." He turned to the jury. "The case [illegible] seems to have a good many peculiar angles that are not cleared. The evidence shows plenty of motive for a possible crime. But the witnesses are reluctant. It is my duty to get the matter—to get all the facts—but we can't do this if questions will not be answered. You will have to judge the matter from the evidence at hand."

A New Witness

The lawyer was again on his feet. "I beg your pardon, Mr. Coroner, the witnesses are perfectly willing to give all facts. If foul play was done, let it be proved. If you wish to [illegible] the matter of the infant's death, there is a woman present who can tell of it, a woman who knows more about this case than any other; in all probability. I refer to Mrs. Agnes Robbins, on whose farm the mother of the infant lived for five months. Mrs. Robbins was present when the child was born. She saw it within two hours of the time the mother left. I would suggest you call Mrs. Robbins to the stand."

Black eyes snapping, the hard, passionate mouth compressed, Agnes Robbins took the stand. She answered the brief perfunctory questions in an incisive, almost a threatening manner.

Abruptly the coroner concluded. Five or six sentences—not a word in favor of Chickie.

But the foreman of the jury got suddenly to his feet as though he were for the first time alive to the situation.

"Mr. Coroner, I'd like to inquire a bit if that's agreeable to you." Then he said to Mrs. Robbins: "Before this baby was born did the mother ever ask you about caring for it or did she say she wanted to board it out or get rid of it in any way at all?"

"No—she never did. But she talked about the child."

"What did she say?"

"She said she hoped it would be a son, because a girl has often to suffer so, and it's easier to be a man. She often said she hoped it would be glad for life and that it would be a happy thing."

Nurse Questioned Again

Agnes said that softly. A man raised a handkerchief and wiped his eyes. Chickie sat with her head down. She could have cried then, could have found the tears Jonathan wished her not to shed, found them now, seeing even her spirit bared, even its inmost holy anguish bared.

"Did she ever say she was sorry to have the child?"

"No—she never did. And she made all its clothes and wanted them pretty with ribbons and bits of lace. She did all that."

"After the child was born did she notice it? Did she seem to care for it?"

"Yes! She had Mrs. Faris move the basket right next to her bed, and she used to stare at it a long while. She often touched its hair, she often asked me if I thought it was pretty. She said it had such lovely hands."

"Did the mother ever ask you about smothering a child?"

Agnes Robbins glanced hastily across the room to the lawyer. She hesitated, then, vehemently: "Yes, she did! I'll tell you why. She fell asleep once with the baby at her breast. She dreamed that she rolled on it and crushed it. She was so frightened that afterward she wouldn't even close her eyes when she held it. I've dreamed that very thing myself with my own children in my arms! Every mother does! Does it mean we want to smother our children?"

"Was the child weak?"

"It was half dead when it was born. I'll tell you about it. It never cried; it wouldn't nurse. Mrs. Faris and I told each other that it wouldn't live. Emily Faris said to me, 'Oh—the poor, weak little thing. It will soon go. Even my Clemency was stronger by a thousand times.' That's what she said to me."

Chickie Freed

"You will she said that?"

"And you say to Mrs. Robbins that it hadn't long to live?"

"I was a poor little thing—she said that right along. My children were all strapping not to be compared with it. We talked about it, of course we did."

"Did the mother tell you that it was because of a dream that she was frightened about the smothering?"

"That's what she said—"

"That's all, Mrs. Faris."

A softness like a sigh of relief went over the room—a gracious thing.

The moments dragged. There was a tapping of feet, a scraping of the chairs. Some one went to the window and raised it. Still the jury was out.

A sharp exclamation: "They're coming!"

The foreman read: "It is the verdict of this jury that the infant known as Merle Clayton came to its death by natural causes. We recommend that hereafter the physician in charge report similar cases to the coroner."

There were women who cried when that judgment was given. There was one who rushed up to Jonathan and said: "God bless you—bless you sir!"

Others that would have crowded about Chickie—smiling. But he put his arms gently about her. He took her away, his own heart bursting then.

At last back in Chicago. At their own door Jonathan carried her up the steps. And in a moment Jennie's hands were clasped about her face and they drew it down and wept on it.

Chickie and "Mother—oh, mother—don't — mother—you cry so—"

Hears From Friends

Jennie only said: "Chickie, dear one, Chickie—"

Some one came from the shadow then. It was Mary. She caught Chickie in her arms. She said in her deep, mellow tones: "Chickie, oh, if I'd known, if I'd known—"

Chickie said faintly: "Yes—Oh, Mary, how I want to die—"

Mary kissed her.

And a long, long while in the blessed lapse of consciousness Chickie felt the sweet, cool lips heard echoing gently: "It will make no difference after all these years, Chickie—between us, oh no—"

Chickie felt that she was dying, and she carried this love of Mary's with her, to a darkness and a peace. She was glad to feel it close about her—

Then the light came and the sun, and there were flowers everywhere. Jennie was standing at her bed. Jennie said:

"There are letters, Chickie, dear."

It was late the second afternoon after. The letters were from Janina, swift, passionate things. She wanted to come.

Chickie said: "Oh, so many flowers, Jennie."

Who sent her flowers — who sent the beauty of the spring to her?

Jennie said: "There is a note."

The flowers were from Jake—and the note, too, was from Jake.

Household Hints

When washing valuable china or glassware, it is advisable to place a thick Turkish towel at the bottom of the basin, draping the edges over the sides. This lessens the risk of chipping.

A quick and effective way to clean small woolen articles or garments is to put them in a colander which has been placed inside another vessel containing a warm soapy lather. Knead the material firmly against the sides of the colander, then rinse. Remove as much of the moisture as possible by pressing the material against the sides, then spread carefully on a flat surface, taking care not to stretch. Turn frequently while drying.

Sincere Friendships Between Women Unusual, Fay King Reports

By FAY KING

A CERTAIN fascinating siren does not hesitate to speak up and say that she cares little for women friends.

It is not her statement so much as her frankness that startles other women. For, if the truth be told, most women, sirens or not, prefer men friends.

There is a natural sympathy between men and women that is never quite the same between women.

It may be because of centuries of rivalry, but, whatever it is, it still exists.

Even in happily married circles, the friendships between wives are more based upon the friendships between the husbands than the women.

Women would rather work for men. In renting rooms preference is always given "nice single gentlemen."

Women prefer to deal with men in business matters.

Lillian Phones Madge That Party Left for Farmhouse

It was difficult to remember the time-honored admonition to little girls, "Be a lady," when Lillian's voice was shut off from the telephone and the droning request of the operator for a number substituted for it. As it was, I was conscious that my own tones were distinctly tinged with acerbity as I explained:

"I do not wish a number. I have been cut off from a long distance call."

"I beg your pardon," she replied with the perfunctory apology demanded of all operators. "What long-distance number did you call?"

"I called none." I said, mastering the impulse to slam the receiver upon the hook. "Mrs. Underwood at the Hotel Kelsey in New York City was calling me and she was cut off."

"Hang up your receiver," she directed in the same monotonous tones, "and permit the party to make her call again."

I knew that following her advice was the only sensible procedure, but even as I followed it I found myself trembling with entirely unreasonable rage, and realised that the tenseness of Lillian's voice had tautened my own nerves with the fear of some misfortune in the offing.

To my relieved surprised it was less than a minute before the connection was re-established.

"That you, Madge?" Lillian asked. "A cut-off, of course."

"Has anything happened?" I queried breathlessly.

"Nothing to worry about," she retorted. "It's only that Noel, Mary and Katherine started for the farm a few minutes ago. They'll be there on the train which gets in about seven."

"Oh!" The unguarded monosyllable was one of dismay, and Lillian answered the tone rather than the word.

"I know," she said, "you're probably the center of eight or nine whirling problems—isn't that a nice one?—getting the farmhouse ready for the holidays. But I couldn't give you any warning. Katherine didn't decide to take Noel away from here until a little while ago, when she summoned the doctor and put the question up to him. I don't want to say too much over the telephone, but Noel has been in such a state of anxiety about Mary in connection with the happening of a few days ago—you understand that he hasn't been doing very well. He seemed to think the farm was like a moated castle for safety and Katherine suddenly put the machinery in motion for granting his request. You know our Katrina," with a fond, admiring little laugh. "None of us has stopped for breath since she got permission from the medicine man to take Noel away. But I knew you'd want to know they were coming, so as soon as they were out of the house I telephoned you."

"That's like you," I said gratefully. "Please consider yourself thanked. And I really am not upset—now. Fortunately we've finished with the second floor——"

"And no one of the three will have any use for the first floor for a few days," Lillian interposed.

"Noel is really so ill?" I asked fearfully.

"No, but he needs constant care for his nerves are in bad shape. And he doesn't want Mary out of his sight—not that Mary objects to that."

"I suppose not," I answered, with an echo of her own amusement. "When will you be down?"

"Not until you've had time to assimilate your other guests," she returned with a laugh. "I think it's really fortunate, though that Noel is coming down today. Katherine will have time to get him settled before Dicky arrives with your nephews."

"I'm afraid they're going to upset Noel," I said worriedly. "They're boys, you know, and the noise and——"

"Will be the best thing in the world for him," Lillian interrupted with decision. "He isn't nervous in the ordinary sense. He's simply scared pink that something is going to harm Mary. An old-fashioned Christmas, with lots of noise and bustle is just what he needs, especially since——"

She broke off abruptly with a little exclamation which was palpably strained.

"Police, also the state troopers!" she said. "I'll bankrupt Harry with these toll charges. So long, old dear. What Katherine doesn't tell you, I'll write you. And I'll keep you posted upon just the day and hour Dicky and the boys will come to you; also the date of the Underwood descent upon the farm."

She hung up the receiver, and the click of it was no more decisive than the crisp tones with which she had invested her goodbye. I knew her financial carelessness well enough to be sure that no possible tolls would make her cut short a telephone conversation so summarily. There was something, I was pretty sure, which she was not yet ready to tell me, and had almost betrayed with the words "especially since," spoken immediately after her declaration that an old-fashioned Christmas was just what Noel needed. What had happened during the five days that I had been away from the hotel?

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND.

'Going Dutch'

One of the most acute and poignant problems bothering lots of girls today, is the etiquette of the Dutch Treat.

This, of course, is no problem to the gold-digger and the mollusc, who are out for Big Game and fodder—free substance, orchids, parties and graft. Nor does it particularly worry the "home-girl," who can "feed the brute" at her own fireside and do her bit with hospitality and home-cooking.

But, to the business girl with a big pay-envelope and a struggling young Boy Friend, it is both a serious and a delicate matter. There is something gallant about the modern girl of the finer type, which makes her squeamish about accepting sacrifices and inspires her to play FAIR.

In the old days, when a box of bon-bons and a stroll in the moonlight constituted a Large Evening, and there were no taximeters ticking away a man's lunch money for the week, it was different. But now, with a pair of theater tickets averaging the price of a wedding ring, the high cost of loving is more than most young men can bear.

Yet, men are funy that way. To a girl, "going Dutch" may be a positive pleasure, but to a man it is always painful. One kind of man would let a girl sit at home, playing solitaire forever, before he would permit her to pay her own dinner check. Another kind may TRY to be "modern;" but, inside, he curls up and shrivels at the sight of a woman counting out her own taxi-fare.

Funnier still—a man, who would eat with relish and gusto, a meal cooked and served with her own fair hands, in a girl's own home, will suffer acute pain at the notion of letting her sign a luncheon check in her own hotel. It's the IDEA of the thing!

A man will accept all sorts of sacrifices from a woman. But, deep down in his atavistic or mid-Victorian soul, is the primitive conviction that he is born to be her little Santa Claus; and that when she pays her own way, she is reversing the roles and belittling his sex-pride. And she IS! It always robs him of his morale.

Somehow, a man never seems to think more of a woman for paying her own way. It doesn't make him grateful—it makes him self-conscious and suspicious. Instead of feeling that she is being fine and fair and square, he merely begins to wonder if she has ulterior designs on him, and is trying to bait him. It lowers her market-value in his eyes.

That is probably why so many men marry molluscs. Doing things FOR a woman fills a man with a glow of self-admiration and self-esteem—and what spills over is hers. Accepting things FROM a woman fills him with soreness and self-contempt—and what slops over is hers. Hence, the popularity of the gold-digger, who asks and asks and asks—and makes a Santa Claus of every man.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Treating a Cold

No matter what the season, there seems to be colds going the rounds. But during the spring months particularly, we hear of many bad epidemics of colds. No section of the country seems to be free from them.

DR. COPELAND

During the past few weeks in New York City a real epidemic of colds has made life miserable for thousands of persons. Infected throats, with much sneezing, symptoms which hang on for weeks at a time, have worn down the resistance of those afflicted.

If a person has an infection, such as a cold, it means that a certain germ has attacked the nasal mucous membrane and that the toxins from that germ are being absorbed into the system. The mucous membrane cells then go through the reaction of inflammation. A person has become sick because certain cells of his body are no longer normal.

When the toxin poisoning is sufficiently virulent all the muscle cells may be affected. Then you ache as a result.

The relation between fatigue and infectious diseases has not been well known by the general public. With fatigue there usually come constipation and stomach disorder. You know how this is. Shivers and coughs and sneezes come to make life miserable.

No matter what season of the year is upon us, you should not neglect a cold. The after-effects of a cold may last well into the summer months. Such a person finds himself susceptible to every change in the weather.

The inflammation of the mucous lining of the nose and throat can be relieved with a 10 per cent solution of argyrol, which cleanses and disinfects. Using a spray of a good alkaline solution helps to clear the nasal passages.

A cold usually means that the system must be rid of excessive acidity. To reduce this condition soda may be taken internally. Thorough elimination helps to carry off other toxemias, and the body cells are then better able to combat the acute condition.

If you want to get rid of a cold you must exercise. Walking is the ideal physical activity needed at this time. One can often "walk off" a cold. Vigorous exercise of this kind is the best thing in the world for the sluggish condition which always accompanies a cold. Get the skin to glowing and perspiring.

Exercise helps to eliminate the body poisons, while it puts the abdominal muscles into better condition. The circulation of blood is quickened.

You should eat the most simple food and stay away from places of amusement where the air is contaminated. Sleep with all the windows open. Be warmly enough dressed in changeable weather, and if it is warm weather do not sit in drafts.

Rest is one of nature's greatest remedies. It is impossible to try to throw off the infections of a cold and to use up your energy in hard work all at the same time. Children, as well as adults, who have bad colds should have long hours of sleep and rest in order to give the body cells recuperative power. The fatigue element lowers resistance to disease, and thus should be avoided.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Giving Presents to One's Employer

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I know a young girl who is working as a maid for two men. Last Christmas she gave them Christmas presents. Was this all right for her to do?

Was it correct for them to give her a Christmas present? I have been told that girls shouldn't give Christmas presents to their employers.

ANN.

Although it would, undoubtedly, have been better for this girl not to have given her employers Christmas presents, it was, I am sure, only a generous-thoughted impulse for her to express in this way her friendliness and good will to these employers of hers. They probably have been very kind to her, and she wished to show them her gratitude and appreciation. However, in these cases, it is better form not to give Christmas presents.

Returning the Consequential Gift

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. We have a problem that we have been trying to solve for almost a week. We have not found the solution for it yet, so we are writing to you and know that it will be solved correctly.

My girl friend has been going with a young man for six months. They have had a disagreement and are not going about with each other any more. Now the problem is this: He gave her a beautiful white gold wrist watch with her initials engraved on it for Christmas. She thinks she should give it back to him, although she hates to part with it. I think she should keep it, as it was given to her as a Christmas gift. What do you think she should do, Mrs. Beeckman?

2. If you should decide that she should return it, how should she do it, personally or through the mails? I. A.

1. This extremely important question goes back farther than this, goes back to Christmas time, when she, in the worst possible form, and in the worst possible taste, accepted this consequential present from this man whom she had known for so short a time. Now not only must she swallow her pride, but she must swallow the knowledge of her wobbly taste when she permitted herself to accept this present. This kind of present is the kind that a fiance is permitted to give to his fiancee, and not the kind that a man who has known a girl only three months gives to her.

Therefore, considering all of the circumstances, I think that the girl would feel very much better if she should, as far as possible, wipe from her consciousness this gift and what it has brought her. She should return it.

2. It would be well for her to return it either by messenger or by registered mail. And with it should, of course, go a note of explanation, as gracious and direct a note as she can write.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

There is a form of oily, scaly, clinging dandruff that shampooing won't budge. It is only by softening it with hot oil, applying steaming hot towels and then shampooing with melted soap that the horrid flakes can be dislodged. It is advisable to rub a small amount of sulphur ointment into the scalp immediately after the shampoo. When conditions prove stubborn consult a medical man who specializes in skin diseases. Dandruff is a tenement for bacteria and the effect on the hair is harmful.

Sugar is concentrated food, but if it is taken in small amounts, preferably as a dessert, it will have no disturbing effect upon the normal, healthy, digestive mechanism. The candy-nibbler, dipping into the bon-bon box between meals, doesn't give her tummy a chance to rest; being a muscle, it must have rest. Munching destroys appetite and doesn't help the complexion. Regular meals, consisting of well-balanced chow, have everything to do with the texture and color of the skin. Eat properly and mebbe you'll win a beauty prize.

The woman who has to work thinks how heavenly it would be to stay in bed in the mornings. She doesn't realize that she should be grateful for the old job that kicks her out, gets her into the fresh air when the morning is young, livens up her thoughts, keeps her on her toes. Idle women, time-killers, age earlier than workers. Boredom is more tiresome than activity. A healthy energy of will has a stimulating effect upon the blood streams, the muscles, the digestive organs and the mind.

It may happen that a well-behaved complexion suddenly balks against soap. In that event mix together eight ounces of oatmeal, four ounces of almond meal and two ounces of powdered orris root. Keep in a quart mason jar. Dip the wash cloth in warm water, sprinkle it with the meal compound and use the same as soap. It helps remove waste matter from the skin surface and leaves the epidermis delightfuly soft and smooth.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Thursday, June 5

An interesting and eventful day is presaged from the dominant planetary rulership. While there may be some decided change or stirring about, at the same time there may be stubborn obstacles to overcome. With perseverance and watchfulness against fraud, misrepresentation of slander, affairs may be directed into more fortunate channels. New undertakin. are under fairly favorable prospects for success. Personal matters are under a lively sign.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a lively year, with some unforeseen change or journey. Also there may be some delays o obstructions to surmount, but with patience and persistency affairs may be turned into fortunate channels. There is some danger of fraud, misrepresentation or slander unless due vigilance be exercised.

LUTHERANS MAY GET NEW SYNOD

PHILADELPHIA, June 4.—(AP.)—The principle involved in the formation of a New Jersey Synod of the United Lutheran Church in America, was approved by the Lutheran Ministerium of Pennsylvania and adjacent states, in convention here.

The Synod, however, refused to commit itself on dismissing its New Jersey congregations until each has made formal request for such action. It was proposed that 31 congregations in the New York Synod, 30 in the Ministerium of Pennsylvania and 20 from the Eastern Pennsylvania Synod be given permission to organize a New Jersey Synod.

A committee was appointed to make a special study of the "status of women in the church" and was instructed to report in 1931. The Rev. Dr. George S. Kressley, Kutztown, Pa., was re-elected secretary of benevolence for a five-year term.

Four new congregations were admitted to the Synod. They are St. Matthews Slovak, Mt. Carmel, Pa.; St. John's Slovak, St. Clair, Pa.; St. Peters, Philadelphia, and Trinity, Trenton, N. J.

KEEN and ALERT at "FOUR"
the day's grind demands men of unusual Vitality

"Oh! fine"

you want to feel the same way

BUSINESS today requires that the successful man be physically fit and mentally alert.

Men, especially, forget themselves physically. Their work demands practically all their time. They do not exercise enough. They get little or no sunshine. They are robbed of a good appetite . . . and when their red-blood-cells fall below normal their flesh becomes flabby, their nerves unsteady. Their strength must be reinforced.

Soundness of body and peace of mind depend upon the proper number of red-cells in the blood—5,000,000 to the cubic millimeter. They give blood its color and are carriers of nourishment to every part of the body. It is dangerous to let the red-cell count remain below normal.

With an increase in the red-blood-cells, you will be on the right road to Health. This is Nature's way to body power and to clear skin. Naturally, with your strength restored, it is easier to fight disease and infection; to enjoy your food and to sleep soundly. When firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby, you will feel strong—your nerves will become steady—more happiness and friends will follow.

S.S.S. has been a blessing to millions who have taken advantage of its wonderful medicinal properties. It helps Nature build rich, red-blood-cells. It promotes healthy body building.

You will be pleased to know that S.S.S. is made from strictly fresh vegetable drugs. It is easily assimilated. Pleasant to take.

is taken by many people at least once a year to keep their blood in good condition. Seek energy, vitality and the blessings of good health through this time-tested remedy which has been on the market over 100 years. Take at mealtimes. S.S.S. is on sale at all good drug stores in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical. © S.S.S. Co.

Sour Stomach?

Will never give you any more trouble if you take a tablespoonful of Tanlac before each meal and bedtime.

You'll be amazed at the way Tanlac ends sourness and distress by preventing formation of gases and acids. It must help or you get your money back.

Let's STOP and TALK SENSE

LET'S stop long enough to find out what all these claims for different kinds of gas mean.

Before starting, let's get one thing straight. There are two decidedly different things—regular gasolines selling at no increase in price—and special motor fuels selling at a premium price. The American Oil Co. sells both types and can speak without prejudice.

A better Regular Gasoline

We will not claim that Orange American Gas will give performance equal to a real special motor fuel.

You can't get something for nothing and we won't say that you can.

But Orange American Gas, made from the best crudes ever discovered, refined by the newest refining methods, gives you an exceptionally high anti-knock value and better all-around performance than any other product selling at regular price regardless of name, color or claims.

But there is no regular gasoline that can deliver performance equal to that of a real, premium motor fuel.

Motor Fuels cost more per gallon

Of course, there are a lot of gasolines masquerading as special motor fuels and claiming motor fuel advantages. But you've never seen diamonds selling at rhinestone prices. You can't get mink for the price of rabbit. You must buy a Pullman ticket to get Pullman service.

And if you pay less than premium prices you're bound to get less than real special motor fuel performance.

Amoco-Gas, Original Special Motor Fuel

There's no product made—regular gasoline or motor fuel—that can equal the performance delivered by Amoco-Gas, the original special motor fuel. By performance we mean power and pick-up, quick starting and the knockless rating you hear so much about.

Amoco-Gas has every advantage of other high-grade motor fuels—and several exclusively its own.

In addition to these features, Amoco-Gas offers you the lowest cost per mile. It gives you more miles to each gallon. It reduces operating expenses by reducing repair bills. It keeps your car on the road and out of the shop. It increases the trade-in value of your car.

Amoco-Gas costs more per gallon because it does more and because it's worth more.

You can't get something for nothing

REMEMBER THIS: In business today, yesterday and tomorrow—the same rule holds good. You don't get more than you pay for. If you pay regular gasoline price you get regular gasoline—some better than others—Orange American Gas the best buy of all. If you want a real, honest-to-goodness motor fuel—that will deliver real special motor fuel performance—you'll have to pay the premium price for Amoco-Gas which, after all, costs less in the end. ▼ ▼ ▼ ▼

We have made a clean-cut statement about two distinct products—regular gasolines and premium motor fuels. Now the choice is yours—go out and fill your tank.

FADING STAR LEAVES ENDURING MARKS

UNLESS ONE OF the clubs now hard pressed for slab material steps in and grabs him, the big baseball show has seen the last of a pitcher who must be ranked with the greatest of all time. Released unconditionally by the Phillies, Grover Cleveland Alexander becomes a free agent, and if some other major outfit doesn't pick him up, after having already waived on him, it means the end of a big league career that stands out in hurling history like a beacon in a fog.

Grover Alexander.

Through a stretch of almost 20 years that saw him shift from the Phils to the Cubs, to the Cardinals and then back to the Quakers again, Alexander has shone with a surpassing brilliance that entitles him to a ranking with Cy Young, Christy Mathewson, Walter Johnson and the other super-greats of the past. It seems only a short while since he was the king of National League pitchers; when he was priceless as a baseball asset. Now he is put on the waiver block and nobody wants him. "Alexander released unconditionally" tells the story of how Father Time cuts them all down in the end. One day you may see even this line at the foot of a box score: "Batted for Ruth in the ninth."

BUT IT WAS not until Alex had passed the 43-year mark that he went down before the old man with the scythe, and in the meantime he piled up an amazing record that will live long after him. Combining to a rare degree, effectiveness, control, smartness, courage and durability, he classed with the mightiest mound masters in history and was easily the National League's greatest pitcher since the heyday of Mathewson.

Drafted from the Syracuse club, of the New York State League, for only $750, Alexander joined the Phils in 1911 and starred in the Quaker uniform for seven seasons. In the fall of 1917 he was sold with his battery mate, Bill Killefer, to the Cubs for $50,000. After pitching in only three games in 1918 he joined the Army and went overseas.

RESUMING WITH THE Bruins in 1919, Alexander worked for that club until the summer of 1926, when he was sold to the Cards. Last December, the Redbirds traded him, with Catcher Harry McCurdy, to the Phils for Pitcher Bob McGraw and Outfielder Homer Peel.

The high spot in Alexander's record is that he won more ball games in the National League than any other pitcher who ever worked in the present circuit. That mark is 373 victories, against which he is charged with only 208 defeats. This year he lost three games, while winning none.

Christy Mathewson.

THE PREVIOUS RECORD for victories pitched in the National League was 372, established by Mathewson while hurling for the Giants. The American League record is 416, held by Johnson, and the all-major league mark is 511, set by Young. During his long career in the senior loop, Alex worked in 696 games, pitching a total of 5,163 innings. He allowed 4,844 hits, struck out 2,184 batsmen, and gave 951 bases on balls, and yielded an average of only 2.60 earned runs per nine innings.*

NATIONAL LEAGUE RECORDS set by him include: Most years pitched, 20; most years leading league in games won, six; most years leading league in number of complete games pitched, six; most shutouts in league, 90; most shutouts in one season, 16; most shutouts in succession, four.

Alexander was one of only two pitchers in any major league ever to win 30 or more games per season for three consecutive years. The other was Mathewson. The latter did it in 1903-4-5, and Alexander in 1915-16-17.

IN THE SEVENTH and deciding game of the Cardinal-Yankee world series of 1926, Alex turned in one of the most remarkable feats of his career, though he was then almost 40 years old. He had already pitched and won two games in the series, and had worked nine innings only the day before.

But when Jess Haines wobbled in the seventh inning with only a one-run lead, the bases filled, and two out, Alex mounted the hill again and saved the game and the series by striking out Tony Lazzeri and holding the Yanks runless in the last two innings.

THERE IS STILL a chance that some other big league club may take on the fading veteran for a time, at least for relief-pitching duty. The old boy may have enough left in him to prove serviceable in such a role for a few innings at a time. Whether the Pirate management will make room for him has not been decided. Treasurer Sam Dreyfuss said today that the club officials had not had time to discuss the advisability of such a move since learning of Alexander's release. Pittsburgh would have bought the pitcher before the Phillies drafted him in the fall of 1910 but for the advice of W. H. Watkins, owner of the Indianapolis club, which had farmed Alex to Syracuse. Watkins told the local chiefs it would be a waste of time and money, as the big hurler never would be fit for major league service.*

Wilbert Robinson.

WILBERT ROBINSON'S steam roller is still driving ahead with the same old power, as the Pirates discovered yesterday in their first game in the East. The amazing Robins have won 25 of their last 33 contests—six out of seven from the Giants, six out of eight from the Phillies, four straight from the Cards, four out of five from the Buccaneers, three out of four from the Braves, and two from the Reds without a defeat. The Cubs were the only club to turn them back, toppling them three times in a row.

Brooklyn's winning rally in the ninth inning yesterday against Glenn Spencer after the Bucs had tied the score was another instance showing how things break to the disadvantage of a slumping team, whereas a winning outfit generally manages to get just what it needs. William Watson Clark's two-bagger, which led to the scoring of the winning run, was only the second extra-base hit that that pitcher has made since 1928 and only his fifth in the four seasons he has served in the majors. He did not make a long hit throughout 1927 or 1929.

THE BURLESQUE score of 38 to 18, by which the Springfield (O.) club defeated Fort Wayne in the Central League on Monday, beat anything recorded in the faster leagues in recent years, but some of the dopesters stretched things a bit when they said it was the

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN.

The premier local intercollegiate net event of this or any other campaign is on the bill for 2 o'clock this afternoon with Dr. Billy McElroy's powerful and unbeaten Pitt varsity array lined up on the Fox Chapel Country Club turf to repel the invasion of the mighty racqueters of the University of California. Sweeping into the East with an all-star host that cherishes aspiration toward national honors, the Golden Bears stand chance, if any one does, of ripping down the defiant banner of Blue and Gold that has withstood all hostile court onslaughts of the past two years.

Capt McKee

Aside from marking the initial Steel City appearance of a Berkeley athletic squad, today's contest is unique in district varsity tennis annals in that it offers the first glimpse Pittsburghers have had opportunity to enjoy of college competition on grass surfaces. It is, indeed, more than that: it is the first time Pittsburgh has had any serious lawn tennis, in the literal meaning of the term, since the Australians and the English met in a preliminary Davis Cup tie at the Allegheny Country Club almost a decade ago. All of which should render the affair the more attractive, for well-tended greensward is by long odds the natural and original playing element of tennis and is beyond doubt conducive to the best that can be had from the pastime.

COACH NO STRANGER

Ray Grismer, coach of the invading force, is by no means a stranger to Western Pennsylvania territory. The coast mentor, way back in 1917 and 1918, functioned as gridiron assistant and net instructor at Mercersburg Academy. At that time he was fresh from Oxford University where he had been a member of the varsity racquet team. Since leaving Mercersburg and serving in the army, Grismer has coached tennis at Hill School, Ohio State University, and Oklahoma City University. He came to California in 1929 and now, a year later, has produced an outfit that boasts the championship of the Pacific Coast Conference.

A glance at the records discloses the remarkable strength of the Western combine. Dolf Muehleisen, number one ace, is Pacific Coast intercollegiate singles champion and, with Bob Muench, number three luminary, ranks second in doubles in the same division. Both lads have held numerous Junior distinctions, Muehleisen having been ranked number five nationally in 1927, just four years after Dave O'Loughlin, Pitt flash, attained precisely identical laurels.

M'KEE STAR

Martin McKee, southpaw satellite, is rounding out his second year as captain of the Bear delegation. He cavorts at No. 2 and will try conclusions with O'Lough-

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: THE CHIASMODON NIGER—The Chiasmodon Niger, or Chiasmodon Vorax, belongs to a genus of deep sea fish remarkable both for its great voracity and the extraordinary distensibility of its stomach and body, which permits it to swallow a fish of much larger bulk than itself. (Reference: The Outline of Science, Volume 1.) PITCHER STILLSON STRUCK OUT 28 MEN AND LOST—Stillson, a three-fingered pitcher for the Wasicow (O.) Cougars, was pitching against the rival town's team, the Leopards. He struck out every one of the 28 men who faced him, yet lost the game. In one inning he pitched a high third strike, at which the batter swung and missed. The ball eluded the catcher and the runner reached first. While Stillson was striking out the next man up, the runner stole second and took a long lead toward third. Stillson tried to put him out on second, but the throw was wild and the runner scored.

BROOKLYN, June 4.—Back at the .500 mark the Pirates today were in danger of slipping below the Giants and into the second division. The Freebooters dropped a hard one yesterday to the Robins as they began their first Eastern invasion and inasmuch as Uncle Robbie's tribe is fired with pennant ardor, it may be hard to measure for a setback.

Larry French and Jim Elliott are due for a southpaw duel in the second game this afternoon.

The 6 to 5 clash of yesterday was both an artistic and financial success, but there was anything but artistry in the confirmed habit of Pirate infielders in leaving their positions unprotected on hit-and-run plays. Two probable double play balls went through for hits in the inaugural and at the finish the two mistakes stood out.

GRANTHAM ERRS

George Grantham, a home-run hero of the battle and a boy who's stick has been working overtime in the interest of the Buccos, left his post in the first round and the Robins had a two-run inning which should have shown nothing but horse-collars for the home team.

It is quite difficult for one to take George to task, but the same weakness has developed in the Pittsburgh infield quite often this season. Frederick was on first with one out when Herman, apparently, put on the go sign. Grantham went with Frederick and Herman pulled a tailor-made grounder right through the vacated spot. The result—a big inning.

Grantham's defense should be considered. George says Herman was served a fast pitch on the play, and, therefore, he was supposed to cover. Had the ball been a hook, Engle would have covered.

However, this argument is somewhat beside the question. The

IRISH TOMMY JORDAN

Brooklyn middleweight boxer, who meets Buck McTiernan, Swissvale pride, in the 10-round main bout of the open-air boxing show at Hickey Park, Millvale, tomorrow night.

VON ELM WINS IN FRANCE

BOULIE, France, June 4.—(AP.)—George Von Elm, Detroit, weathered the third round of the French amateur golf championship this morning, defeating George Troyan, 5 up and 4 to play.

Prospects for an all-American semi-final tomorrow were visualized when Raleigh Allen, Asheville, N. C., also won his third round match, defeating Marcel Chauvet, 3 up and 2 to play.

Allen drew a bye for the afternoon, while Von Elm was a top-heavy favorite to win his fourth round match.

U. S. Crews to Try For Thames Cup

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, England, June 4.—(AP.)—Five crews from overseas, it was announced today, will compete in the Thames Cup race here July 2 to 5.

Crews from Kent School and Princeton University will represent the United States.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 4.—(INS.)—Navy oarsmen, who participate in the Poughkeepsie intercollegiate regatta June 26, will overtake their classmates on summer training cruise at Kiel by leaving on the Leviathan June 28 and transferring to the Republic at Cherbourg. Heat curtailed practice yesterday and a comparatively slow stroke was used in the workout.

Hoffman Beaten By Rosenbloom

NEW YORK, June 4.—(AP.)—Maxie Rosenbloom, Harlem contender for the light-heavyweight championship, gained an easy 10-round victory over George Hoffman, New York heavyweight, at the Queensboro stadium last night.

Nick Altrock Says:

DETROIT, June 4. — You can't lick somebody with nobody and that is why I can't figure who is going to send those Brooklyn Robins to the taxidermist. The Cubs have had plenty of luck this season but its all been bad. Last week the Cards were up in the air so often they were mistaken for the Graf Zeppelin. The Pirates are crippled bad enough to go in for panhandling, and the way the Giants have been going lately its a good thing McGraw already has gray hair. It looks like New York will get a world series this autumn even if it has to go out to the suburbs to enjoy it.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4.—(AP.)—Wade Killefer, manager of the San Francisco Missions baseball team, said today that he will seek to acquire Grover Cleveland Alexander, big league pitcher, who was released by the Philadelphia National League team.

Young Ketchel Wins Over Pat Haley

LEIPERVILLE, Pa., June 4.—(AP.)—Young Ketchel, Chester, Pa., belted out a 10-round victory over Pat Haley, Philadelphia, in the main event of Howard Dougherty's open air arena last night.

THE LOWDOWN ON THE BUGS

By THE BENCHWARMER.

BROOKLYN, June 4.—Well, folks, I certainly was disappointed to find the grand old game in such an unhealthy condition in my first jaunt East. I guess the automobile, golf and a lot of other attractions are hurting baseball something terribly because there were only 17,000 out on a dull Tuesday at Ebbetts Field and the excitement wasn't much outside of a few thousand in the back rows threatenin' to lynch a few thousand others who were standin' in the exits when we tied up the game in the ninth.

And when Watson Clark scored the winning run in the ninth, they didn't have to send over to New York for any police to help the Flatbush cops get Clark away from the crowd that rushed out on the field. Outside of threatenin' the umpires and callin' us a lot of nice names, the crowd was just as orderly as a taxicab strike.

KREMER GOOD

Maybe Kremer didn't pitch a nice game. I hope nobody says there's another game that Frenchy didn't finish because he pitched fine ball and everybody on our bench knew it. There was one or two little mixups that gummed things up and you can't make many mistakes and win when you're playin' the league leaders.

This is the first trip to New York for Ben Sankey and Bernard Walters, I wish you could have seen Bernie when he was comin' up through that Broadway traffic in a taxicab. He says he's gonna have plenty to tell the folks about when he gets back to Tennessee. Jule told Doc Jorgenson to put tags on Bernie and a few of the others who are seein' the sights. Jule wants to be sure to get them back if they get lose because he's kinda short on players, anyhow.

Gee, that was a tough one to lose, especially on account of Frenchy's smart pitching. He used a lot of slow stuff on some of the sluggers and they were gruntin' and groanin' around the box like anything. Watson Clark pitched a good game, too.

I heard we won't get Ol Dazzy in the series. They're gonna save him for them Cubs, I guess, and how he likes to take them on.

Plenty in This Name, At Least For Printers

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., June 4.—(AP.)—James Lymperopoulous, captain and third baseman of the University of Illinois baseball team, yesterday signed a contract with the St. Louis Cardinals and left at once to join the Greensboro, N. C., club of the Piedmont League, one of the Cardinal farms.

Lymperopoulous was one of the fastest base runners in Big Ten baseball history. He stole 27 bases during the 1930 season, seven of them being steals of home. He batted .301 for the Illini and made only two errors in two years competition.

Fight Results

At New York—Maxie Rosenbloom defeated George Hoffman, 10 rounds; Marty Gallagher knocked out Salvatore Ruggirello, 8 rounds; Benny Nabors defeated Dick Selza, 10 rounds; Joe Martin knocked out (technical) Mickey Ladanda, 6 rounds; Jack (Kid) Bates defeated Joe Kelly, 6 rounds; Ed Garvey knocked out Jack Marshalong, 2 rounds.

At Philadelphia—Jack Gross knocked out Jack Herman, 2 rounds; Al Ettore defeated Lew Alva, 8 rounds.

At Vineland, N. J.—Al Geffner defeated Puggy Snyder, 8 rounds; Jack Stanley and Nick Dimotto drew, 6 rounds.

Bud Taylor Stops Johnston in Second

CHICAGO, June 4.—(AP.)—Bud Taylor, of Terre Haute, Ind., knocked out Jackie Johnston, of Toronto, Canada, in the second round of their scheduled 10-round match in the Congress open-air stadium last night.

Taylor floored Johnston for a count of nine and then put him out with a right to the chin.

SENATORS, A'S WIN

GIANTS WALLOP REDS; CARDS, CUBS COP

Associated Press

Whitlow Wyatt, a big Georgian whom Detroit acquired from Evansville early this season, Three-I League, has developed into one of the season's best pitchers for the box. Although he has lost two complete games, both of which went 10 innings, he has defeated 11 others in the 12 times he has appeared on the mound.

Wyatt has probably done the best pitching that has netted Detroit victories. This club owes far more than it has kept games already lost from becoming such.

CUBS OUTSLUGGED

Such was the case yesterday as the Tigers dropped a 6 to 5 decision to Washington.

The Senators had allowed Whitehill and Sullivan for several runs in the second inning before Wyatt appeared and he stopped them with three hits. Then with three hits and a home run in the last seven innings.

Ray Kolp of Cincinnati suffered almost the duplicate of Wyatt's performance as he held him on the short list of outstanding pitchers on a day of hard hitting. Kolp came to rescue Lady Baldwin from the brutal assaults of his former teammates the New York Giants and stopped them as Wyatt did the Senators with two hits. The Giants pounded Benton for 10 hits and eight runs in less than three innings and won the game 9 to 1.

Another rookie, Art Teachout of the Chicago Cubs and the way among the few pitchers who completed the games they started. He held the Boston Braves to seven hits while his mates attacked Grimes and Cooney for 17 clouts and a 15 to 2 victory.

Bill Clark had to hit as well as pitch to keep the Brooklyn Robins three games ahead of the Cubs.

CARDS BEAT PHILS

For sheer slugging the 11 to 10 triumph of the St. Louis Cardinals over the Phillies took the prize for a day that saw 196 hits made in eight games.

The New York Yankees featuring Babe Ruth's seventeenth home run of the year led the American League slugging parade by getting 19 hits and a 13 to 7 victory over the Chicago White Sox. The Cleveland Indians had the benefit of Wes Ferrell's good pitching as well as 17 hits and had no trouble beating the Boston Red Sox, 8 to 3.

The Philadelphia Athletics, clinging to a one-game lead over Washington, engaged in the only real mound duel of the day with the St. Louis Browns as their opponents. Lefty Grove and Dick Coffman battled for six innings before the game suddenly blew up in under them. With St. Louis leading 1 to 0 in the seventh, Jimmy Foxx and Bing Miller hit successive home runs and the athletics moved on to a 4 to 1 triumph.

Sport Vignettes

Boxing promoters around here are beginning to wonder if the new sport dog racing isn't cutting into their gates. The Willie Davies Black Bill show, which figured to be a sellout at the Meyers Bowl Monday night, netted only around $6,000—and it was a million dollar scrap for action and figured to be. Death Valley Jim Scott, who has been signed as an umpire by the National League, coming up from the Southern Association, was a colored figure as a pitcher with the Chicago White Sox almost two decades ago. He was a teammate of the great Ed Walsh, whose son now is a member of the Sox flinging corps. They're betting 2 to 5 and better on Jack Sharkey to defeat Max Schmeling in their battle for the world title in New York one week from tomorrow night, and the price will go higher. It may even reach the 3 to 1 figure of the first Dempsey-Tunney fight in Philadelphia. On what they've shown and their comparative experience, Schmeling doesn't figure to be any tougher for Sharkey than Tom Heeney was for Gene Tunney in the latter's last stand in defense of the title. It will require a big upset of the dope for Sharkey to kick this one away.

By the way, the Meyer Bowl has abandoned plans to use Heeney against Emmett Rocco at an early date. Jack London and Jack Metz have joined forces and will handle all of the amateur boxers of the Willow Club that turn pro. In the past Metz has developed such notables as the Zivic brothers, Phil Goldstein, Jack Burke and others, only to see other managers cut in on them when they got a the money. Jules Beck, matchmaker for the Meyers Bowl explains how come Harry Williams was doing backward flip-flops over the ropes in his bout with Patsy Perrone and Willie Davies was getting all scrambled up in the ropes in the first few rounds of his battle with Black Bill in the North Braddock ring the other night. New ropes had been stretched and they lacked springiness. The boxers fell dead against them and could not rebound.

Davies did not discover the trouble until after the third round and then he kept in the middle of the ring and easily stabbed his way to victory. Paul Cavalier, one of Jack Sharkey's sparmates, reports that Jack plans to hammer Schmeling around the body for a few rounds and soften him up for a quick knockout. "You have no idea how strong that Sharkey fellow is," Paul is quoted as saying. "And when he digs into your midriff, he DIGS." So the Phillies have gone and dumped of Alex? . . . Perhaps it couldn't be helped and of Alex is his own worst enemy and all that sort of stuff but why must we always have cold proof that sentiment runs for Supremacy when a guy is through in baseball? . . . One of the laughs of a lifetime is the act that takes place at the conclusion of a major league baseball game when a couple of kids roll up a wheelbarrow in front of dugout and begin to pile on some forty-eleven bats belonging to the home club and then repeat for the visiting club. Of the entire assortment, probably not more than a dozen or two are used on each side in the course of the game, but all of that lumber must be laid out day after day for no good reason at all, unless it be in the rather forlorn hope that the opposition's catcher may trip over the bats while chasing a foul fly. . . . Dr. Cliff Carlson, Pitt basketball coach, plans to step off in Yellowstone Park on his way back from Logan, Utah, whither he has gone to conduct a coaching school, and may bring back some bears, if he can find any, to lend color to the bear stories he may need next season with Charley Hyatt gone away from Pitt.—HARRY KECK.

LAWTHER SIGNS AT FREEPORT

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., June 4.—John D. Lawther, for the last five years head coach of basketball, assistant football coach and instructor in psychology at Westminster College, has been signed as head coach of football, basketball and baseball at the Freeport (L. I.) High School next year, according to information from that city.

Lawther, in addition to coaching at the school, will be a graduate student at Columbia University in New York, where he will work for his doctor's degree. Freeport, a city of 25,000 population, is 25 miles from New York. Lawther will have nothing but coaching duties at Freeport, and the salary consideration is the equivalent of what he received at Westminster. Lawther made a name for himself in the Tri-State District in basketball during the last four seasons. His teams at Westminster have won two conference championships and have been runners-up twice. A total of 85 victories out of 96 games played during four seasons is one of the best records in the district.

While in college, Lawther played football four years under De Ormond (Tuss) McLaughry, now head coach at Brown. Lawther was captain of the grid team two years and was All-Conference center twice. He played guard and center in basketball during his student days at Westminster, and was a pitcher and an outfielder on the varsity baseball team.

CITY LEAGUE FRAYS TOP SANDLOT PROGRAM

STOWE TO SEEK VICTORY OVER W. O. W.

SANDLOT GAMES TODAY

C. & I. LEAGUE
Mine Safety at Dravo Contracting.
STEEL CITY LEAGUE
Demor at Observatory Civics.
Penn Maxine at Fox A. C.
Hale Club at St. Elizabeth.
East Liberty Crimsons at East End Cards.
CITY LEAGUE
J. L. Thomas at St. Johns.
Stowe Civics at W. O. W.
GREATER PITTSBURGH LEAGUE
Homestead Aces at Edgewood.

By TOM BIRKS

Two games in the City League will hold the spotlight of the local sandlots this evening. J. L. Thomas will meet St. Johns at Sullivan field, and W. O. W. and Stowe Civics will put on the local rivalry act at Woodman Field.

Mike Jedinak's Woodmen are getting the reputation of being the hardest hitters in the City League and tonight, Pop Geer will probably send Chuck Dunn to the mound in an effort to stop the Cholko aggregation.

St. Johns will get the Bloomfield crowd when the two rivals from that section of town clash.

Four games will be played in the Steel City League. Fans wishing to get a thrill should make the trip to Pleasant Valley where the leaders of the loop, the Demor club, clashes with Observatory Civics. This stacks up as the outstanding game of the evening. Manager Meeder, of the Civics, realizes that Demor must be stopped in this game, if the Perrysville avenue boys are going to get a chance in that first half title.

CARDS MEET CRIMSONS

At the Homewood playgrounds, the East End Cardinals and the East Liberty Crimsons will meet. The Crimsons are stepping fast and the Cadinals are priming Hussey for this battle. The Prata aggregation will have to win this game to stay in the race for first half honors.

The Hale Club of Turtle Creek will make the trip to Leslie Park to meet St. Elizabeth.

One game will be played in the Commercial and Industrial League, Mine Safety, with Tom Gettings on the mound, will invade Neville Island to battle with the Dravo nine. The Appliance boys are hot on the trail of the leaders.

The Allegheny Collegians, City League champion of 1928 and present contender for the Central League title will be the attraction at Five Points, O., next Sunday. Tommy Carson has Sammy Leon and Walterr Smee ready for action against the Buckeye team. Clifford Arner has a good club at the Points this season and expects to meet the leading Pittsburgh clubs.

GRAYS BUSY

The Homestead Grays are off on another winning streak, but as they will encounter sterner opposition this week, their chances of approaching the mark which was shattered last week after 33 straight games had been won are remote. This evening the Grays invade Etna, tomorrow they play Book Shoe at Olympia Park, Mt. Washington; Friday appear at Dormont and Saturday at Forbes Field to meet the crack Memphis, Tenn., Negro team in a doubleheader.

Book Shoe finally was stopped in the City League last evening, Stowe turning in a 6 to 5 victory over the leaders. The North Side Civics defeated Pleasant Valley, 15 to 1, and W. O. W. nosed out the Jimmy Smiths, 7 to 6.

In the West Penn League, Dormont continued its winning pace by defeating the Homestead Aces, 11 to 1. Homewood took over Verona, 16 to 1.

FINTEX WINS

Fintex slugged out a 15 to 12 victory over the Y. M. H. A. in a Central League encounter. B. & O. defeated Carnegie Steel 11 to 1 in the C. and I Circuit and in the Philadelphia Company League, Equitable Gas downed Bylleshy, 6 to 5.

The Lineys defeated the Lorena nine, 6 to 5 in a Major League tussle and in the North Side Twilight League, the North Siders walloped St. Boniface, 10 to 3.

The Crawfords defeated Troy Hill, 8 to 3 in a leading independent tussle and City View won over the Sankeys, 11 to 1.

SMILEY SCORES ACE

John W. Smiley, of 6753 Thomas boulevard, scored a hole in one at the Burke Glen Golf Club yesterday while playing with Bennett Taylor, E. L. Skinner and C. M. Thomas. The ace was garnered on the 187-yard first hole, a par 4 and blind from the tee.

COACH RETURNS

MORGANTOWN, June 4.—A. B. Clyde yesterday was reappointed head coach at the local high school for the ninth successive year. He is a popular mentor here.

FRENCH READY FOR ROBINS

oldtimers like Honus Wagner did not leave their position until they made sure the batter had not hit the ball. There is still time to make a play on a steal, provided the play with the catcher is coordinated in a big-league manner.

TRAYNOR FOOLED

It would be hard to recall when Pie Traynor left his position open on a play of this sort, yet the ailing third-sacker yesterday in the third moved far enough toward third in the sixth with the hit-and-run on to let Catcher Lopez drive safely to leftfield. There is some doubt as to whether Pie could have stopped the hot smash, but when he is in form, Traynor can stay in his spot and still get to the bag in time for the play. Runners were on second and first and the time and Hendrick scored on the hit.

The artistry of the contest was not confined to the Robins, by any means. Remy Kremer pitched his best game of the season. Some of the nine hits credited the Robins should have been caught, and Frenchy had fine control. It was the misfortune of Kremer to make one pitch a bit too good for Babe Herman in the third, and Babe responded with a homer into the left center bleachers with one on the sacks.

ENGLE TIES GAME

Spunky Charlie Engle tied up the battle in the ninth with two out when he singled to left to score Ben Sankey, who was running for Al Bool.

With Glenn Spencer pitching and the Pirate outfield scrambled, the Robins won out in their half. Southpaw Bill Clarke came up to win his own game, and that is just about what he did. Clarke doubled to left center just out of the reach of Jim Mosolf, who had just entered the game. Jim made a diving attempt to catch the ball. One was out at the time, but the game came to a dramatic close when Gilbert dumped a little hit just out of the reach of Grantham.

largest made in any league in organized ball since 1900.

On July 14, 1902, in a Texas League game at Ennis, Tex., the Corsicana club defeated Texarkana, 51 to 3. Corsicana made 53 hits, including 11 home runs, four triples and two doubles. Nig Clarke, later a big league catcher and with the Pirates for a short time in 1920, made three home runs and five singles, scoring eight times. O'Connor made three homers, a triple and three singles, and Alexander made two homers, a double and five singles. And one pitcher, DeWitt, had to stick through it all. In addition to the walloping he received, he gave 13 bases on balls.

Jack McAuliffe.

JACK M'AULIFFE, 64, who retired undefeated as lightweight fistic champion in 1897, and who still keeps in close touch with the ring game, leans to Jack Sharkey as a probable winner over Max Schmeling in the heavyweight championship battle one week from tomorrow. "Sharkey knows more about glove fighting and has met better men than Schmeling has encountered," he says. "Sharkey is overrated as a smart boxer, and if the conditions are not made to order for him he often fails to do his best, but he is a game, willing fellow, whose courage has impressed me, and if he goes in to fight from the first gong instead of trying to stand up and box, I would say that he has a good chance to win. Nobody knows whether Schmeling can stand the kind of punishment that Sharkey handed to Dempsey and Loughran. John L. Sullivan would turn over in his grave if he knew that a Lithuanian and a German were getting ready to fight for the heavyweight championship of the world."

TOMMY JORDAN DUE TODAY FOR BOUT

By HARRY KECK.
Sports Editor.

Irish Tommy Jordan, of Brooklyn, veteran campaigner against Sergt. Sammy Baker, Andy DeVodi, Clyde Hull, Sailor Friedman, Tony Vaccarelli and others of that ilk, is due in town today for his battle with Buck McTiernan, of Swissvale, the 10-round main bout at Hickey Park, Millvale, tomorrow night. Meanwhile, McTiernan is putting the finishing touches on his preparation this afternoon in the gym of the Homewood Progressive Club.

A change has been made in the preliminary program for the show, Ralph Monroe, Negro, of the Hill, sponsored by Frank Sutton, taking the place of Georgie Peck, of the North Side, against Georgie Bretsch, also of the North Side, in the second bout. Hugh Fetzer, of the North Side, boxes Billy Brent, Negro, of Chicago, in the opener, and Al Farone, of the West End, is in with Peaches Gallagher, of Swissvale, in the eight-round semi-final.

Between Rounds

Farmer Joe Cooper, of Terre Haute, will be gunning for his fourth straight victory in the Pittsburgh district in his bout with Joe Teeper, of Rochester, N. Y., topping the card of three 10-round bouts and a bill furnished by Rogers Bone, Negro, Bob Brock, last Monday night. He has won a questionable decision over Buck McTiernan and broken Jimmy Belmont at Motor Square Garden, and taken the measure of Harry (Kid) Wallace at the Moose Temple.

Nathaniel (One Round) Hogan, highly-touted Negro heavyweight, of California, who has been around here for about a month, is tired of the inactivity and has agreed to box the opening six-rounder at the Meyers Bowl next Monday night to keep fit. He is confident he can hand one of the heavies around here and establish himself as a card for the summer. His opponent has not yet been selected. In the two 10-round preliminaries at the Bowl, Eddie Donahoe, of the Hill, will box Bobby Young, Negro, and Johnny Smalley, of Canonsburg, will meet Harry (Kid) Bowes, of Philadelphia.

The fans are beginning to show some interest in the wrestling program billed at the Meyers Bowl Friday night. Three falls, catch-as-catch-can, will be contested for a full night's entertainment. Fuzzy and shows in the Bowl will depend a lot on the turnout for the inaugural offering.

Tony Cattozzini boxes Joe Glick, Pete Nebo meets Ed Travis and Lew Feldman tangles with George Goldberg in 10-round bouts featuring the opening of the season at Ehrets Park, Brooklyn, tonight.

Al Fay, of Charleroi, likely will be substituted for Arthur De Kuh as the opponent of Walter Cobb in the 10-round semi-final to the Sharkey-Max Schmeling bout at the Yankee Stadium, New York, one week from tomorrow night.

The preliminary card has been virtually arranged for the Tommy Loughran-Jimmy Schad bout at Philadelphia next Monday night. Long Tom Hawkins and Jack Warren, Negro heavies, will box the semi-final, and Babe Hunt will oppose Jack Kennedy and there will be six other 10-rounders with Frankie Carney as one of the principals.

GAME CALLED OFF

The Duquesne-Greensburg game, scheduled at Duquesne this evening, has been postponed.

OLIVER LOSES; TITLE SERIES ALL EVEN

A six run attack in the third inning stood Schenley High in good stead as the Bellefielders evened the series for the City League baseball championship with Oliver at Forbes Field last evening. Schenley won the second game, 9 to 7, offsetting the 5 to 3 victory of Oliver last week.

Tony Studnicki, on the mound for Schenley, kept Oliver in check until the final inning when a rally produced three runs, but not enough to even the count. Oliver's fielding was ragged, six errors being charged against the Section II challengers.

Oliver, for all it was defeated, managed to outhit the Oaklanders, 9 to 7. Bezilla led in the attack with three safe blows, including a pair of triples. His three errors were costly, however.

The teams will clash Friday in the third and deciding game of the series. This game also will be played at Forbes Field.

lin while Muehleisen is encountering Capt. Eddie Jacobs, Panther top man and national intercollegiate semi-finalist in 1929. Ted Ludlow, fourth of the visitors, is a Berkeley High School boy who learned the game on the recreangles of the Berkeley Tennis Club, where Helen Wills Moody began her spectacular racquet career.

Capt. Russel Gallaway, of the undefeated California freshman contingent, is also with the Golden Gate party, though he is ineligible to play in varsity matches or to enter the national intercollegiates, the ultimate object of the roving Bears. The yearling streak has been sent East for experience and has been set to do battle with outstanding frosh netmen of the numerous schools that have been visited on the swing toward the rising sun.

This afternoon his opponent will be Billy O'Loughlin, former Duke prep slasher, who is now heading the Pitt freshman troop. The fray, though it will not be counted in the day's reckoning, is by no means the least promising on the slate.

All in all, the Pitt-California joust looms as a truly signal tennis morsel. It will be worth traveling a great deal farther than Fox Chapel to behold and should draw forth from the city a large and colorful gallery.

Seattle Girl Star Sets Swim Mark

ABERDEEN, Wash., June 4.—(AP.)—Helene Madison, Seattle girl swimming sensation, yesterday added the 400-yard free style indoor American swimming record to her long list of aquatic feats, when she negotiated the distance here in 5 minutes 6 1-5 seconds. The former record of 5 minutes 14 seconds was made in 1927 by Martha Norelius, of New York.

MAXIE SERVES SPAR MATES TROUNCING

ENDICOTT, N. Y., June 4.—(AP.)—The slaughter of the innocents, a tragedy for sparring partners but a highly amusing comedy for the guests, reached a high water mark yesterday in the training camp of Max Schmeling, first German ever to challenge for the world heavyweight championship.

The scowling Teuton took three new sparring partners and one old one into his outdoor arena and for the sake of condition and the amusement of 600 paying guests, all but took their features apart with cutting left hooks and numbing right crosses. He did not knock his working men out, for that would have ended their usefulness, but he did mold them from earnest, rather apprehensive young men into grinning, blood-smeared caricatures with his steady flow of cutting leather.

Schmeling threw a scare into the ranks of the scribes when he showed them he couldn't straighten out the finger on his right hand. Explanation, however, was made that it's been that way since childhood, when he underwent a series of minor operations for blood poisoning in the finger.

ORANGEBURG, N. Y., June 4.—(AP.)—Jack Sharkey's left hand was much in evidence yesterday as the Boston gob went through five rounds of boxing with his sparring partners in preparation for his June 12 battle with Max Schmeling. He weighed 200 pounds after the workout, which included road work, shadow boxing and the usual calisthenics in addition to his five rounds of glove work.

THIRD NO-HIT GAME

MEDIA, Pa., June 4.—(INS.)—Lew Kraines, who has been writing a baseball record all his own as pitcher of the Media High baseball team, today had added to his nine no-hit, no-run performances of the season. He beat Chesterbrook high yesterday, 6 to 0, fanning 11 batsmen. It was his twelfth struggle with not his eighth shutout this year. Kraines [illegible] Athletics in a few weeks.

AKMONT STAR WINS W. G. A. TOURNEY

BY VERN SWARTSFAGER

Mid-summer weather prevails and golf is thriving in true fashion. Today the Women's Golf League of the Women's Golf Association of Western Pennsylvania is again at play—the eight clubs in Section I are competing at the Stanton Heights Golf Club beginning at 10:30 o'clock this morning with the home club battling against Chartiers Valley. Oakmont started its match with Shannopin at 11 o'clock. Edgewood and the Pittsburgh Field Club opened competition at 9 and at Avon Kingsley and Chapel teed off.

The golf events slip on tomorrow's program. Section II of the Women's Golf Association team matches will stage the weekly assemblage at the Longue Vue Club while at the Brackenridge Heights Country Club the home team will battle a team from the Kittanning Club in the former club's annual competition.

Longue Vue tomorrow the Country Club of Pittsburgh plays host to some club tomorrow at 10:30 o'clock. South Hills meets Westmoreland and at 11:30 Aroona will play St. Clair.

The miniature nine-hole golf course at Sandrift Inn, Fox Chapel and Freeport roads is being a real mecca for local golfers. Manager Fred Sanders announces.

Professional Fred Ormerella is planning a number of tournaments to be held both on the golf course and the driving range.

Yesterday the Women's Golf Association staged a tourney at Oakland. Scoring an 86-5-80 Jeannette Hunter of Oakmont led the field in the first division. Miss Hunter shot excellent golf and finished six strokes ahead of her closest rival, Mrs. J. Riley, who turned in a gross score which with a handicap of 16 gave her a 90.

In the second division Mrs. J. Kinnear, Country Club; Mrs. H. Allen, Aroona and Mrs. S. Galston of St. Clair tied for honors with 79's.

The course record at Aroona was broken by Dr. W. H. K. McDiarmid who traipsed over the 18 holes and turned in the splendid score of 34-33—67. His card and par figures for the course follow:

Par	5	3	4	4	5	4	4	4	—36
McDiarmid	5	3	5	4	5	4	4	4	—34
Par	4	5	4	3	4	4	4	4	—36—72

HERB DRURY — POSTAGE DUE

If you've wondered what our hockey players do during the off season, here's Herb Drury, Pirate ice star, gone completely to the dogs. He's in charge of concessions and construction at the Bridgeville greyhound track and the thoroughbred he is holding is one of the best there. In fact, it meets Tompay for the track title in the eighth race on tonight's card.

Y Doubles Play Carded Tonight

The doubles play of the Downtown Y M C A handball tourney will begin tonight at 6 o'clock. Emmert and Sutleth will play Hinkel and Tolman and Keth and Snyder will play Myers and Debberthine at 6 o'clock. McNary and Hemming will play Pfenninger and Knobrk and Burke and Stevenson will play Davies and Jones at 7 o'clock.

The semi-final also will be played tonight with the finals tomorrow.

Frances Williams Leads in Golf Play

BROOKLINE, Mass., June 4.—(INS)—Miss Frances Williams, 16-year-old girl from the Brookside Golf Club of Pottstown, Pa., enjoyed a three-stroke lead over her nearest competitor when play was resumed in the Women's Eastern golf championship here today. Mrs. J. L. Anderson, of Cherry Valley, L. I., was runner-up with 176. The leader's 84 of yesterday was the best score turned in to date.

DERBY VICTORS, CHAMPS TO VIE TONIGHT

Derby winners from Chicago and a pair of champions engaged in the defense of their racing laurels will feature tonight's programs at the New Kensington and Bridgeville greyhound racing tracks.

At Bridgeville Postage Due, a fawn dog by Flint Rock and Kashmir Kuddle, from the O. B. Smith kennels and Tompay, from the George Demma kennels, champions both, will meet in the eighth race for the meet championship. Postage Due won the Inaugural handicap on opening night and also took the Memorial Day feature the Memorial handicap. Tompay twice a victor set a new mark for the five-sixteenth distance Monday.

At New Kensington, Silk Legs and Mister Concern, winners of Chicago derbies, will run in the seventh race at New Kensington.

Last night at Bridgeville close finishes featured the races, the second, third, fifth and sixth races being extraordinarily close.

Bootlegger won the feature race at New Kensington, defeating a pair of stars in Allen and Damon Runyon.

SCOTTIES STAGE TRIPLE PLAY; JAYS WIN

A triple play engineered by Roth, second baseman, and Garee, first base guardian, featured the Jeannette-Scottdale game in the Mid-Atlantic League at Jeannette yesterday which while staged by Scottdale, did not prevent Jeannette from winning, 10 to 9. A seven-run rally in the ninth inning brought the victory.

At Wheeling, Cumberland defeated the Stogies, 6 to 4. Charleroi won over Fairmont at Fairmont by a 6 to 3 count, scoring thrice in the eighth inning to do. Johnstown maintained its hold on first place by defeating Clarksburg 5 to 1.

Huge Events to Come After Tide Water Oil Deal

By B. C. FORBES

I UNDERSTAND THERE is big news lying behind the purchase by Tidewater Associated Oil Company executives of the 1,076,123 shares of its common stock held by Standard Oil of New Jersey.

This is preliminary to a series of mergers of the first magnitude. These proposed consolidations have not yet, however, been signed and sealed. They will embrace more than two nationally-known oil companies, and may embrace also the Prairie Pipe Line.

TIDEWATER BUILT the first pipe line from the Pennsylvania oil fields (Bradford) to the seaboard, at Bayonne, N. J. The venture was headed by B. D. Benson and David McKelvie, father of the present Vice President McKelvie of Tidewater Associated. That was 52 years ago. To bring oil over the mountains was then considered quite a feat. The original investment was $600,000, a large sum in those days when the oil industry was not a wholesale producer of millionaires.

John D. Rockefeller and his associates in Standard Oil of New Jersey tried very hard to get control of the pipe line in 1883. The fight was conducted in court—and on at least one occasion out of court, with bare fists. The best that Standard Oil could do was to get hold of 40 per cent of the stock. This stock it held on to until now. The million-odd shares constituted only about 20 per cent after the Tidewater merger with Associated Oil.

UNDER WALTER C. TEAGLE'S regime at 26 Broadway, the relations between Standard Oil and Tidewater have been very friendly. Axtell J. Byles, president of Tidewater Associated, and Teagle have all along been close friends. But ownership by Standard Oil of 20 per cent of a competitor's stock became a somewhat awkward arrangement, especially in view of gigantic consolidations contemplated by both Standard and Tidewater. In addition to competition between Tidewater and Standard of New Jersey, there is competition between Associated Oil and Standard Oil of California.

Should no legal obstacles be injected, Teagle's Standard Oil of New Jersey and Kenneth R. Kingsbury's Standard Oil of California would, it is understood, join forces to create an all-American oil enterprise of sufficient power and scope to compete more effectively with the European-owned Shell international network of aggressive companies.

WHEN TIDEWATER and Associated combined forces four years ago under the presidency of Mr. Byles, I wrote in this column:

"My prediction is that Axtell J. Byles will go still farther in the oil industry."

That prediction is about to be fulfilled in a large way. Developments now in progress promise to bring him to the very front rank among American oil giants.

He is not yet 50

HE HAD THE ADVANTAGE of being born at Titusville, Pa., the nursery of oil men, and of having a father who was an attorney for various oil and gas companies. He had the advantage, too, of a Princeton degree and also of a legal degree, as well as the advantage of a stocky, broadshouldered body almost as powerful as the Herculean Teagle's. Axtell followed in his father's footsteps and became interested in oil cases and the oil business. He paralleled the careers of Judge Gary and Owen D. Young by rising from counsel to the chief executiveship of the company he became chiefly associated with, Tidewater Oil.

"The success of an enterprise depends upon getting the right man into the right place," Mr. Byles remarked to me after being prodded into giving his first interview—and, so far as I know, the only one he has ever given. "I was lucky in having a legal training, for a lawyer has ideal opportunities to analyze human qualities. He is inquisitive by training and perhaps by nature. He questions, he studies, he appraises. The lawyer must get the facts—all the facts—first and reach his conclusions afterwards. The business man should do the same thing.

"I was lucky, too, in joining a fine, old company just when the founders and upbuilders were ready to lighten their load. They were looking around for a young man, and they happened to pick me. The oil business is a game for young men. The pace is swift and calls for long, hard hours. We had a gathering of 65 of our executives and the records revealed that their average age was 35. If Tidewater has made and is making some progress 90 per cent is due to the men associated with me.

"The watchword of this organization is 'study.' We first get the facts, then we study them through and through before we act."

ONE OUTSTANDING characteristic of Mr. Byles, so to speak, is the white heat loyalty of his associates. Said one of them, "there isn't one among us who wouldn't fight at the drop of the hat for him."

From all I hear, their chief will by and by open up for them opportunities for fighting for much "bigger 'n better" business.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, June 4.—The bond section of the New York Stock Exchange was quiet today. Trading was desultory with the volume reduced. Domestic bonds showed no disposition to free themselves from the lethargy evidenced this week, and prices moved irregularly with a slight tendency to turn reactionary.

NEW YORK, June 4.—(A.P.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted (if sales occurred in United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

BEARS CHECKED, STOCKS TURN UPWARD

Gains of Point or Two Common in Important Shares, Some Go Higher

NEW YORK, June 4—(AP.)—Indications of a stiffening of steel prices appearing today quickly checked the bear drive in the stock market, which was intensified yesterday by the report of a sharp curtailment of production by U. S. Steel. [illegible] during the first few hours of trading, but the market [illegible] and gains of a point or two were common among [illegible] shares by afternoon. A few specialties made wider [illegible].

The weekly steel and trade reviews, while [illegible] increasing [illegible] until about August, were distinctly more cheerful than they were a week ago. Ore is reported to be advancing [illegible] heavy [illegible] Pittsburgh as a forerunner for the first time since [illegible]. Iron Trade Review said a [illegible] iron prices at Cleveland was more than offset by [illegible] in semi-finished steel at Cleveland, Pittsburgh and Youngstown. This put [illegible] price index for iron and steel showed a gain for the first time since December.

COMMODITIES UNSETTLED

The commodity situation remained unsettled and confusing, however, and tended to check any marked revival of speculative activity. Several sugar refiners cut their prices 1-5 of a cent [illegible] the second time in a fortnight, bringing the price down to 4 cents a pound, the lowest in 10 years. Another large sugar producer, Punta Alegre, went into receivership. The silver market remained demoralized, with consequent unsettlement of Far Eastern trade and the cotton markets.

Oils developed notable strength, reflecting the American Petroleum Institute's figures showing a substantial decline in stocks of gasoline last week and rumors of impending increase in gasoline prices. Also several mergers of oil companies are understood to be in the negotiation stage. The crude production problem, however, continues to cause some uneasiness, crude output last week showing a moderate gain.

The motor shares were firm reflecting trade reports indicating that output will be maintained at a fair rate during June. Most manufacturers are curtailing output. But the curtailment is moderate among the larger producers. Ford Motor has scheduled 180,000 units for June, 10,000 less than May. Chrysler reported May shipments as the largest of the year, and 74 per cent of those of May, 1929. Aviation Shares, however, continued unsettled.

REACHES NEW LOW

Curtiss-Wright "A" reached another new low to the accompaniment of bearish rumors regarding the company's affairs. The management stated, however, that while conditions do not promise profitable operations for the industry in the near future, the company's financial position is strong.

McKeesport again penetrated new 1930 high ground, reflecting unofficial estimates of 1930 earnings of about $10 a share. Case jumped more than 10 points in short covering and Air Reduction, National Cash Register and Foster Wheeler made substantial gains, shares gaining a point or two included United States Steel, Standard of New Jersey, American Can, General Electric, General Motors, Chrysler, Fox, Loews, Sinclair, Freeport Texas and Eastman.

NEW OFFERINGS

New securities offered today include Electric Bond and Share Company, 200,000 shares of cumulative $5 preferred stock, priced at $91.50 a share and accrued dividends to yield 5.45 per cent, by Bonbright & Co., Inc.

Hudson River Regulating District, $2,790,000 4.70 per cent bonds at prices, according to maturity, to yield 4.40 per cent, by Guaranty Company and syndicate.

State of Maryland, $2,245,000 4½ per cent bonds, priced to yield 4.05 per cent, by Wallace Sanderson & Co.

Railroad Payrolls Gain During March

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Class one steam railroads in March had 1,546,663 employes, whose wages totaled $227,066,435 as contrasted with 1,544,317 men and wages at $213,198,615 the previous month and 1,628,388 employes who received $214,149,777 total compensation in March, 1929, the Interstate Commerce Commission states.

Eastern Refiners Cut Sugar Prices

The principal eastern sugar refining companies today announced reductions of 20 points in the price of the commodity, making the present quotation 4.50c a pound.

This is the second 20-point cut in the price in two weeks.

CORPORATE EARNINGS

International Telephone and Telegraph Company reports 1929 net income of $17,732,158, equal to $3.03 a share on 5,854,984 shares on common outstanding at the end of the year. This compares with 1928 net of $14,596,336, or $3.42 each on 4,268,355 shares, the equivalent of the old stock.

Johnson Motor Company reports for six months ended March 31, 1930, net sales of $2,636,974, and profit of $267,131 before federal taxes. These results are not directly comparable with the first half of preceding year, owing to the fact that the entire distribution system of the company's products has been changed.

Lee Rubber and Tire Corporation for six months ended April 30, 1930, shows net loss, after $61,614 depreciation and charges. This compares with net profit in six months ended April 30, 1929, of $227,270, equal to 76 cents a share on 300,000 no par shares of stock.

Venezuelan Oil Concessions, Ltd., reports for year ended December 31, 1929, net profit of £1,085,665, after depreciation, drilling, field and office expenses, against profit of £1,206,430 in 1928.

Glidden Company in six months ended April 30, 1930, earned 30 cents a share on 600,068 common shares, as against $1.75 a share on 597,753 shares in the first six months of the preceding fiscal year.

American Water Works and Electric Company reports for 12 months ended April 30, net income of $7,818,751, after taxes, charges, depreciation, depletion, subsidiary dividends, etc., equal to $3.90 a share earned on 1,698,511 common shares, and compares with net income of $6,905,807 in the previous 12 months, or $5.52 a share on 1,467,900 shares.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, June 4.—Curb trading was spotty in a more active market today. Operations failed to develop much of a trend after moderate early selling had been absorbed, although the oils found considerable support and a few specialties moved forward rather vigorously. The utilities were dull.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list).

CARBIDE PLANS PROGRESSING STEADILY

Domestic Power Program And European Work Going Ahead Despite Trade Lull

NEW YORK, June 4 — Union Carbide and Carbon Corporation is carrying forward plans for constructing dams and power plants to utilize a large portion of its extensive undeveloped water power both here and in Europe. When completed the additional power will be consumed in the new chemical and metallurgical plants that are a part of the three-year major development program for which funds were provided by the sale of $53,000,000 common stock last fall.

Contracts have been let for the power development at Hawks Nest on the New River in West Virginia. Camps are being built and railroad spurs and tunnel work is under way. This project will develop an average of about 80,000 horse power.

WEST VIRGINIA PLANT

A new steam power plant which will develop about 60,000 horsepower, also is being erected in West Virginia adjacent to a large coal mine which Union Carbide recently bought. Coal can be mined there cheaply and carried directly to the plant on conveyors, thus reducing the cost of power production.

Work on the new development in Norway is progressing steadily. An additional 60,000 horsepower is being made available in Sauda for the increased production of carbide and ferro alloys, which will strengthen the company's position as one of the most important producers of those products in the world. About 47,000 horsepower is now in use in Norway, so that the new development will bring the total to over 100,000 horsepower.

TO SPEND $15,000,000.

All work both here and abroad is going ahead on schedule, and there has been no hesitation on account of the present let down in world wide business.

Present plans, which have been approved by the directors, call for the expenditure of about $15,000,000 or $16,000,000 of the $53,000,000 total new funds. Appropriations already have been made for an important addition to the metallurgical plant in West Virginia, but contracts have not been let.

The widely diversified business of Union Carbide and Carbon is holding up well considering the general depression.

GAINS IN STEEL TRADE LOOM

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 4.—District iron and steel makers believe from present indications that operations will average higher the last six months of 1930 than the first half, and that employment will be more regular for a larger number of men.

This view was expressed by Frank Purnell, president of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company, prompted by the heavy volume of steel pipe tonnage being released throughout the country.

Purnell states the company has enough line pipe business on its books and in prospect to insure operations in the tube mills throughout the summer and late into the fall.

The Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company, how has a total capacity of 1,000,000 tons of steel pipe per year, divided as follows: 200,000 tons of seamless tubing, 300,000 tons of buttweld, small-diameter pipe and 500,000 tons of lapwelded.

In addition, the company is preparing to install machinery for manufacture of pipe by the electric welding induction process.

Webster Eisenlohr Passes Preferred

NEW YORK, June 4.—Webster Eisenlohr, Inc., has omitted the quarterly dividend of $1.75 on the preferred stock, due to be paid July 1.

A special meeting of stockholders has been called for September 2, to vote on exchanging the present $25 par common stock for a no par issue on a share-for-share basis, reducing the stated capital applicable to common stock to $1 a share.

A. P. I. Oil Figures Gain During Week

NEW YORK, June 4.—The daily average gross crude oil production in the United States increased 29,950 barrels for the week ended May 31, totaling 2,609,450 barrels, according to the weekly summary of the American Petroleum Institute. The daily average production cost of California was 2,004,350 barrels, an increase of 43,550 barrels.

Procter & Gamble Buy Kirk Company

CINCINNATI, June 4.—(AP.)—Officials of the Procter and Gamble Company, Cincinnati, announced that plans had been consummated for acquiring the assets of the James S. Kirk & Co., soap manufacturers, Chicago. The purchase price was not disclosed.

The James S. Kirk & Co. was established in 1839. Its stock is held almost exclusively by members of the Kirk family.

J. H. Holmes & Co. Gets Crafton Bonds

Crafton Borough Council last night awarded $35,000 tax free 4¼ per cent improvement bonds to J. H. Holmes & Co. The bonds are being re-offered on a 4.10 per cent yield basis.

Wall Street Hears That General Electric Will Pay Extra Dividend.

General Electric directors are scheduled to meet shortly for action on the quarterly common dividend. Ordinarily such action is taken on the first Friday of the month, so that if the usual course is followed the board will meet in a few days. Report is current along Wall street that directors might consider the advisability of paying a small extra dividend at this time. The present stock, which represents a split-up of the old stock on a 4-for-1 basis early this year, was placed on a regular $1.60 annual dividend basis in February. Earnings for the first quarter, equivalent to 50 cents a share, left a small margin over dividend requirements of 40 cents for the period. This would hardly suggest anything in the way of an extra, but then it may be recalled that General Electric is among those corporations oftentimes remarked for their conservative bookkeeping methods.

Becoming weary of trying for a profit on the side of the rise, traders apparently determined to revert to the old order of following the line of least resistance as it developed yesterday. In consequence, when it was found that stocks were not making any progress through the forenoon, professional operators turned to the opposite side, and selling was in order going into the final hour. Experienced observers keeping close watch on the market, were leaning to the opinion that the market might be forced to again test the low levels of the present trading area, recorded about a month ago, before anything in the way of a sustained upward movement might be expected to get under way.

In line with expectations, the monthly compilation of the Bureau of Mines, setting forth the total stocks of crude and refined petroleum products on hand as of the end of April, showed the total to have been reduced during the month. The decrease, amounting to about 2,100,000 barrels, was, however, considerably less than had been anticipated. Gasoline output of refineries was smaller than in March, but exceeded that of April last year. Consumption during the month, however, showed the usual expansion, and left stocks on hand equal to about 41 days' supply, as against 46 days' supply at the end of March. At the end of April, 1929, however, gasoline stocks on hand were equivalent to only 38 days' supply.

The further sharp expansion in loans against securities, bringing the total increase in the past fortnight to $175,000,000 proved the outstanding change in the consolidated condition statement of member banks reporting to the Federal Reserve. This increase in institutional loans against security collateral contrasts with the increase of but $10,000,000 shown in brokers' loans in the same period, giving rise to the belief that new issues may again be backing up in dealers' hands. The total of such loans is now $1,309,000,000 greater than at this time last year. Other borrowings, principally of commercial character, contracted $68,000,000 and are roughly $675,000,000 under a year ago.

Commercial borrowings, as revealed in the consolidated bank statement, are now the smallest since February of 1926, standing at an aggregate of $8,416,000,000. The steady shrinkage in the total of such borrowings as against the progressive rise in collateral borrowings reported by member banks has brought the suggestion that perhaps methods of corporation borrowings are undergoing a change of at least temporary character. Many corporations last year raised huge amounts of new capital, which was employed in the money market during the period of highest interest rates. Later much of it went into securities when the money market collapsed with the break in stocks. It is believed by some that the steady rise in security loans now may possibly reflect the move by corporations toward borrowing against such collateral rather than through the medium of direct bank loans.

Pressure from the bears has been comparatively negligible at times recently, but market students will not admit that the pessimistic group has stepped aside for good. They say that the bears are biding their time until the market again has difficulty in moving ahead moderately, when selling against individual issues with a view to unsettling the general list again will be undertaken, they predict. The bear traders usually seek weak spots and air pockets. When they are uncovered, they press other issues.

Irving Air Chute Suit Is Dismissed

WILMINGTON, Del., June 4.—Federal Judge Morris today dismissed the patent infringement suit of the Irving Air Chute Company and Floyd Smith Aerial Equipment Company against the Russell Parachute Company.

Three patents relating to parachute packs were involved. All are owned by the Floyd Smith Aerial Equipment Company, and the Irving Air Chute Company is exclusive licensee under the patents.

The court held that the patents had not been infringed.

Kansas City Bank Plans Deferred

CHICAGO, June 4.—Efforts of a bondholders' committee to bring about the reorganization of the defunct Kansas City Joint Stock Land Bank were temporarily deferred at the close of yesterday's meeting, W. Edwin Stanley, committee member, said. The project has been tabled for at least 30 days, he said.

Weakness Continues in Steel Prices

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

LOWER STEEL PRICES will prevail in the third quarter than in the second quarter. This has become apparent from the action of the steel market recently. The price shading tactics which have characterized the selling policies of many steel companies since last fall are being continued except in a few lines.

Some attempt may be made to advance prices during the present month, but this will have little effect during the next quarter, since customers will be allowed to place contracts at the present levels, following the industry's usual practice.

Further concessions have been made recently in the heavier types of steel. Plates and shapes have been quoted at 1.70 to 1.75 cents a hundred pounds for several weeks. A short time ago the minimum price for bars was $1 a ton above plates and shapes but concessions have recently been reported which bring this type of steel down to the level of the other two products.

Lowest Since 1912

SHEET PRICES APPEAR to have been pegged but the current quotations are the lowest in many years. The sales manager of a leading maker of sheets said yesterday that quotations on sheets are at the lowest point since 1912 in comparison to costs. He pointed to the fact that this price cutting has taken place in spite of only a moderate decline in steel demand.

His company's shipments in the first five months of this year were about 85 per cent of the average shipments of the corresponding months of the past three years. They were 74 per cent of the shipments in the corresponding months of last year which established a record for the industry.

Tin Plate Active

ONLY ONE BRANCH of the steel trade appears to have escaped the depression. Tin plate is being produced in a volume only slightly below last year and prices have been well maintained. The largest maker of tin plate has shipped only 8 per cent less tonnage than last year. An executive of one of the largest can companies recently predicted that this year's consumption of tin plate by his organization would be fully as great as last year which was close to a high record.

The demand for tin plate for cans for packing foods is not affected by general conditions in the steel trade. The buying of tin plate for general line cans used in packing other products has been reduced to some extent but this is the smaller portion of the business. The only curtailment which has taken place in demand for tin plate has come from the makers of cans used by the paint industry and lines affected by similar conditions.

The tin plate makers are being benefited by extremely low prices for pig tin as well as for semi-finished steel. These products are the tin plate industry's two raw materials.

Improvement in September

THIS IS NOT THE TIME of the year to expect any continued improvement in the steel trade, an executive of one company said yesterday. We are now in a season which normally shows a decline. The automobile makers within the next month will have passed their peak period of production. Other lines will also be quiet due to vacations.

He predicted a sharp revival in demand for steel early in September. The current price situation indicates that steel mill earnings will be at unsatisfactory levels until the final quarter of this year after which continued improvement may be expected.

STEEL OUTPUT SAGS LOWER

NEW YORK, June 4.—The Iron Age in its weekly summary of the iron and steel trade tomorrow will say:

Pig iron production in May was 3,232,760 tons, or 104,283 tons a day, compared with 3,181,868 tons or 106,062 tons a day in April. The decline of 1,779 tons, or 1.7 per cent in the daily average was not unexpected in view of the recent trend of steel output and current indications of a seasonal contraction in demand.

A net loss of three active blast furnaces, seven having been put out as against four lighted, is corroborative evidence that operations are in a downswing, though obviously not a sharp one.

The fact that the month's output was the smallest for any May since 1928 and production for the first five months was 14½ per cent below the performance for the corresponding period in 1929 suggests the possibility that the summer recession may not be severe.

Although present market conditions seem to offer little hope for any slackening in the downward tendency of production before August or September, heavy melting steel scrap at Pittsburgh, always regarded as an important barometer, has made the first upturn since the middle of February, advancing 50 cents a ton.

To this good omen may be added the observation that finished steel prices, although still weak, are steadier than a week or two ago and steel ingot output averages 72 per cent for the country at large, a decline of only one point from the 73 per cent rate of a week ago.

Contined expansion of pipe line business, the placing of additional ship steel and a large volume of reinforcing bar business are the bright spots in the current market situation.

Among the minor outlets for steel, the radio industry shows signs of taking a turn for the better after having been virtually idle since the first of the year.

Automobile output appears to have passed its peak. Steel specifications from both the railroads and the railroad equipment builders are steadily diminishing. The automotive industry continues to press for additional concessions in steel prices, but the past week has brought out no further open breaks in the market.

Believe It Or Not!

Sister Nowhere is Pittsburgh Can You Buy Such HIGH G

DAILY TRUE STORY

The Destructive Note

Pasquale Marino grimly clipped away at the fat man's hair and said no word.

This was unusual for Pasquale, most loquacious of all the 10 barbers in the Elite Tonsorial Parlors.

But matters were unusual with Pasquale. There were no more sunlight and gaiety and music and wine for him—at least that was his belief.

Pasquale had left a pretty little girl back in Tuscany, the true Tuscan type. He had proceeded to save money against that day when he would bring her over and set up his lares and penates in more or less free America.

Then he had met Maria Cannuta!

Maria wasn't at all like beautiful Odilla, his girl in Tuscany. Maria was brunet, the raven-black haired type with great bovine eyes, with a full rounded figure which would become obese as she became matronly, although Pasquale didn't think of that.

Maria was so opposite from Odilla, so very wonderful and voluptuous. Pasquale proceeded to save more and more money and to pay ardent court to Maria.

Maria thrived on having ardent court paid to her. At least half a dozen of her countrymen had the same yearning as Pasquale in regard to Maria. They ardently desired to marry her.

Maria said to all of them: "Perhaps — who could know now? When I am ready to marry I shall know—most likely it will be you."

This gave each of the half dozen wooers the right to hope and to believe that he, alone, would be the successful one.

That was before young Luigi Poletti came down on that street to manage a branch of his father's bank—one of those small but solid, helpful little institutions.

Pasquale Was There

Luigi dressed as a budding young banker and son of a banker should dress. He drove an attractive little car, he had a kind word and a smile for every depositor, and an uncanny method of getting gilt-edge security on all loans. He would go far, his proud father believed, and with reason.

Luigi also had an eye for Maria Cannuta. Her dark voluptuous beauty, her great, soft bovine eyes—he thought of Madonnas and a home and he set himself arduously to woo and to win Maria.

It was not difficult.

What girl of any sense would disdain the attentions of a handsome young man who was already a successful banker?

Not Maria.

It was a great wedding.

Papa Poletti gave son an appropriate wedding present, a neat little three-story granite and brick dwelling down in that district.

But there were six disconsolate young men. Among them our friend Pasquale, the barber.

To be sure, there was still the petite little Odilla back in Tuscany who sent occasional letters to Pasquale and dreamed her dreams. Pasquale hadn't been altogether a fool; he had not released Odilla, nor had he intended to do so until he was sure of Maria.

Nevertheless, Pasquale was vengeful. He was bitter, bitter against Maria, who let a foppish young man carry her away because he was better equipped with worldly goos — b i t t e r against Luigi because he had cut in so suddenly and, without effort, won the buxom Maria.

Pasquale was not alone vengeful among the losing suitors. There was Tony Grach, at least that was the queer name he used. Tony had also ardently wooed Maria. Now he was bitter, very bitter, and swore dark oaths and muttered about revenge, quite as though Maria had no right to refuse him and Luigi had no right to exist.

Pasquale wrote more ardent letters to the little girl in Tuscany and remained grouchy and bitter. He worked harder than ever in the Elite Tonsorial Parlor. He would soon have enough money to go back to Odilla, where one could live like a nabob on an income that wouldn't half suffice in this land of freedom and growing rents and bootleg hooch. He wouldn't live in the same country with Maria!

All About Sound Waves

But he wished he could get a little revenge. He wished he could make Maria sorry she had thrown him down—make Luigi regret that he had stolen Maria. How to do it he didn't know.

Most of the time Pasquale sat in his room and played sad crooning melodies on his violin. He wasn't a finished musician. He could garner more wealth with razor and scissors than with violin and bow, but he loved to play, nevertheless.

Now and then Pasquale would go to a picture, always on the night when they added five acts of vaudeville to the bill. Pasquale was frugal that way. Why not get the most for his money?

One night he witnessed an unusual act. A man imitated bird songs, he made fires before your eyes by rubbing sticks and, most wonderful of all, he could make objects jiggle and tip over or tremble just by striking the right note. With a queer bow and one-stringed instument he even caused a piece of glass to shatter.

It wasn't trickery.

The man explained. He did it in such a clear manner that everybody understood. He told about sound waves. He told why soldiers break step crossing bridge so that the rhythm of their feet wouldn't cause the bridge to fail.

"There is a right note, a destructive note for everything," the man said. "Just strike the note attuned in vibrations to any object, however great, and it can be made to shatter and fall; even the tallest skyscraper could be made to crash down at the continued sound of the correctly pitched note—through vibration."

Pasquale was interested and impressed.

He thought of this all next evening as he sat in his room by the window and played soft crooning music to himself.

He set up a thin glass tumbler and tried to make notes that would cause the glass to ring as the vaudeville man had done.

"Suppose," he muttered, "I accidentally hit a note and that building across the street came tumbling down—"

He sat and stared out of the window, weird thoughts filling his mind.

Suppose he, Pasquale, sat here playing; suppose he struck just the right destructive note!

Suppose the three-story granite and brick abode of Luigi and his bride came tumbling down about their heads!

Rents Room

Pasquale paced the floor for hours.

Next day he took an extra hour off at noon. He went down the street where dwelt Luigi Poletti and bride. He sought a room. The gods of revenge were with him! There was a room to be had right across the street from the Poletti home!

Pasquale engaged the room. What if it cost a little more than his present quarters? One must pay something for the joy of vengeance.

Night after night Pasquale Marino sat by the open window in his new room, staring out across the street where dwelt Maria and her husband, Luigi.

He saw them come and go in the shiny little car. He saw them entertain. He saw, very late, the last light snap out in the front room upstairs where they slept. He gritted his teeth and sought new notes.

Somewhere there would be the right note—the destructive note. It would send its vibration across the street from his open window and it would bring down the house of Luigi and Maria.

Pasquale worked more assiduously than ever. His bank account was growing. It was not in the Poletti bank, however—he would give them no benefit of the use of his money. It was in a bank that was open until midnight. That was sensible; he could get his money any time, and occasion might demand a quick withdrawal and flight.

In Tuscany, where the vineyards were beginning to yield their fruits Odilla went about singing, for was she not assured that her beloved Pasquale now had almost all the money necessary? Soon he would return; they would buy the little villa on the hill with the vineyards sloping down.

Meanwhile he sawed away softly on his violin, night after night, at the open window.

Pasquale would watch the Poletti love nest—he would eye it keenly after each new note, to see if it would sway. He might get almost the right note and cause the building to sway. Or he might strike it exactly right and send it tottering down, just as the vaudeville man caused a toy structure to fall from the vibration of a note.

Leaves Country

If one had told him, he never would have believed it. But what he saw he knew. It wasn't foolishness at all; it was a chance for a weird and most satisfactory vengeance.

One night it was humid and black, with low thunder clouds overhead. The hour was between 10 and 11. The street was quiet.

Pasquale fiddled softly, carefully, hopefully.

He found a new and weird note—sort of doubly rasping and uncanny. Holding his fingers firmly he brought the bow [illegible] with force.

There was a muffled sound across the street!

Instantly Pasquale repeated this note.

The muffled sound developed into a rumble, and some screams, and part of the front of the Poletti house fell into the street with a crash!

Pasquale picked up a suit case, packed these many months. He hurried down the back way, across a yard through a provision store and on to the bank where his money was. He drew out his money and hurried to the speakeasy of a friend, Dominick.

"Hide me until the boat sails," he said.

"Sure," said Dominick, who asked no questions and only wondered mildly who it was Pasquale might have stabbed.

The next night, thanks to Dominick's help, Pasquale was aboard a liner, to sail next noon.

Two days out he emerged from his little second class stateroom and walked the deck with a broad smile!

Back in the Elite tonsorial parlor the boss wondered about two things, first, the mysterious disappearance of Pasquale Marino, and secondly about this item he read in the papers:

"Tony Grech confessed to setting off the bomb that wrecked the home of the young banker, Luigi Poletti, but would give no reasons. As he was not even a depositor in the Poletti bank, his bomb outrage is a mystery."

Treaty Tends to Weaken Sea Commerce Protection

Not only does the London naval treaty abandon the naval ratios agreed to by the United States, Great Britain and Japan at the Washington conference and the whole American position vigorously upheld by President Coolidge at the Geneva conference, IT ALSO SURRENDERS AN AMERICAN NAVAL POLICY PURSUED BY THE AMERICAN PEOPLE SINCE THE DAYS OF WASHINGTON.

This sensational revelation was made to the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations by Capt. Dudley W. Knox, U. S. N. (retired), a naval authority of high standing who has examined all the secret papers bearing upon both the Washington and Geneva conferences.

Until the London conference, all the Presidents and Congresses of the United States, in the upbuilding of the Navy, have assumed that ITS PRIMARY FUNCTION WAS THE PROTECTION OF AMERICAN SEA-BORNE COMMERCE.

This fundamental position, as Capt. Knox informed the committee, "DATES BACK TO THE MESSAGES OF PRESIDENT WASHINGTON URGING THE CREATION OF A NAVY IN 1796."

And this position formed the basis of the American attitude at the Geneva conference of 1927 called by President Coolidge.

It was the dispute over this question of commerce protection which wrecked the Geneva conference.

At that conference the American delegation, under instructions from President Coolidge, insisted that because the United States was so deficient in overseas bases and in merchant ships suitable for conversion into auxiliary cruisers, "SHE WAS EQUITABLY ENTITLED TO FREEDOM OF CHOICE AS TO THE TYPE OF CRUISER SHE SHOULD BUILD, within the maximum limits of individual tonnage and caliber of guns as fixed by the treaty of Washington."

These limitations are cruisers of 10,000 tons displacement and a gun caliber of eight-inch.

But the final instructions of the British cabinet to their delegation at Geneva were to accept no compromise on the eight-inch gun question. And that refusal wrecked the conference.

By the terms of the London treaty, President Hoover has surrendered the vital principle which President Coolidge refused to surrender at Geneva, and has entered into a treaty which restricts the naval ability of the United States to protect its commerce.

The London treaty minimizes the commerce-protection function of the American Navy in favor of the combat strength of the concentrated fleet itself.

At London the American delegation gave up the demand of the United States for a Navy second to none and contented itself with seeking merely a Navy equal in combat strength of the concentrated fleet itself to that of any other fleet.

"The doctrine which contends for a sacrifice of commerce protecting power in the interest of fleet combat strength," as Capt. Knox points out, "obviously minimizes the importance of the national economic life, which is so dependent upon the freedom of sea communication."

Upon what possible ground can the United States Senate ratify a treaty which impairs the ability of its Navy to protect the sea-borne commerce of this country WHICH NOW APPROXIMATES IN VALUE THE TOTAL NATIONAL DEBT OF THE UNITED STATES?

If every President from George Washington to Calvin Coolidge has insisted that the protection of American sea-borne commerce is the primary function of the American Navy, what reasons can President Hoover give for crippling the ability of the American Navy to perform this function?

Surgery on the Amazon

"Barbarous," but Effective.

Llewellyn Williams, leader of the Peruvian division of the Marshall Field expedition to the Amazon, returned to Chicago recently with a story that makes you wonder whether there is anything new under the sun. The primitive Indian tribes dwelling along the headwater of the Amazon have perfected a system of surgery that suits them as well as a modern hospital practice suits us.

"The natives of this region show great originality and dexterity in the treatment of wounds and illness," Mr. Williams reports. "Trees, shrubs and plants with medicinal properties are widely employed, and a surgical handicraft in which certain insects are used has been developed.

"In the case of a gaping wound, a certain ant which has very powerful jaws is sought, and the insect is made to bite the severed edges of the cut skin. In the operation the ant surgeon loses its own life, for after it has drawn the skin close with its jaws its body is snipped off, and the lifeless head remains until the wound is healed."

The Indians also use ginger as a local anaesthetic and dried banana leaves for bandages. Serious wounds heal in a week, says Mr. Williams.

These methods have been in use in this remote corner of South America for centuries. They are more "modern" than surgical practices in vogue in Europe and this country 50 years ago.

Not all wisdom is confined to the white race, apparently. We give our discoveries elaborate scientific names, however, while the poor Indian probably calls an ant an ant, and lets it go at that. He is hopelessly unprogressive.

Those Quiet Birthdays

They're Always News.

Queen Mary celebrated her sixty-third birthday recently at Buckingham Palace.

Newspapers throughout the civilized world announced that the Queen observed the day "quietly."

The papers never fail to add that word "quietly" when chronicling the birthdays of elderly people. John D. Rockefeller, Sr., spends his birthdays "quietly." Thomas A. Edison does. No doubt Methuselah's nine hundred and ninety-eighth anniversary would be reported in the same manner were he with us today.

The public is always glad to have this point cleared up. Persons of 60 or over usually turn a couple of handsprings, do a flip flop and chin themselves to mark the occasion. When they don't, but spend the day "quietly," it's news.

"Bugs" Baer Says:

A Stranger Butts In

Prohibition agents grabbed a titled Englishman last week. He thought bootlegging was listed among amateur sports.

"Bugs" Baer

Our overgrown Boy Scouts buzz us that he was organizing the neatest rum ring ever presented to a blushing bride.

There is nothing serious about his arrest. All he is charged with is alien precocity and interfering with a family quarrel.

He qualifies by graduating from Oxford, Eton and Cambridge.

And may get a chance to grab a diploma from Atlanta.

When poked by the finger of the law he was wearing a pint monocle on his brightest eye, had quartz-colored spats on and wine-tinted sox.

He was formal to the last degree, including the arrest.

Eton is the sister college of Drinken.

This is not the first titled foreigner who was asked what he thought of our skyline and wound up in the basement.

Count Polignac was tapped on the lapels a year ago. He had been mixing in and with the best families on the avenue. That's where the wets begin.

The idea of the blue-blooded bootlegging was to go about drinking in an aristocratic manner and never to slug a lady with your hat on.

We hope that Sir Thomas Lipton is not a member of this wobbly circle. We know that Tommy's racket is tea in habit-forming quantities.

And you cannot do much with tea. But a man by the name of Edison is working on that matter now.

You are proceeding northward on society when your bootlegger is a real duke. Think of getting an ancestral crest on your bottle and a regal coat-of-arms on your tongue.

This last bird we snared had a list of clients that read like Who's-Hootch.

Most of the best names in society were tabulated in relation to wealth, family and capacity.

We're almost sorry that he was arrested. The old stuff is terrible. So bad that an old experienced dowager took one snifter last spring and fell sideways out of the Easter Sunday parade.

SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING

By Archibald Henderson

It is generally conceded the world over today that if Germany has won the greatest triumphs in pure science in the past, the United States has surpassed all other countries in great feats in engineering. It is the dynamic quality of engineering, the doing of things, the making of structures, which seems peculiarly sympathetic to the American temperament. There is something of the pioneer, the wilderness conqueror, in every American. Recalcitrant nature is the instrumentality for such conquests. America is a nation of nature conquerors.

Recently the deans of American engineering schools have chosen the five greatest engineers of all time. The five chosen were James Watt, Leonardo da Vinci, Thomas A. Edison, James B. Eads and Ferdinand de Lesseps. It is noteworthy that two of the five are Americans. All but da Vinci belong to modern times; but even da Vinci was essentially modern in spirit, and prefigured the new era of science if not of engineering. For engineering is not, strictly speaking, science, however closely related the two may be. Engineering is the economic application of the sciences to the purposes of man in civilization-building.

Engineering, indeed, is comparatively modern. It is said to date as a new profession from about 1750. The essential basis of pure science is thought, reflection, contemplation. The experiments in the laboratory, the mathematical equations, the chemical reaction are but the tangible expressions, the physical operations, guided by the directive thought.

The engineer, on the other hand, is primarily concerned with action. He must put science to work, carry out the principles in practical operation. As Dr. Gano Dunn says: "We do not call the first man to do a thing an engineer because he invented it. It is only when he begins to do it over and over again for the purpose of man that he earns this designation. While the terms inventor and engineer often describe the same man, it is because he combines both functions. He is an engineer when he applies science as an art. An art is something to be done rather than something to be thought. It involves constant repetition. It implies skill gained in repetition. It implies improvements and it implies style."

The great development and enlargement of scientific knowledge in our time have greatly stimulated the correspondingly rapid advance of invention and engineering. The result of this is that we live in a new age, when nothing seems impossible. Television, radio, flying, for example, seem no more wonderful than the Brooklyn Bridge, the Woolworth tower or the Panama Canal. As James Harvey Robinson says: "Thus, while scientific knowledge has not greatly affected the thoughts of most of us, its influence in the promotion of modern invention has served to place us in a new setting or environment, the novel features of which it would be no small task to explain to one's great-great-grandfather, should he unexpectedly apply for up-to-date information.

∴ LISTEN, WORLD ∴

By Elsie Robinson

This modern yawp about Being Oneself in marriage—it can't be done.

You can't Be Yourself in marriage. As a matter of fact, you can't Be Yourself in any department of normal life. From your first gurgle to your last gasp you are inevitably and increasingly part of the world in which you live—part of the people with whom you live.

There is no such thing as perfect self-expression. Everything you do is conditioned by the acts and attitudes of other people, and expresses them as well as you. Every act must be a compromise if you would live harmoniously in a crowded world. Part of the act expresses your desire, part of it expresses the other fellow's desire and part of it expresses the desires and decisions of millions of men long dead.

The only persons who have 100 per cent self-expression are in insane asylums. That's why they're there. They'd raise Cain anywhere else. People who will not, or cannot, co-operate and compromise are as dangerous as wild beasts.

And what is true of life in general is also true of marriage—only more so. This notion that Betsy Brown can be herself after marrying Bill White is pure bunkum. Betsy can and should develop her individuality, and contribute the tang and tempo of that individuality to their ensemble. But she cannot ever again be herself if she is successfully married to Bill.

Betsy ceased being herself the first time she kissed Bill. From that date on, she was a part of Bill and he was a part of her. They were no longer two separate individuals who liked each other. Their lives had merged. Henceforth they were to share each other's gladness and sadness, madness and badness.

That mysterious mingling is marriage. It is the only real marriage. If it doesn't happen to you, then you're not married—and all the churches and licenses in Christendom can't make you one.

Nor are we merely bound by the mysteries in marriage. We are bound quite as firmly by more practical and tangible things. We are bound by grocery bills and rents and neighborhood quarrels and broken screen doors and little Jimmy's tonsils. Such considerations may, and usually do, seem very contemptible to fiery souls longing for self-expression. But just try and do without eating for a while and see how long your soul stays fiery. Dig up your own rent money, lady, and see how much chance you have for self-expression. If a husband cramps your style, what do you suppose a boss would do to you?

If you must be yourself, dig a burrow or get a soap box and proceed to do your stuff—but don't get married. Marriage is team work, or it's nothing at all.

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS.

There was a cop in Chicago that heard an awful loud yelling on his beat at about three o'clock in the morning. He thought it was just another guy that was being taken for a ride, making a little objection, so he didn't want to interfere. But the guy that was hollering so loud gradually came around the corner towards where the cop was standing, and then the cop seen that it wasn't no ride the fellow was taking at all. He'd just come out of a speakeasy, and his face was purple from yelling. "Oh, John and Jerry! Come on here, John and Jerry!"

The cop says, "See here, you can't yell that way in this street at this time in the night. Some strangers are in town, and they want to sleep."

"Yeah, officer," the guy says, real friendly-like, "but them bums in the speakeasy was gettin' rough with me, and I was just calling my two brothers to come an' help me mop up the joint."

"All right, but don't holler so loud."

"But officer, I got to holler loud. My brothers is both in London."

Against Odds

Too seldom honors fall to him who fights
With odds against him through his life's whole day;
He scales no peaks of triumph, and delights
In no proud pageant, cheers and banners gay.
Instead, upon his ears a challenge beats,
A challenge which his soul will not ignore,
Though knowing he is doomed to dire defeats
As over him life's tides of battle pour.

Yet gladly to his heavy toil he goes,
Not with light heart, attuned to merry song;
But as a warrior beset by foes,
As one who knows his labors will be long.
And, strangely, he gains kinship
with the gods,
Who, all his life, must fight against great odds.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

In the hydroid Clava, which normally has the sexes separate, it has been found possible to make hermaphrodite individuals; such will sometimes grow out of cell-debris formed when a male and female individual are ground up and dissociated together.

Artificial reproduction is possible even in land vertebrates, though only in their earliest stages.

H. G. Wells

A fertilized newt's egg, up to the time when it forms definite cell-layers, can be constricted into two parts by a fine hair, and each of the two halves may survive and grow into a whole newt; we can produce artificial twins.

If we could but get at the earliest stage of our own development, doubtless we could equally well persuade a human egg to do at our will what it occasionally does at its own—divide into two and give rise to identical twins.

Sec. 7. A Note on the Regeneration of Lost Parts.

We turn now to a series of phenomena which are not in themselves reproductive but which are very evidently related to the reorganization of detached bits of one individual to form others, which is the essential reproductive process.

It is an all-too-familiar fact that if we lose a limb or even a tooth or finger, we cannot replace it; and all the creatures with whom we have everyday dealings suffer the same limitations.

In fact, Mr. Everyman would be likely to assert that the capacity for regeneration was one of the points which separated animals from plants.

This was firmly believed in the Eighteenth Century; and when Abbe Trembley discovered the little green polyp Hydra, and was at a loss to know whether it was an animal because it moved or a plant because of its being fixed and green and flower-shaped, he used regeneration as a test.

If he cut it in half and it regenerated, it would be a plant; if it did not, it would be an animal. He cut it in half, and both halves regenerated into perfect little wholes. However, common sense prevailed over preconceived theory.

He had seen the Hydra capture living prey, swallow and digest it. He pronounced it an animal, but an animal which could regenerate.

Starting from this discovery, biologists eagerly tested all kinds of creatures for their regenerative capacities, and found that regeneration is by no means a rare or isolated phenomenon in animals, that worms could grow new heads or bodies, lobsters and crabs replace a missing leg or feeler, and even air-breathing vertebrates such as newts regenerate limbs and tail.

Regeneration in action still remains one of the most striking spectacles which biology can offer.

A good-sized lobster loses its claw; and at successive moults we see a little bud of tissue grow on the stump, take shape, become formed into a miniature new claw (still wholly useless for the big creature on which it is growing), and enlarge step by step until the animal is once again completely equipped.

A newt has a leg bitten off; it, too, will bud out a whitish lump from the cut surface, the bud will elongate and constrict itself into joints, bones and muscles will form inside it, and toes sprout out at its end, until the newt has achieved what is impossible to us lords of creation.

It will restore just what was lost, and no more; if only the hand had been bitten off, the bud would turn into a new hand; if the bite was at the shoulder, into a whole new limb.

We take a planarian worm, and cut a small oblong out of its body. The fragment cannot eat, for it has no mouth. And yet it throws out an army of new and active cells on both its new frontiers, and these, dividing and growing and differentiating at the expense of the rest, form themselves into a new head and hinder end.

At first these new parts are too small for the body; and accordingly remodeling goes on not only in these new-produced regions, but in the original fragment as well. They grow, it shrinks; and both they and it change shape, until in place of the original helpless fragment there is a new and well-proportioned little flatworm.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, June 4.—John Ringling, one of the five richest men in America and absolute czar of the circus, is perhaps the least known prominent figure in the land. Save in art galleries where he spends much time, he is rarely recognized by the public. If recognized he is blushingly shy and hurries away.

Ringling now owns practically all the railroad shows in the land—only three or four outside his control amount to anything. He is a brooding, Buddha-like figure—large in effect as well as in mass. His modest sensitivity precludes many intimate friendships, although he likes people.

The circus king rarely goes to bed before four or five in the morning and does his most constructive planning after midnight. He dislikes appointments and will not keep a date he can avoid. Nobody knows his wealth which, besides circuses, includes a network of railroads. He is not in "Who's Who," because he does not answer his mail.

His memory is nothing short of a phenomenon. In talking to him once I mentioned my birthplace Plattsburg, Mo. He instantly recalled the date his show played there years ago, and told of a chariot wheel rolling into the audience. He placed the exact hour of the accident, which I later verified.

This was not an isolated incident. On an instant's notice he can tell you what happened in a given town where the show grounds were, what the receipts were and what railroads were used to reach there. He is also able to give the last census figures for any town in America.

Ringling hates to be photographed and rarely is. He has not answered 10 letters in as many years, and yet he retains a mental picture of every letter sent to him. He does not reveal to closest associates the plans for his show until a few weeks before the opening. Aerial acts please him most.

To his circus he is "Mister John." His greatest joy is to stand in some obscure spot smoking a cigar and watching his show. There have been seasons when he has not missed a single performance. He is an epicurean of distinction and his favorite dish is caviar. His middle initial is N. and stands for Nicholas.

I wonder if the word connoisseur ever looked right to anyone writing it without first looking it up in the dictionary.

Karl Edwin Harriman on a jaunt to Europe several years ago thought up the idea of removing wine labels from vintage wines to put under glass for cocktail trays for friends at home. The stunt became a hobby and he is off on another label scouting expedition.

One of the best known drugstores is at 3d avenue and 18th street. It is an expansive oaken room that retains the sombre white label bottled dignity of the Nineties in contrast to the modern chain store glitter. A huge red and green bottle graces each window. The clerks are middle aged and stiffly sedate, in alpaca coats. Its trade is solely for prescriptions.

Almost every slapstick comedian landing in a first-rate musical show is hailed with lachrymose sentimentality as a gifted and undiscovered Salivini with a deep and hidden meaning to hurling a custard pie or whanging somebody with a bladder. Such balderdash has been written of jovial harlequins such as Chaplin, Ed Wynn, Jimmy Savo, Bert Lahr and the Marx Brothers. Most of them are excellent burlesque comics for whom producers have provided luxurious backgrounds. Comics—and nothing more.

"Why," asks a paragrapher, "do people stand in line for hours in front of the movie theaters?"

After an hour of tugging at an eyebrow in the silences I have the answer: To get inside.

A gentleman whose shin I accidentally kicked in a crowd today turned in a glowering rage but—probably noticing my powerful neck muscles—said rather meekly: "I seem to get in everybody's way." Indeed, I almost thought he was going to cry. Sometimes I think I don't know my own strength.

Air in New York, scientists say, is purest at 4 a. m. and that is the hour when most sillies who are astir will be found in the badly ventilated night clubs.

Stray thought: Everybody in novels sips an aperitif. But in real life everybody seems to gulp them.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

Isn't it true that you expect too much of your friends?

You feel that they should volunteer aid in every little difficulty in which you find yourself.

In past years you may have leaned so heavily on your friends that they have become a bit disgusted and would like to see you make a greater effort to overcome your own personal obstacles.

Those who are true friends are willing to give assistance when a real trouble comes, but there are not many who care to be bothered with problems that are met by nearly every one.

It is easy to go to those who have helped you in the past and thereby lessen your desire and ability to do for yourself in an emergency.

Aren't you selfish in your demands upon those dear to you?

Unwilling to carry your own load and trying to transfer it to them or the greater part of it, at least.

It may be that borrowing money is your penchant or wishing another to intercede to get what you want.

Desiring friends for the good they may do you shows you unworthy of the loyal friendship of anyone.
